BROWSING — with — BROUSE

"Top Ten" are two words that are used to a great extent thruout our country. The reason for having a top ten in everything is because we have certain standards of excellence that we rate things by and the same applies to Television. CBS has consistently had shows among the top ten. Among them, Gunsmoke, Have Gun Will Travel, and Ed Sullivan. It's a good reason for watching KXJB-TV, Channel 4.

In case you haven't already heard . . . Jack Benny is on every week now. This "spry 39-year-older," still one of the best in the business, will be on every Sunday night at 8:30.

The Andy Griffith Show is another new one this season; and I know you'll find, as I did, that this sheriff, jailkeeper, justice of the peace and holder of many other titles offers some of the best homespun humor you'd ever want to watch. You'll see Andy at 8:30 on Monday nights on Channel 4.

Women certainly have their place in television and it's especially noticeable on The Tom Ewell Show at 8:00 p.m. on Tuesday and My Sister Eileen at 8 p.m. on Wednesday. Tom who has to fight the "nylon jungle" in his bathroom to shave has five (count 'em) females to contend with in his house. And Ruth in My Sister Eileen has to deal with Eileen's magnetic appeal for any male . . . most of them unsuitable.

On the more serious side of television viewing, you don't want to miss Eyewitness to History Friday nights at 9:30. You'll see spot coverage of top news developments around the world with emphasis on "in depth" reporting and analysis. And, of course, there's another thing that should be said about Saturday nights. "Have Gun."

That's it. Make sure that Channel 4 is your late-viewing spot on the dial where there's always a great late show . . . See you next week.

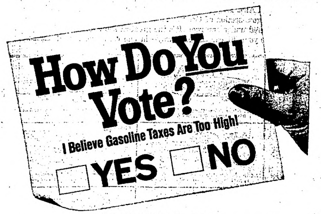
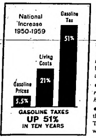
IN MINNESOTA YOU PAY 90¢ TAX ON TEN GALLONS OF GASOLINE!



How Do You Vote?
I Believe Gasoline Taxes Are Too High!
☐ YES ☐ NO

HOW DID YOU VOTE?
No matter how you voted, these facts on gasoline taxes are important to you:



- In Minnesota, car owners pay 90¢ tax on every 10 gallons of gasoline they buy!
- Gasoline taxes across the nation amount to a 50% sales tax—and that's five times as high as the tax rate on luxuries like diamonds and mink coats!
- Since World War II, there have been three increases in the Federal gasoline tax alone. This brought the Federal tax to 4 cents a gallon, in addition to the State tax of 5 cents a gallon!
- In the last ten years gasoline taxes have skyrocketed 51%—yet the price of gasoline itself has risen only 5.5% during the same period!
- Each year the average motor vehicle owner in this state pays $63 for gasoline taxes alone. That's just a few dollars less than the average week's pay for most people!

HIGHWAYS AND GASOLINE TAXES

Your gasoline retailer, naturally, favors construction of the roads that the motoring public needs. He believes in fair and reasonable taxation for this purpose but feels that taxes on gasoline have now reached unreasonably high levels. He also believes that all special taxes on the motorist should be used only for highway purposes. Yet last year, out of every automobile tax dollar collected by the Federal Government from highway users, more than 40 cents went for non-highway purposes. If these automotive tax revenues were dedicated for highway purposes, there would be no need for the latest increase in the federal gasoline tax.

The Gasoline You Buy Is Taxed Too HIGH!

Social Security Law Revised for Disabled

The 1960 amendments to the social security law will help many disabled people.

One of the changes made by these amendments will mean that beneficiaries who go to work despite severe handicaps, can continue to be paid their benefits for 12 months—whether they go to work under a vocational rehabilitation plan, or on their own.

After the first nine months of this period have passed, a decision will be made as to whether the work done by the beneficiary in those nine months shows that he has regained his ability to work. If he is found able to engage in substantial work, and therefore is no longer disabled within the meaning of the law, he will still be paid his benefits for three months longer. After this, his benefits stop.

The first nine months need not be consecutive. For instance, a beneficiary might work four months, be laid off, and then work again for six months. Only those months in which he works for gain, or does work of a type usually done for gain, are counted.

Disabled workers who go to work are required to notify the Social Security Administration. This may be done by writing a letter or sending a special post card form which may be obtained from your social security district office.

Disabled beneficiaries who recover from their disabilities before they have been at work in each of nine months and also disabled beneficiaries who recover from their disabilities before they have been at work in each of nine months and also disabled beneficiaries who recover before they have tested their ability to work, will have their benefits paid to them for three months after they recover.

Another change in the law will aid disabled beneficiaries who go back to work provides that a disabled worker who has recovered sufficiently to return to work does not have to wait another six months to have his payments started again, if his disability recurs or another disability develops within five years after his disability benefits ended.

The reason for this change is that most disabled persons who return to work do so despite severe impairments, and it is very possible that there may be a recurrence of the same ailment or another disability may develop. The Congress felt it wasn't fair, in such cases, to make the worker and his family wait a second six months without earnings or disability benefits, when this happened, since he had already served his six-month waiting period before he received disability benefits the first time.

More than 20,000 people a year who have been getting social security disability benefits recover and return to work. Removing the second six-month waiting period may encourage more disabled persons to return to work.

People who have a hobby like photography or ceramics like homes with basements, for it gives them space to work.

Marshall Co. Red Cross Meets Nov. 1

Fall Session Slated at Argyle Public School

The Marshall County Red Cross chapter will hold its regular fall meeting in the multipurpose room of the Argyle public school Tuesday evening, November 1, starting at 8 o'clock.

A summary report on the water safety program conducted at Old Mill State Park last summer will be given. Plans for a new series of first aid and home nursing classes throughout the county will be discussed.

Division chairmen will be asked to report on recent developments in their departments. There will be a budget discussion for the new fiscal year.

A highlight of the meeting will be the awarding of certificates to six Marshall county girls who attended the Minnesota Junior Red Cross leadership training session at Lyman Lodge near Minneapolis last August.

County Red Cross officials point out that there have been no major emergencies or disasters during the past year in the county. But they voice a word of concern for future months.

"With the advent of cold weather, there is a great danger of fires," states Ralph Larson of Argyle, Red Cross chapter chairman. "If a fire or any other disaster occurs, the Red Cross wants to be on the scene immediately to lend a helping hand."

He urges a good representation at the meeting.

Minnesta Leads Nation in Buying 1959 Duck Stamps

More duck stamps were sold in Minnesota during the past fiscal year than in any other state, according to a report issued recently by the Fish and Wildlife Service.

Minnesota thus takes over first place from California which has held the number one spot for the past several years.

The report said that the sale of duck stamps nationally totaled 1,628,365, a drop of 537,197 below the sales of the previous year and lowest since the 1944-45 season when 1,497,029 were sold.

The Fish and Wildlife service attributed the decrease to a raise of one dollar in the price of the stamp and unfavorable conditions in the nesting grounds leading to forecasts of poor duck flights.

Pheasant Hunting to Open in State Oct. 29

Noon on Saturday, October 29, will mark the beginning of the pheasant hunting season which continues through November 20.

State game officials are hopeful that a substantial portion of the state's corn acreage will have been picked. However, a heavy growth of weeds and underbrush could combine to make the going tough on the opening weekend. Except for the opener the shooting can legally begin at 10 a.m. and continue through sundown. The daily bag and possession limit has been set at 3 and 6 and only cock birds may be taken.

Reports from the field reveal pheasants to be showing up in encouraging numbers. Best reports of increases come from the marginal parts of the range where pheasant numbers normally are not too high. These areas are showing increases which promise to provide shooting for many hunters. Cover in these areas is expected to be thick and the hunter with a dog will come out best in the contest.

Hunters looking for a place to hunt the gaudy ringnecks are urged not to overlook state-owned wildlife management areas. Nearly 80,000 acres of such areas are available for public hunting with many located in the pheasant range. Maps showing the location of these areas can be secured from the Bureau of Information, Department of Conservation, Centennial Building, St. Paul 1.

Game wardens, game managers and research personnel are expected to be on hand to check hunters and gather information on the harvest. Wardens and deputies will be moved into the pheasant counties from other areas to assist in the big job of patrolling the large concentration of hunters expected. Airplanes will be employed to detect early shooters whose activities will be reported to ground patrol via radio.

Meanwhile, the ruffed grouse appear to be still winning the battle as the heavy underbrush continues to afford them ideal protection. While the leaves are off in most areas of the grouse range, the recent heavy frosts are slow in knocking down the lush understory. Successful grouse hunters appear to be those willing to buck the brush while the "riders of the back roads" are not faring too well.

Dell and Knutson Endorsed by Bar for Reelection

Chief Justice, Associate Justice Receive Strong Backing from State Bar

Chief Justice Roger L. Dell and Associate Justice Oscar R. Knutson of the Minnesota state supreme court have been given overwhelming support of the lawyers of the state in a plebiscite conducted by the Minnesota State Bar association.

The straw vote was taken by secret ballot and tallied October 21 by the judicial selection committee of the bar association, of which Simon Meshbesher, Minneapolis, is president. The results of the poll were made public by Joseph M. Donahue, St. Paul, president of the association.

The straw vote gave Chief Justice Dell a preference of 1,877 votes to 303 for his opponent, Clifford F. Hansen, Minneapolis. Associate Justice Oscar R. Knutson received a total of 1,979 while his opponent, William G. Dressel, Minneapolis, received 214 votes. All practicing lawyers in the state were contacted in the plebiscite.

In announcing the results of the poll, Donahue said, "The legal profession feels that it has a public duty, because of its knowledge and familiarity with the candidates and the law, to indicate its preference when Justices of the Supreme Court are to be elected or appointed."

It's a Date
Bill

And just who is Bill? A parent's mind stalls right in the middle of that intersection . . .

From what background has Bill come? In what moral direction is he heading? Where did Ruth meet him? Where will he take her?

Jolting the family's peace of mind, this sudden collision between confidence in our daughter and uncertainty about someone's son.

Many families have fewer such anxieties because they are active in the life of a church. Their boys and girls meet in an atmosphere that calls forth our best. Fun, friendship and inspiration are blended in worthwhile youth activities.

And if love blooms . . . no awkward compromise of conviction such as besets some . . . but a common faith in God to enrich a couple's affection and strengthen their marriage.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

TRF Airport e Shows Big G

Both local and itinerant air traffic has shown a substantial increase at the Thief River Falls municipal airport the past year, with the increase reflected in both the number of aircraft using the field and the fuel gallonage sold, according to the airport manager, Daniel A. Illies.

Also noticeable is the trend toward increased use of the field by out-of-town multi-engine executive aircraft. The state-owned, city-operated VOR navigation-communications radio facility is probably the main reason for the increase, as aircraft flying in the northwest Minnesota area would naturally home on the facility and also stop for whatever services they may need.

An increasing number of aircraft are also stopping here to take advantage of repair and inspection facilities offered. Among frequent users of the local airport are personnel from the Grand Forks air base, who bring their flying club aircraft here for maintenance and repair.

Several aircraft are maintained at the base for use as personal aircraft for the flying club members, who are enlisted airmen as well as officers who fly the speedy jet aircraft during duty hours.

An instance of traffic any given day at the airport here was last Thursday forenoon. A Brantly B-2 helicopter owned and operated by Turner Helicopter Service, Fargo, developed a crack in a rotor blade and landed here to await the arrival of a replacement from Fargo, which came via a Cessna 172 from that city. The 'copter was on line patrol for Minnkota Power Co-op.

Also here the same day was a Beechcraft Super D-18c owned by Midwestern Oil Co., Denver, and a club-owned Beechcraft T-34 trainer from the Grand Forks AFB. Another privately-owned Grand Forks plane also paid the local shop a visit. The Alma Trailer Corp. twin-engine Beechcraft is a steady customer here.

While the VOR facility here claims a large share of the credit for the increased traffic, other improvements in services play a part. As of last year the airport here has been able to service planes requiring 100 octane aviation fuel and this summer the installation of vending machines made refreshments available to airport users.

Shop facilities also claim a great deal of the credit for the increased traffic as present facilities here provide for a wide range of repair and maintenance services than has ever been offered before.

At present only one local business concern has an aircraft for executive use based here but it is hoped that others will join the trend toward greater company use of planes in the next few years.

It is also hoped that a lounge and restaurant will be available for airport users in the near future. A part of the administration building is being remodeled for use as a lounge at present but there are no concrete plans for a restaurant at this time.

Moran's Cafe Sold to Melvin Higdem

Melvin Higdem, who operated the Mint cafe from 1958-60 purchased Moran's Steak House at Erskine from Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Moran who had operated the concern for the past 15 years.

Higdem will be assisted in his new venture by his sister, Bernice Higdem, who formerly operated the Felix cafe in McIntosh. Higdem is originally from McIntosh and had been in business there before purchasing the Mint from G. A. Frahm in 1958.

Higdem said the Erskine business will continue to be known as Moran's Steak House and that the present staff will be retained. The Morans will remain in Erskine, they said, in announcing the sale to Higdem.

TODAY IS FINAL DAY TO PAY REAL ESTATE TAXES

Also at the annual meeting held in October a junior leader, Nelda Lea Nelson, was elected secretary for the junior leaders, and Sharon Knutson as reporter.

A program for 1960-61 was adopted as set up by the program committee. Clubs participating will be Rocksbury in December; Mavie in January; Steiner in April; City View in May; Smiley in June, and Silverton in July.

Political Campaign Is Moving into Final Week

Candidates in Home Stretch of Election Tuesday, November 8

Candidates for district, state and national offices are intensifying their efforts as the campaign moves into its final week. Due to the hardfought and well publicized contests for the presidency, as well as for the governorship and congressional posts, a record turnout of voters is in prospect for Election Day Tuesday, November 8.

Vice President Richard Nixon and Senator John Kennedy of Massachusetts are waging a no-holds-barred battle for the presidency, and have engaged in a series of four television debates which left their respective supporters in disagreement as to who made the best showing.

In Minnesota, Governor Orville Freeman, seeking an unprecedented fourth term, is facing his stiffest opposition to date in the person of Elmer L. Andersen, Republican, who was given a small lead over his rival in last week's Minnesota Poll, conducted by the Minneapolis Tribune.

The poll also gave Senator Hubert Humphrey, seeking re-election, a substantial but narrowing lead over his GOP opponent, Mayor P. Kenneth Peterson of Minneapolis.

Competing for the two posts as state representative from the 65th district are Victor Aalbu of Gonvick, Irving W. Bayer of Red Lake Falls, L. J. Lee of Bagley and Ben Wichterman, incumbent, of Plummer.

There are contests this year in two of the three rural Pennington county commissioner districts, Glenn Tasa of the fifth district being without opposition. In the first district, Odin C. Hanson, incumbent, is opposed by Stanley Hruby, while the third district incumbent, Carl R. Anderson, is faced by Woodrow Almquist.

Mayor Vavoulis will be the principal speaker at the fall general meeting of the Chamber in the Elks club beginning at 6:15 p.m. The mayor, who as a boy lived in Thief River Falls, is a former secretary-treasurer of the St. Paul Chamber of Commerce. He will be introduced by the manager of the St. Paul Chamber.

Mr. Vavoulis will speak on the nature of civic cooperation and will comment on the progress that can be made using such cooperation. He will use as examples not only civic programs of St. Paul but also his success in the city's recent election.

Bigger State Budget Asked for 1961-1963

Naftalin Releases Estimates Friday at GOP Insistence

Minnesota government departments seek 1961-63 appropriations of 580 million dollars, Commissioner of Administration Arthur Naftalin announced Friday.

The total is 98 million dollars—about 15 per cent—above the allocations they received from the 1959 legislature for the current biennium.

Naftalin stressed that the requests, which he released at the order of Gov. Freeman, do not reflect budget recommendations by his office or by the governor.

He declined to discuss the extent by which Freeman might reduce the requests or to comment on means by which the state might raise any additional revenue which might be needed to meet the requests.

Naftalin said he could provide no more than a rough total of the requests because some requests, notably, those of the University of Minnesota and the conservation department — are not yet in his office.

The estimates did not include those of such departments as highway and employment security, which operate on self-sustaining funds.

Welfare department, up $21,007,596 to $126,456,325.

Education department, up $19,982,451 to $241,099,612.

State colleges, up $9,912,482 to $21,517,992.

Corrections department, up $4,761,170 to $16,755,477.

Administration department, up $1,188,611 to $5,116,048.

Release of the request figures followed Republican charges that Freeman was seeking to conceal the cost of government during the coming biennium.

Naftalin stressed that the departmental requests were presented as the total amount departments needed to run operations as their directors felt they should be run.

Republican spokesmen have emphasized that state law requires all departmental budget requests to be in administration department hands by Oct. 1.

Delegates to a recreation conference were appointed. They were Mrs. Robert Hirst, Mrs. Maurice Steiner, Lloyd Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Oen.

The 4-H banquet was set for Thursday, November 10.

The results of a survey evaluating 4-H events were discussed. After considerable discussion, the council took action to discontinue the "good grooming contest." This would be replaced with instructional materials perhaps in a form of a workshop where good grooming will be taught to 4-H'ers.

Mary Ann Lendobeja of the Kratka club, delegate to Conservation Camp, reported on her pleasant and informative experiences at Itasca Park. She stated that the classes, camping and recreation were all most enjoyable.

Nelda Lea Nelson, Smiley, reported on Health Camp also held in Itasca Park. She stated that the camp emphasized that health is more than a condition of the body. Good health is derived from good physical, mental and social activities. Safety in the home and on the farm is related to health. This was a topic covered by Glenn Prickett, safety specialist, at the Institute of Agriculture. Both delegates encouraged other 4-H'ers to work toward these worthwhile camp awards.

The next council meeting was set for Monday, November 7.

Slow Down and Live!

The Library Corner

By Eleanor Olson

Sometime in the past I read with speculative interest that children 2-4 years are fascinated by all things musical. At the time I didn't picture myself caught up in this childish passion, but it has happened and now all the nursery rhymes that were repeated to my daughter a year ago must be sung. The fact that the tune is different each time doesn't seem to matter, as long as there is music!

When I looked in our music drawer I found only one small book of songs from my own childhood. This pleased Page very much, but the pages had yellowed so with age that they began to go to pieces with her enthusiastic turning of them. So in an attempt to spare this "antique" I asked for children's music books at the library. To my surprise and delight I found a sizeable collection not only of children's music but of adult song books as well. Of the children's books two new ones interested me particularly.

One, "The Best Singing Games for Children of All Ages," by Edgar S. Bley contains fifty songs. Each of these are accompanied by action games for three age groups, preschoolers 4-6, primary level 6-8 and elementary grades ages 9-12. But as the author suggests, the title's use of the word "children's" is deceptive since many of these songs and games have been country party favorites for years. Songs like Skip to the Loo, She'll Be Coming Round the Mountain and Little Brown Jug cannot be marked fairly with the stigma of "nursery school." Among the songs in this book is This Old Man or Knick Knack which so recently enjoyed such a long hit parade run thanks to Hollywood's Inn of the Sixth Happiness. This entire book would give a scout leader or teacher or nearly any mother a lift in planning the special spark to add to parties, outings or classroom routine.

The other new book which my little girl fell in love with cannot be called anything but nursery school material. "Let's Sing and Play," by Dorothea Wiltrout, is a volume of 13 brand new made-up songs with catchy, but easily learned tunes which run the gamut of childish interests from new shoe and swinging to "I'm a Cowboy, a Lonesome Cowboy." The latter is followed immediately by "I'm an Indian Chief." Nothing could please a little child more unless it is the song which expounds the virtues of a small tractor that chugs up and down the tall corn rows while the lazy horse sleeps all day, swings his tail and eats his hay. Ah, yes, and this very same tractor eats only gasoline, says no-no to milk and cream!

Your little ones would be as charmed as mine. So take a look at these two books and the others on the music shelf. If you haven't a piano, these simple melodies could be picked out even on a play xylophone.

4 Schools Patrols Installed at Local Schools Past Week

Sgt. Donald Myers and Thomas Turney Conduct School of Instruction

Installation ceremonies and schools of instruction have been held at four elementary and high schools in the city during the past week for school safety patrols to aid in the prevention of accidents to pupils going to and from school.

Under the direction of Sgt. Donald Myers of the city police force and Thomas J. Turney, safety education officer with the Minnesota highway patrol, four organizations of selected boys and girls from the upper grades have been formed to help their schoolmates avoid traffic accidents. Ray Ulferts is supervisor of the patrol at Lincoln high school, Sister Cyrilla is in charge of the patrol at St. Bernard's school, Mrs. Madelyn Robarge is supervisor at Northrop school and Kenneth Swenson is in charge of the Washington school group.

Fundamentally, a patrol member's duty is to remind students of safety rules learned in the classroom and to see that they cross streets at guarded crossings only when there is a lull in traffic so that they may cross in safety.

Both Sergeant Myers and Officer Turney reminded motorists that it is unlawful for any person to drive a motor vehicle thru a column of school children crossing a street or highway or past a member of school safety patrol who is directing the movement of children across a street or highway and while the school patrol member is holding his official sign in the stop position.

School patrols in Thief River Falls are being sponsored by the American Legion which is also furnishing the equipment.

Captains of the four patrols are: Washington school, Larry Johnson and Michael Thompson; Northrop school, Jon Looker and David Dupree; St. Bernard's school, Wayne Gilbert and Tom Miller; Lincoln high school, Gary Haugen.

Several Injured in Two Rural Traffic Mishaps Past Week

Sheriff Chas. Richards Reports on Accidents Tuesday and Saturday

Sheriff Charles Richards reported two personal injury traffic mishaps in the county, one of which occurred earlier last week and another Saturday afternoon.

The first mishap occurred at the intersection of state aid roads 88 and 63 about 12 miles northeast of Thief River Falls last Tuesday evening. A car driven by Stanley W. Olson, rt. 4, missed the intersection and went straight ahead onto a piece of newly-constructed road, shaking up him and the two juveniles with him considerably.

The three youths were treated at Northwestern hospital and released. An estimated $250 damage was caused to the car.

Saturday, an Oklee woman was hospitalized here after the car she was driving rolled over just west of U. S. 59 on the Hazel road. Mrs. Clarence Lynch, Oklee, was the driver of a car owned by Averill Merell, Oklee, and was accompanied by Mrs. Merell and three children at the time of the mishap.

The Oklee car was headed for this city and apparently Mrs. Lynch drove across the trunk highway, losing control when she left the blacktop and struck loose gravel.

Mrs. Lynch was hospitalized here with undisclosed injuries, while Mrs. Merell and children were treated and released. Damage to the car was estimated at $800.

Porchlight Parade Set Election Eve

VFW Project Endorsed by Mayor Orin Green

Mayor Orin Green of Thief River Falls today urged full cooperation of all homeowners and businessmen in the "Porchlight Parade" sponsored throughout the nation by the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

This novel program, designed to remind voters of their responsibilities, calls for every home or business place to turn on its porch or display lights for the hour from 8 to 9 p.m. on Monday evening, November 7.

"The Veterans of Foreign Wars," the mayor said, "is to be highly commended on originating this reminder to all citizens of their responsibility on election day. We hope that it will serve to encourage the largest turnout at the polls in our history."

Arrangements in the Thief River Falls area are under the direction of Russell Berger, Commander of V.F.W. Post No. 2793.

The theme of the project, Commander Berger explained, is to "Light Up for Democracy" on Monday night and to "Light out for the Polls" on Tuesday.

"We have been very careful," Commander Berger said, "to avoid telling anyone for whom he should vote. We want everyone to make up his own mind after full consideration of the issues and the qualifications of the various candidates. We believe that a person who realizes his responsibility will vote intelligently."

Blood Bank Assn. to Meet Tuesday

E. A. Hamerski, president of the Northern Blood Bank association, today reminded members of the annual meeting and election of officers to be held Tuesday evening, November 1, at 8 o'clock in the Elks club lounge. Reports will be given on the past year's operations.

Crookston Drubs Prowlers 26 to 6

The Crookston Pirates, capitalizing on a definite weakness in the Prowlers' pass defense, scored two touchdowns and a conversion point on pass completions and set up another touchdown on a pass, defeated the locals, 26 to 6, in a Northwest conference football game played at Crookston on Friday night. The win gave coach Lowell Larson's Crookston squad second place in the conference standings, and dropped the Prowlers into third place.

For three periods on Friday night, the Prowlers, in spite of the handicap due to the absence of left halfback Gary Klungness, who was sidelined by an ankle injury, played the Pirates on near-even terms, trailing by a 7 to 6 score entering the fourth period. (Klungness did enter the game for a couple of plays, but it was obvious that the injured ankle was painful). In the fourth period the Pirates racked up three touchdowns to win by a decisive 26 to 6 score.

Crookston, defending the west goal, accepted the game-opening kickoff, and on a series of running plays, with Jim Turner piling up most of the yardage, picked up five first downs. With a first down on the Prowler 7-yard line, the Pirates fumbled and the locals recovered to halt the threat.

On the second play from scrimmage in the second period, from the Prowler 34-yard line, Craig Kronholm whipped a pass to end Dale Johnson, who scampered for the touchdown. Turner, on a slant off right tackle, added the conversion to give the Pirates a 7 to 0 lead.

In the third period the Prowlers, after receiving the kickoff, moved the Crookston 22-yard line, rolling up five first downs on the drive. Harvey Ebbighausen proved very effective in carrying the ball and, on fourth down from the Crookston 15-yard line, he cut through left tackle for a touchdown. The conversion point try, on a run by Ebbighausen, failed, and the Prowlers trailed by one point, 7 to 6.

A couple of 15-yard penalties assessed against the Prowlers late in the third period aided the Pirates in moving the ball to the Prowler 3-yard line as the period ended. On the opening play of the finals period, Turner drove over right tackle for the touchdown. Kronholm added the point on a pass to Dale Johnson.

Lloyd Ranum, running back the ensuing kickoff, fumbled as he was tackled, and Crookston recovered on the Prowlers' 21-yard line. On a fourth down play, with ten to go, Kronholm completed a pass to Ross Dewhurst for a touchdown. Turner's placement kick for the conversion was wide of the uprights.

Holding for downs on the Prowlers' 21-yard line to gain possession of the ball (the Prowlers missed their first down by less than a yard as they gambled for the yardage on a fourth down play), gave the Pirates their scoring chance for the fourth touchdown. A pass, Kronholm to Johnson, carried to the 8-yard line, and after Dewhurst had gained four yards, fullback John Lysaker swept out around right end for four yards and a touchdown. The point try was stopped, and Crookston had their 26 to 6 lead with seconds of the game remaining.

The Prowlers, in the final two plays of the game, attempted a pair of passes, but both were incomplete.

An Ill Wind, with Rain

Until the brisk southeast wind brought the rain on Saturday, the pheasant hunters were having great sport and pretty good luck. But long about 2 o'clock the drizzle set in, and the hunting became wet and sluggish. The weather continued in its miserableness throughout Sunday, and the results were that the hunters were wet and hungry and bedraggled as they closed out the first weekend of hunting.

The hunters are pretty well agreed that there has been an increase in the pheasant population, especially in Traverse, Otter Tail, Grant and Stevens counties. Limit shoots on Saturday, before the rains, were quite common. Don Olson, L. L. Tygeson, Jack Edmiston, and Dr. Milt Starekow had exceptional luck hunting on a corn field southeast of Breckenridge. The hunting on Sunday, though, was "lousy."

We hunted the soil bank area southeast of Moorhead on Saturday, just off highway 9 north of Barnesville. There was an abundance of birds, and just a couple of hours before the season-opening we came upon a flock of about twenty-five cock pheasants. It was the greatest concentration of pheasants we have seen for a number of years. Of course these birds moved into a posted field, and so were out-of-bounds for us. We did manage to bag one pheasant before the rain chased us out of the soil bank sweet clover. We should have filled a day's limit, but were having troubles on a moving target.

The duck hunters were reporting success on Saturday and Sunday, with the field hunters getting some limit bags of northern mallards. Late last week, Reid Stromberg and Glenn Krenz had some fine shooting along the upper reaches of the Clearwater river, getting some jump shooting on mallards.

The Winner

Warren's burly fullback, Wayne Edgar, finally overhauled the Mahnomen Indians' hard-running halfback, Jim Klepetka, to win the individual scoring honors in the Pine-to-Prairie football conference. But Edgar's margin wasn't by much, just one point, 100 to 99.

Entering the final game on the schedule, against Fertile, Mahnomen's Klepetka held a 7-point lead in the individual point totals, 93 to 86. The Indians defeated Fertile, 19 to 6, with Klepetka scoring a touchdown.

Meanwhile the Warren Ponies were defeating the Red Lake Falls Eagles, 34 to 13, to gain a share in the conference title. And in this game, Edgar racked up a pair of touchdowns and added a pair of conversion points for a 14-point production.

A Nucleus

Although the football Prowlers lost the last four games on their 1960 schedule, the team finished above the .500 mark, having a record of five wins and four losses.

In their loss to Crookston on Friday night, such hard-working Prowlers as Eddie Lietzow, Ron Amundson, Jack Goulet, Ron Hanson, Don Ulferts, Gary Odegaard, Lloyd Ranum, Paul Wangberg, and Harvey Ebbighausen concluded their high school football careers.

The loss, by graduation, of these boys will be felt next season, but coaches Joe Mrkonich and Dick Edlund do have quite a supply of capable boys for next year's campaign. Such players as ends Karl Ekstrand and Wayne Schantzen, tackles Elton Hornseth and Bruce Russell, guards Jim Weckwerth and Tim Teal, center Brian Lofberg, quarterback John Aune, and backfielders Gary and Paul Klungness, Don Nicholson, Arvid Lee, and Dick Sculthorpe will be returning. That's an encouraging roster.

Miscellany

The Prowler cross country squad participated in the state meet on Saturday and, with a total of 355 points finished in 15th place. That was a creditable performance for the young Prowlers of coach Rod Max. The Hibbing Bluejackets, with Larry Bronson setting a state record as he ran the 1.8 mile Lake Nokomis course in 8:50.4, won the meet with a total of 76 points. In second place was Minneapolis Southwest with 80 points . . . 4-H'ers Asked to Join in Agronomy Project

Crop production is big business in Minnesota.

But if Minnesota's position is to be maintained, young people need to learn all they can about the scientific approach to production, according to extension crops and soils specialists at the University of Minnesota.

With that fact in mind, the state 4-H office has replaced the 4-H field crops project with a new agronomy—crops and soils—project, which will appeal to boys and girls in town as well as the farm. It will be available to Minnesota club members in 1961.

The agronomy project is set up for beginners, intermediate and advanced members. The beginning unit is especially adapted to boys and girls in town, since it does not require growing a crop. For intermediate and older members it includes growing a crop as well as taking crop production practice units that offer additional challenge for new knowledge and practical experience.

University extension soils and crops specialists, who planned the project, say that experience gained in the new agronomy project should open the door of opportunity to crop members and serve them well in adult life whether they are on the farm, in a related field of agriculture or away from agriculture completely.

The club member who decides to take the beginning units in the agronomy project does not need to crop a crop. He may take crop production practice units which include learning to know seeds and plants, building a plant press, collecting weeds, legumes and grasses, making germination tests, soil test sampling and attending a crop production field demonstration meeting. Specific requirements are included in each unit.

By the time the 4-H'er has advanced to the intermediate stage, however, he must grow at least one acre of corn, soybeans, small grains or forage. In the advanced group, the requirement is to grow at least five acres of any one of the basic crops. In addition he takes units which may include methods of planting, rate of seeding and certified seed production. Intermediate members study units on weed control and variety comparisons or conduct fertilizer trials.

Dentists Advise Mouth Protectors for H.S. Athletes

Urge Teeth Protection for High School Hockey and Football Players

The dental profession stresses that high school football and hockey players should wear rubber mouth protectors to dramatically reduce dental injuries.

According to the Minnesota State Dental association, injuries to the lower face and mouth lead all others on the football field. They account for about 53 per cent of all injuries.

The dentists point out that face masks currently worn by football players are a vital necessity. However, they do not protect against blows beneath the chin which account for most dental injuries.

According to the dental profession, surveys of high school teams reveal that players equipped with mouthguards—similar to those worn by professional boxers—rarely suffer dental injuries.

In Ohio, 634 players in 15 schools, using mouthguards of all types, suffered only two such injuries. In New York, 304 players without such protection had 29 injuries but 91 players with mouthguards had none.

An insurance company, which annually covers some 300,000 high school athletes, cites figures which show that the mouthguards virtually eliminate dental injuries, the dental association said.

Players without mouth protectors have a dental injury ratio of 26 per 1,000; those with mouthguards a ratio of .00036 per 1,000.

Nelda Lea Nelson Tells of Itasca Health Camp

By Nelda Lea Nelson

This year I had the opportunity to attend the eighth annual State 4-H Health Camp held at Itasca State Park.

I had been to Itasca State park before but it was now that I realized how beautiful nature can be. What is beauty? Beauty takes many forms. At Itasca it took such forms as tall Norway pines in the starry and moonlit sky, a sunset across the lake, the snapping and cracking of logs burning at a campfire in an opening on a knoll with pine trees all around. Also it took the form of a young buck with his first antlers coming up to us, maybe looking for a carrot.

Then there was the fellowship to enjoy such as meeting teenagers from all over Minnesota, each with a different character and personality. This we experienced almost any time and any place, especially during classes an group meetings(where we really got to know one another), on hikes, tours, get-acquainted recreation, and last but not least at meal time. Since there were eight girls to a cabin, this too was a good way to get acquainted.

At the end of camp we went home with added knowledge which we gained from classes and from speakers.

I would like to mention a few speakers that stood out in my mind. One was at an assembly program with Glenn Prickett speaking on "Enjoy Safe Living". He gave his information in such a factual and interesting way that I'm sure we all wanted to truly "enjoy safe living". I obtained a different view on the city of Moscow as far as looks was concerned when Genevieve Damkroger showed us slides and spoke on "How Russia Appeared to Me". I found many of the buildings in Moscow to be truly beautiful and magnificent works of art and coloring. Another I would like to mention is the topic presented by Eileen Reardon, "Nutrition for Teens". She showed us a film that really opened our eyes to food fadists.

I have not given a step to step account of what we did but I have given what I felt were the highlights and some of my impressions.

I think I can best close by quoting a part of the 4-H Song of Health:

Our goal is Health the quest for man and maid
Life high the goblet fair
And pledge the toast from coast to coast
Our Health the wealth we keep and share.

Editorials . . .

"With rare exceptions, it is probably true that a society produces great men in those fields in which it understands greatness. Spain in the 16th century produced Cortez and Pizarro and a dozen more who rank with the most extraordinary explorer-conquerors who ever strode the pages of history. It is unthinkable that the same society at the same time would have produced a Jefferson. The society that produced Jefferson produced Franklin, Monroe, John Adams and other philosopher-statesmen of breadth and brilliance. The kinds of greatness which our society produces over the years ahead will be the kinds of greatness we inspire, and will have to be securely rooted in our values.

"If we ask what our society inspires in the way of high performance we may conclude that we have, to a startling degree, lost the gift for demanding high performance of ourselves. It is a point worth exploring."

—Pursuit of Excellence

Electing Judges

Most of our judges advance to those positions of responsibility by appointment, and, having been appointed, they seldom have difficulty in succeeding themselves by election. This is as it should be. The appointments are made by a governor and governors generally are guided in such matters by the wishes of the members of the bar. The great majority of the members of the bar want well informed judges of integrity and understanding. The bar members' favorable judgment of the judges may therefore be accepted as good evidence of satisfactory performance.

Endorsed for reelection by an overwhelming majority of the members of the bar of the state are the two Supreme Court incumbents who have opposition in the coming election, Chief Justice Roger Dell and Associate Justice Oscar R. Knutson. We are happy to add our personal recommendation for the reelection of these two good neighbors whose home cities are Fergus Falls and Warren.

Three candidates for reelection as District Court Judges, our good friend Paul A. Lundgren of this city; John T. Galarneault of Brainerd-Aitkin, and James F. Murphy of Grand Rapids, also have the support of the bar of the district and the unanimous backing of Thief River Falls lawyers. We are happy to concur.

Vote Conservative

During the coming week politics will reach the boiling point. After election day we will gradually return to normal temperatures and hope that things will work out for the best.

The issues in this election are fairly well defined. On many important questions there is general agreement, and this includes most aspects of foreign policy. The real issues are based on questions of domestic policy and on which we divide as conservatives and liberals. There are a few radicals and reactionaries, but their numbers are not impressive.

Since 1932 our government has been controlled largely by the liberals. During the Eisenhower administration the liberals have been under some restraint but they nevertheless, have exercised control. Fortunately President Eisenhower has been very popular personally and he and his opponents have been friendly enemies.

When we think in terms of parties we classify Democrats as liberals and Republicans as conservatives. But there are Republicans who are liberal and Democrats who are conservative. President Eisenhower has been able to maintain some restraint on a liberal congress mainly because of the support he has received from conservative Democrats.

But judging by the platform adopted by the Democratic convention we know the liberals are in complete control of the party. If that party gains complete control of our government in the coming election, and puts into effect the program approved by the convention, we will be headed for more trouble.

Senator Kennedy worships at the shrine of Franklin D. Roosevelt, the president who gave us the fifty-cent dollar. If Kennedy becomes president and supports the program of spending that he now advocates, he will become the great leader who gave us the ten-cent dollar.

For those of us who are approaching the age of retirement and look forward to the problem of living on our savings, this prospect of a ten-cent dollar is not appealing. We are not impressed by the assurance of those who promise to remedy all our economic ills by increased productivity. It is not the liberal dreamers who will lead us into increased productivity.

The economic theories advocated by the liberals would lead us to economic stagnation. They now advocate high protective tariffs to protect American industry and labor from foreign competition. By the constantly increasing labor costs advocated by the liberals, American industry is being forced to either produce its products in other countries or lose all foreign markets to foreign competition. American products of all kinds are still being sold in all parts of the world but, more and more, the American products that are being sold in foreign markets, and many American products that are sold here in America, are manufactured in some other country.

And those who already are suffering from this short-sighted program, and will continue to suffer more and more until we approach the problem realistically, are the American workers.

Most American workers look upon the liberal leaders as their friends. There are some liberal leaders who already recognize the danger, but most of them are leading the way to an era of reduced production, continuing inflation and ultimate poverty.

We therefore urge the election of Richard Nixon for President, not because we like him but because we fear the consequences of the program Senator John Kennedy is pledged to support. And in this election that is our position all the way down the line that separates the liberals from the conservatives.

There are times when liberalism is needed and can be justified. And there are times too when conservatism is needed and can be justified. We are satisfied that at the present time we are already starting to suffer from an overdose of liberalism and that our most urgent need is a return to more conservative principles and practices.

We believe it would be in the best interests of our country if Senator Hubert Humphrey were replaced by Mayor P. K. Peterson of Minneapolis because Mayor Peterson is the more conservative of the two. And we are sure it would be a step backward in the ninth district if Congressman Odin Langen were replaced by Coya Knutson.

For the same general reasons we are hopeful that the election will result in a more conservative government for the State of Minnesota. We are satisfied that the Freeman administration has been a needlessly expensive burden for the taxpayers of the state and should be replaced by a group of more conservative and cost-conscious officials.

Considering all of the problems with which we are confronted here at home and in all parts of this confused world, that word "conservative" has a special appeal for us in the present political campaign.

Give Pay-TV a Chance

(New York Herald Tribune)

About pay-TV a lot of people have heard by now that it is going great on a try-out basis in that Toronto suburb with the unlikely name of Etobicoke. Also that RKO General has bought a Hartford, Conn., television station and wants to risk $10,000,000 on a three-year experimental project to deliver programs to home subscribers for a fee. For this, however, the Federal Communications Commission must first give the green light.

Since pay-TV could produce quite a revolution, there is plenty of shuddering by people who think they might get hurt. The organized theater owners, for instance, fear it would destroy them. What pay-TV might do to the whole existing structure of broadcasting is something nobody really knows.

So the F.C.C., sensitive and wondering which way the wind blows, has set public hearings to begin Oct. 24. . . .

How the F.C.C. can do anything but give its approval is beyond us. Competition is what makes the mare go. And if RKO General, in collaboration with Zenith "phonevision," thinks it can attract the customers with something better, and make them pay for it in the process, they ought to be given the opportunity. If pay-TV flops, that's the investors' worry. If it catches on, free TV obviously has a challenge on its hands. Which would be good for everybody, because who can doubt the values of competition in all-around improvement of the product?

There is nothing to be lost by experiment, and all of us—even the worriers about economics—might stand to gain a great deal.

Coming to Terms With Progress

(Christian Science Monitor)

Some of the biggest labor news of the past two weeks has made only minor or local headlines.

The most far-reaching event was the relatively little heralded agreement of railroad managements and railroad operating brotherhoods for a nationwide study of the difficult work rules or "featherbedding" issue by a tripartite commission. The commission, consisting of five members each from employers, employees and the public, will be appointed by President Eisenhower to make recommendations by December, 1961.

On the West Coast the International Longshoremen's Union and the Pacific Maritime Association have signed an agreement under which the ship and pier owners will pay $5 million a year into a dock workers' benefit fund and in return will receive a free hand to introduce container shipments and other labor-saving methods on the waterfront. The money will support wage-continuance for displaced workers and encourage retirement by sweetening pension and disability funds.

In another industry the International Ladies Garment Workers Union announced that the nation's makers of women's clothes had agreed to set up a fund which early next year will provide severance and unemployment payments to workers who lose their jobs through business failures on the part of employers.

All these moves have in them an element of adjustment to mechanical progress, automation or obsolescence—of working out fairness to human beings in the face of longer train runs, heavier loading winches or the casualties of fashion.

The costly steel strike of 1959 showed that work rules are not easily revised at the bargaining table—hence a continuing study in that industry. The collapse of the recent General Electric strike showed a worker willingness to accept an initially generous offer, especially in the presence of a potential buyers' strike. The example of the widespread benefits of the United Mine Workers' welfare fund, paid for by a royalty on coal tonnage however mined, provides labor a strong impetus to make peace with progress.

Rural Scouting Topic at Warren Tonight

Charles S. Griffin, assistant national director of rural Scouting, Boy Scouts of America, from New Brunswick, New Jersey, will be in the Lake Agassiz Council from October 31 to November 2 to conduct three rural extension conferences.

These conferences will be attended by key community leaders and are presided over by a county chairman. Main objectives of these meetings are to check on present possibilities for scouting, emphasis on rural adaptation, explain how the council service can help each community, make a decision to use the rural extension program in each community, make a decision to use the rural extension program in each community and set dates for further action in each community.

One of the conferences will be held today, October 31, at 8 p.m. in the Warren high school. This will be for rural communities in Marshall county.

The Lake Agassiz council was one of 50 councils in the nation to receive a citation at the annual meeting of the National Council, Boy Scouts of America, in Washington, D. C., in June for outstanding achievements in the extension of scouting in rural areas. This award was based on the increase in number of rural boys and units in rural communities. The Boy Scouts of America recognizes that any community with less than 2,500 population is classified as rural.

The purpose of these meetings are to acquaint the leaders with the possibility of having scouting in their communities.

Any communities who have not already signified their interest in attending the meetings to better understand scouting and what it gives the boy, are invited to attend any one of these conferences.

No. Central Stock Sale Big Success

42,857 Share Offering Was Over-subscribed

More than 600 new shareowners were added to the stockholder list of North Central Airlines last week at the close of a special stock offering, according to Arthur E. A. Mueller, Wausau, Wis., chairman of the board of the Twin Cities-based airline.

"This subscription indicates a tremendous public confidence in the company and its growth potential," Mueller said. "The offering of 42,857 shares of common stock was oversubscribed, which is particularly significant at a time when general stock market conditions are adverse."

Approximately 20,000 shares included in the offering were reserved for employes of the company by exercise of rights granted on the basis of seniority with North Central.

The balance was offered to stockholders on a pro rata basis. Holders of common stock outstanding of record on August 12 were authorized to exercise subscription rights for one additional share for each 90 shares held.

Subscription price was $7 per share, and all employes and stockholders were given oversubscription privileges.

Amendment No. 3 Passage Urged by State VFW Chief

Eugene Voss, Wyoming, Minnesota, state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, today added his whole-hearted endorsement to the support of Amendment III, the "continuity of government" amendment to the state constitution.

Pointing out that a state's preparations for disaster would be useless unless state and local government could carry out their responsibilities, Voss urged all citizens of Minnesota to vote favorably November 8 on this measure which would guarantee continuity of government.

Voss emphasized that Amendment No. III, providing for updating of the state constitution, has the endorsement of leaders of both major political parties, plus civic and patriotic groups.

The proposal, developed by the Council of State Governments, authorizes the legislature to provide for lines of succession of officials; emergency relocation of state and local governments; and such other measures as may be necessary to insure continuance of government in an emergency such as nuclear attack.

HEARINGS ON TAXES, TONNAGE, AND MILEAGE

Director Robert T. Smith of the Duluth Port Authority proposes to the Minnesota Seaway Commission that legislation be enacted to permit the Duluth Authority to use for operating expenses $300,000 from the original $5,000,000 capital investment bond issue; repayment to be made without interest from terminal operating fees, which are expected to increase as time goes on. Mr. Smith reported to the commission that the terminal handled 13,263 tons of imports in nine months of 1960 compared with 7,928 tons for the full year of '59; and that exports for the same periods ran 2,887 tons and 2,923 tons.

County and Township Governments Commission has tentatively set November 3 for a hearing on personal property assessment. It has been proposed that the May 1 assessment date now in effect be changed to January 1, and that the taxpayer be given an option of average inventory or actual inventory.

The Legislative Commission on Public Employees is considering an increase in the mileage allowance for state employes from 7½c to 8c. It has been recommended that a motor pool be establishd to curtail individual mileage.

FEWER SCHOOL DISTRICTS ARE LARGER AND STRONGER

Twenty years ago Minnesota had 7,685 organized school districts; more than 5,000 have since merged into 2,579 larger and stronger districts as of August 1960, according to Minnesota's Advisory Commission on School Reorganization. Of these, 461 maintain elementary and secondary schools, 25 graded schools only, 1,341 ungraded elementary school; 762 district operated no school at all in 1959-60. The 476 operating elementary and secondary schools enroll 93 per cent of the state's total school population; the remaining 7 per cent is scattered among more than 2,100 districts. In 1940 twelve secondary schools enrolled fewer than 50 pupils each, this year only one is under 50; median enrollment today is 301, compared with 202 in 1940. Districts range from less than 10 square miles to more than 100, averaging 32, with an average enrollment four times what it was 20 years ago.

Stearns county has the most school districts today, 163, with Otter Tail second at 153, Todd third at 120; Cook and Lake counties each have only one district, Koochiching 3, Itasca 4, Ramsey and Washington each 5, while many counties have as few as six school districts each.

Selective Service Is Celebrating 20 Years

Twenty years of service to the nation is the proud record of the Selective Service System, to be celebrated in Minnesota during the month of November, Lt. Col. Murley A. Reep, State Director of Selective Service, announced today. On November 17, 1940, the first registrant was inducted into the Army, soon to be followed by 242,000 of his friends and neighbors from Minnesota.

"Since the selective service law was placed in effect in 1940, Minnesota has registered 1,380,000 young men," Colonel Reep noted. "Of this number, 242,000 were inducted, 271,000 were enlisted in the various armed forces and the others were deferred for the maintenance of the national health, safety and interest."

Selective Service is justly proud that the selection of these young men has been made thru the years by their neighbors — a truly grass-roots organization of uncompensated men. Many of the local board members have served faithfully for five, ten, fifteen, and some twenty years, and are still active in the work today. Lt. Colonel Lewis B. Hershey, national director of selective service, has recognized the valuable work of these uncompensated employes by the awarding of certificates of appreciation.

Brucellosis Test Set in Red Lake Co.

Partial Retest to Get under Way Next Monday

Agents of the State Livestock Sanitary Board will conduct a partial test for brucellosis in Red Lake county starting next Monday, November 7, which will include at least 20 per cent of the herds in the county. The herds to be tested are those on current retest list, those not covered by ring test and enough other herds to equal 20 per cent of herds in the county.

Minnesota already is modified-certified for brucellosis. This highly successful testing program is being continued to completely eradicate the disease. The test is being started at this time because the county is due for brucellosis recertification.

The Livestock Sanitary Board plans to authorize four veterinarians, who practice in the Red Lake county area, to conduct the test. Each of the veterinarians will have an assistant who lives in the area in which he will work.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER

3rd District

PENNINGTON COUNTY

WOODROW ALMQUIST

To the Voters of the Third District of Pennington County:

As you know, I am a candidate for County Commissioner in the 3rd district. I make only one promise to the people of my district and that is: I will do to the best of my ability and judgement what seems best for my district, my community and also our County of Pennington.

I will make no special promises to certain individuals.

This would contrast rather sharply to the rumors that are circulating through the country. These are: 1st that I promised a certain party Sunday beer and also that someone paid my filing fee.

These are both falsehoods. I cannot help but feel that these falsehoods are being put into circulation deliberately to mar my reputation and to benefit someone else. I have not made such a promise and nobody else paid my filing fee.

Your vote and support will be appreciated.

SNIFF COMPETITION — England — Following their noses, mama sow and her seven piglets hit the trail to scavenge for food. The hungry porkers were on the prowl for stray tidbits between their regular meals.

LIFE GETS CRAZIER all the time: You can now buy gloves for your dog to keep the pooch from scratching the door of the car when he leans out the window . . . A sandwich suited for the season is one called the "Russian Hero," which is all baloney, and another tagged the "Politician's Special," which is all gravy . . . RCA Victor is planning a new album with the "official songs" of the 13 pro football teams. It's probably news to you that these clubs have official songs, and maybe it's even news to the pros, too.

HERE'S A TWISTER for you: Which way does a whirlwind whirl? It always whirls in a clock-wise direction if it's a big one south of the Equator, but north of it the big winds blow counter clockwise. Little dust whirls, like those you see in the streets, whirl erratically in every direction—with their status north or south of the Equator making no difference.

THE BLAST FURNACE MAN SAYS NO . . . to poor quality iron ore. Because of this modern blast furnace practice, most of Minnesota's iron ore has to be improved to meet these high-quality standards. Improving iron ore is accomplished in expensive, complex plants . . . plants costing millions of dollars. Other states and nations have iron ore which may be processed more simply and less expensively and, as a result, Minnesota iron ore faces tough competition. The monopoly which Minnesota iron ore enjoyed for years ended in 1954, when higher quality iron ore began to be shipped from Latin America, Canada, and elsewhere. Today, the iron ore market is a world market and Minnesota no longer has a monopoly.

JUST SO YOU'LL be up on the latest: The Duchess of Windsor is now a redhead . . . A cafe owner had his nephew over to the place for lunch one day. The youngster looked the menu over with its long list of entrees and sighed, "I'm glad my mother isn't here. I'd have to eat it all" . . . You've heard a lot about camels not needing water on their desert trips. However, a camel can store up only enough for about three days' worth. And even with that much, the camel is bloated, and he swishes and gurgles as he walks . . . A wag says he knows who started the rumor that Mrs. Kennedy spends too much on clothes—Senator Kennedy.

The Oct. 17, 1960 issue of U.S. News and World Report places Minnesota 8th highest among all the states in state and local taxes per $1000 of personal income. We are 25% above the U.S. average.

Our per capita personal income, on the other hand, is below the national average by about $100 a year per person.

As Governor, Elmer L. Andersen pledges the most careful scrutiny of every budget and expenditure plan, to produce the greatest value for every tax dollar spent. His successful legislative and business background will make his efforts effective.

Also, Elmer has said, "If we are to support the programs we believe important, we simply must increase the earnings of our people, add to the numbers of our taxpayers and expand the industrial tax base."

You can look for a big push to get new jobs and payrolls, and new plants in the smaller communities of the state when Elmer becomes Governor. There will be special emphasis on food processing plants, not only to provide jobs, but higher priced cash markets for farm produce, close to home.

Experience Does Count

Representative Fitzsimons has gained wide experience in the problems of Marshall County in his many activities in Civic, Farm, Red River Valley Area Groups, 4-H Club Leadership, and Community Development that has served Marshall County well in the State Legislature.

Experience counts in Legislative Committee assignment where Seniority is vital. Representative Fitzsimons is now one of the ranking members of the powerful House Appropriations Committee and the House Agriculture Committee due to his four term experience.

This valuable experience enabled Representative Fitzsimons to serve on the Education Sub-Committee in Appropriations Committee where School Aids and all Educational funds for higher Education originate; his seniority on the Agriculture Committee enabled him to gain appointment to the Interim Committee on Agriculture for the past four years. Just these two Committee assignments alone have given Marshall County a powerful voice in the field of Education and Agriculture in the State Legislature.

We believe that Marshall County wants to continue this valuable voice in the State Legislature by returning your able and experienced State Representative to office.

Booklet Offers Tips to Parents on Pupils

With a million more youngsters in elementary grades this year than there were last, there are nearly that many more mothers and dads scratching their heads and wondering how — and if — parents fit into the school picture.

The answer, according to the National Education Association, is that parents rate top billing. Their task: to help the school child pursue learning as the "most important, most exacting, most exciting task in the world."

The "how" is spelled out in a new booklet, "How to Help Your Child Learn," published by the department of Elementary School Principals and the National Public Relations association, two departments of NEA.

The booklet discusses subjects the youngster is expected to master as he travels from kindergarten through sixth grade — reading, spelling, handwriting, arithmetic, science, social studies, art and music, foreign language (in some schools) and health and physical education.

Then it lists specific things parents can do at home to reinforce the school's teaching of these subjects.

To spark arithmetic skills, for example, the booklet suggests fun-games to help develop the child's quantitative reasoning, as well as everyday ways to get youngsters to think of things in numerical terms.

It admonishes mothers not to be squeamish about small-boy collections of rocks or crawling things — they can spur his interest in science, and so can carefully selected science-related gifts at birthday time or Christmas.

Family trips can help the child broaden his understanding and interest in social studies, the booklet says, especially when parents encourage youngsters to make "travel diaries," and to collect samples of native products and plants.

As for spelling, the booklet views babytalk dimly as "no help to Suzy in the first grade," and suggests some ways of adventuring-with-words such as reading and handwriting, along with suggestions for parents on coping with homework and report cards.

Three other books also can help parents of school age children. They are "Happy Journey," designed to prepare a child for school, "Janie Learns to Read," for parents whose child will soon learn to read, and "Sailing Into Reading," which explains how a child learns to read in the elementary school.

Each of the four books is 50 cents. Copies may be ordered from the NEA Department of Elementary School Principals, 1201 Sixteenth Street, N.W., Washington 6, D. C.

Deadline Nov. 18 for NROTC Tests

Tests Dec. 10 Open to H.S.Seniors, Graduates

High school seniors and graduates have only until November 18 to apply for the Navy's Reserve Officer Training Corps. Applicants will take the nationwide competitive examination on December 10 as the first step toward an appointment as midshipman.

Designed to supplement the officer output of the Naval Academy, the NROTC program makes it possible for a young man to earn a regular commission while studying at a civilian college of his choice which has a NROTC unit. All tuition, fees and books are furnished by the Navy, and the student receives an annual retainer of $600 for four years. During the summers the student goes on training cruises to many parts of the world. After completing the usual four year college course, he is commissioned in the Regular Navy or Marine Corps and goes on active duty as a prospective career officer with the Navy's fleets.

High school seniors and graduates who have reached the 17th anniversary of birth and have not reached the 21st anniversary of birth on July 1, 1961 may apply for the NROTC aptitude test.

Application forms are available at high schools and Navy recruiting stations.

Legion Posts Busy During November

Election and Veterans' Day Projects Included

American Legion and Legion Auxiliary activities traditionally reach a peak with the coming of November, highlighted by the practically universal observance of Veterans Day November 11 — a Friday this year.

Going on right now, and continuing vigorously up to the November 8 general election, a great many posts and units are actively engaged in "Get Out the Vote" campaigns. The Legion is dedicated to a theme of promoting an informed public. In this connection, the Minnesota department energetically supports Constitutional Amendment No. 3, which provides for establishing lines of succession in depth for key state executives, legislative and judicial personnel.

Providing and collecting pheasants during the three opening days of the pheasant season for the annual veterans pheasant dinners held at 14 state and federal hospitals will occupy attention of many Legionnaires, October 29-31. The dinners, originated by Ed Shave, prominent sports writer, are scheduled to be held at the various hospitals Thursday, November 3rd. This program has been recognized by rehabilitation authorities as one of the year's highlights for hospitalized veterans.

In the midst of this statewide activity comes the 12-state child welfare conference at the St. Paul Hotel November 3-5, where an attendance of about 300 is expected, representing various Legion and Auxiliary welfare divisions.

Veterans Day observances are being planned by most of the posts and units throughout the entire state. Some will coordinate their activities to coincide with American Education Week. Others will have public programs which will include open houses and prominent speakers.

Oil Industry Cites Stand on Gas Tax

Refutes Statement of Minnesota Road Group

A charge of "serious inaccuracy" was lodged today against Minnesota Good Roads Inc., by Robert T. Thornberg, executive secretary of the Minnesota Petroleum Council.

"A recent press release by the Good Roads group stating that the Petroleum Council has demanded a cut in the state gasoline tax is completely false," Thornburg announced. "The only gasoline tax cut advocated by oil men is a reduction in the federal tax scheduled for next June."

"We think Congress should keep its promise to reduce this tax," he added, "and among the groups which are on record agreeing with us are the Conference of State Governors, the American Automobile Association, the National Grange, the Farm Bureau and the National Highway Users Conference."

He pointed out that Minnesota motorists are now paying 90 cents tax on each 10 gallon purchase — 5c a gallon in state tax and 4c Federal tax and that this represents the equivalent of a sales tax of 44 per cent of the retail price of the fuel itself, "a clearly excessive burden."

Thornburg stated that oil men stand firm and have long stood firm in the belief that the state and the nation need a sound highway system for commerce, for defense and for everyday living. We also have the clear obligation to try to protect our customers from excessive taxes and to see that they get a dollar's worth of road for a dollar's worth oftaxes, he added.

St. Paul Mayor Visits Scene of His Childhood

Mayor Vavoulis Was T.R. Falls Resident from 1915 to 1923

A former newspaper boy for the Times and the editor of the paper at that time returned to Thief River Falls Wednesday in their present-day roles as highly successful businessmen and, in the case of the former, the mayor of Minnesota's capital city.

George Vavoulis, now the proprietor of a floral business and recently elected mayor of St. Paul, was the principal speaker at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet meeting in the Elks clubrooms Wednesday evening. He, and his party of seven, flew from St. Paul to Grand Forks in a Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing company plane and were met by local Chamber officials and brought to Thief River Falls for the meeting.

In the party was Dreng Bjornaraa, former Times editor who is now district director of public relations for the United States Steel corporation; John T. Hay, executive vice president of the St. Paul Chamber of Commerce; James Weyandt, director of purchasing for the city of St. Paul; Jerry Bartels, St. Paul Chamber membership director; Jack McCauley, St. Paul Chamber public relations and publicity director; and John Taylor, manager of the St. Paul Better Business Bureau.

The St. Paul mayor, who lived in Thief River Falls from 1915 to 1923, attended Knox school until the seventh grade before moving to St. Paul with his family. Remembered by Bjornaraa as the boy who sold more papers than anyone else and did additional work as a "printer's devil," Mayor Vavoulis toured the city to see the changes that had been made since he left and to recall old memories.

At the Chamber meeting, Don M. Olson, president, introduced the guests, gave a resume of the year's activities and listed others for the rest of the year. Activities yet to be decided upon include Christmas shopping hours and the possibility of Friday night shopping 12 months of the year.

Rolland Larson, executive vice president of the TRF Chamber, spoke of his impressions of the local organization and the area and reminded members that office visitation week has been scheduled for November 7-11.

Dr. E. G. Booth, manager of the Minneapolis office of the U. S. department of commerce, gave a brief talk on Thief River Falls retail sales and business trends. Dr. Booth told the audience that the department gathers

He pointed to population changes in many areas, including northwestern Minnesota, and said that the raw materials now produced here could be processed here to improve the economic picture and maintain the population.

Thief River Falls and Wadena were described by Dr. Booth as the two dominant trade centers of northwestern Minnesota, but he warned that this city must be cautious because its customers do not include too many from outside the county.

He pointed out various retail divisions as "doing a good job of selling" and suggested increased activity in others.

John T. Hay, executive vice president of the St. Paul Chamber of Commerce, introduced Mayor Vavoulis after stressing the necessity for a cooperative effort by Chamber members. He gave a description of the change in operations in the St. Paul office and the increased efforts of committees to achieve the success.

In his remarks, Mayor Vavoulis expressed appreciation for the opportunity to return under pleasant circumstances to the community in which he had spent the early years of his life and which he had not visited since his departure in 1923 at the age of 13. During a short tour of the city before the meeting he had recognized many of the old landmarks and he commented favorably on the progress that had been made in the intervening years. He expressed great pleasure in meeting several of his former playmates and classmates who were present.

Referring to the recognition he has received in St. Paul, leading to his election as mayor of the city, he attributed his advancement to the influence of his mother, under whose guidance he had accepted the rule that a part of each day should be devoted to useful service in some form to others.

He urged members of the Chamber of Commerce to become more interested in civic and political problems, deploring the attitude of merchants who took the position that participation in politics would be detrimental to their business. An active interest in politics by all citizens is essential to good government, he said, stating that government is best when all groups, labor, agriculture and business are represented.

He suggested that many good citizens fail to cooperate in community activities largely because they are not invited to participate, and urged that special efforts be made to encourage all citizens to greater activity.

Recent progress in the metropolitan area of the state was due in a large measure to the joint efforts of the leaders of St. Paul and Minneapolis to think in terms of the area as a whole rather than as competing cities, he said.

Mercury May Hit Upper 40s Today

Temperature Friday to Remain about the Same

High temperatures today in the upper 40's are predicted for northwestern Minnesota, by the KTRF weather station with westerly winds from 10 to 20 miles an hour diminishing tonight.

The forecast calls for lows tonight in the upper 20's followed by considerable cloudiness tomorrow with little temperature change.

The gray, chilly days which have been a part of the local weather picture for the past several days ended today when skies were clear at daybreak following an overnight low of 29 degrees.

According to the North Central Airlines weather observers at municipal airport, the warmest daytime temperature this week was Sunday's 47 and the daytime low was Tuesday's 35. Early morning readings have all been in the lower and middle 30's with the exception of this morning when a 29 was registered.

Some Damage on Halloween Night in Rural Areas

Sheriff Charles Richards said this morning that Halloween pranksters were slightly more active in the county this year than in 1959, but that not a great deal of damage was done.

The most serious of the pranks reported occurred on the V. F. Anderson and George Fanfulik farms in Bray and Polk Centre townships where machinery was tipped over in the farmyards and baled hay was strewn around.

Elsewhere in the county there were reports that four outdoor privies had been tipped by the highly mobile hobgoblins.

No damage of consequence was reported in the city on Halloween, according to police.

Humphrey Hits at GOP Policies in Talk Here Today

Senator, Accompanied by Other Candidates, Makes Final Appeal for Votes

Sen. Hubert Humphrey was enthusiastically cheered by a good early-morning crowd which gathered at DFL headquarters in the Montgomery Ward building here Thursday, to hear the senator as he made a last-minute whirlwind tour of northern Minnesota during the current election campaign's dying gasps.

Humphrey was accompanied by state Rep. Ben Wichterman, L. J. Lee, Bagley, candidate for the legislature, and others.

In his brief address Humphrey scored the GOP for administration failures in foreign relations, saying the people in the captive countries are not Khrushchev's friends but that hunger, ignorance and poverty in Cuba and Latin America are his strong allies.

Had we extended the hand of friendship to Cuba, Humphrey stated, we would not have a Castro to contend with.

He urged the party faithful to work hard as they've never worked hard before in the Ninth district.

Hastily gulping a cup of coffee and eating a doughnut between handshakes and conversation with admirers, Humphrey remained only a few moments after his address and then was off to speak to a similar crowd in Red Lake Falls.

His appearance here was delayed nearly two hours due to technical difficulties and headwinds which slowed his plane considerably.

Good News

That news flash that was released last week informing the sports fans that the Washington Senators, by a vote of six to two by the owners of the American League teams, had been given permission to transfer its franchise to Minneapolis-St. Paul, was good news to the baseball fans of the upper midwest. This area has, finally, become major league.

While it is perhaps true that major league baseball interest in this area has been slanted toward the National league, because of the long-time influence of the St. Louis Cardinals, the latter-day enthusiasm for the Milwaukee Braves, and the anti-New York Yankee sentiment, there won't be any complaints about having an American League club as a tenant in the Bloomington stadium.

It won't take long to develop league interest and rivalries that will generate excitement. We hear that Russ Embury has already obtained some tickets for the first series between the Yankees and the Minneapolis-St. Paul club. And we imagine Frank Tunberg, who is a charter member of the stadium club, will have an opportunity to secure a block of tickets. The only difficulty Russ and Frank will have is that they are bona fide Yankee fans, and they will have to change their allegiance to the local club.

And it is reported that a campaign will be held for the purpose of selecting a nickname for the club. The nickname "Senators" will be allowed to lapse, and will perhaps be assumed by the new team that moves into Washington. The obvious nickname for the Twin Cities club would be "Twins". That name would not be offensive to either Minneapolis or St. Paul fans. And that will be a factor in choosing a name.

Game and Fish

While the hunters have been busy making strategic plans to outwit the pheasants and the northern ducks that have been filtering into the area, the anglers have been out trying to catch a finny specimen or two.

Art Stordahl and his young son Bobby had a successful lake trout trip on Pipestone lake last week, and they plan on making another trip up there this weekend, if the weather is favorable. Last week they made a limit catch on lake trout, with Bobby catching a thirteen-pounder and Art catching a sixteen-pound trout. Art said that the trout had come out of the deep water, and that it was necessary to remove all the sinkers from the line while trolling.

The duck hunting has been somewhat spotty around here, but some of the nimrods have been bringing in some fine birds. Mrs. Reuben (Slim) Lawson, who dresses out ducks for local sportsmen, said that Lenny Helquist brought in four ducks, all mallards, that were the finest she had seen all year. One of the birds, a drake, dressed out at four pounds. Lenny is pretty secretive about where he bagged these northern mallards.

Roy (Club) Langevin and Francis (Frenchy) Cloutier had fine pheasant shooting on Saturday and Sunday in spite of the rain and inclement weather. They hunted a corn field near Chokio, and although the party didn't have a dog to aid in flushing and retrieving the birds, the seven-man group had the limit by 2 o'clock on Saturday, and by 2:30 p.m. on Sunday.

Worthy Champions

Coach Kenneth (Red) Wilson's Bemidji Lumberjacks are the 1960 Northwest conference football champions. And they are worthy successors to the Roseau Rams, who were the winners last season.

Physically, the Lumberjacks weren't an impressive squad, being one of the lighter teams to represent the Bemidji school. And the Jacks didn't generate the running attack that they exhibited in past years, but were an aggressive band of boys who proved to be first-class opportunists. And Bemidji, with Lee Fawbush doing the passing flashed an aerial attack that resembled that of a professional club. The retrievers were picking off these passes while in full stride, and the results were that the Jacks were able to rack up a number of "easy" touchdowns.

Now we will have to start to worry about Bun Fortier and his Bemidji basketball squad.

Results of last week's games:
Thief River Falls, 6, at Crookston, 26.
Roseau, 21, at East Grand Forks, 20.

The five-team Northwest football conference closed out the 1960 schedule on Friday night. In Friday night's games, the Crookston Pirates, defeating the Thief River Falls Prowlers, 26 to 6, gained second place in the conference standings; and the Roseau Rams, edging out East Grand Forks, 21 to 20, took over fourth place in the ratings.

The Bemidji Lumberjacks, who concluded their conference schedule last week, won the conference championship, posting a four wins and no losses record. Coach Red Wilson's club succeeds the Roseau Rams as conference champions. The Bemidji squad, flashing a well-executed passing attack, and with capable runners in Spencer Price and Dennis Aguilar, rolled up a total of 123 points in the four games on their conference schedule, and, on defense, gave up but 21 points.

The Crookston Pirates, in winning the runners-up honors, scored a total of 119 points, and yielded 44 points to the opponents.

Prowler Eleven's Scoring Reviewed

Nine Players Account for 170 Points in '60 Season

Nine players shared in the scoring of the 170 points that coach Joe Mrkonich's football squad compiled during the 1960 season. Gary Klungness, with 83 points, was the individual scoring leader, and the junior halfback held a marked advantage over sophomore quarterback John Aune, who totaled 25 points for runner-up honors. Senior Lloyd Ranum, a halfback, scored 21 points for third place. Ranum was out of action for several games because of illness and injury.

In winning five of the nine games played this year, and posting a Northwest conference mark of three wins and two losses, the Prowlers improved on their record of last season, when they had three wins, four losses, and one tie.

The Prowlers scoring, as a team, during the season was as follows, by periods; and the opponents scoring, also by periods:

	1st	2nd	3rd	4th
Prowlers	38	66	33	33—170
Opponents	25	53	33	40—157

Wayne Edgar's two touchdowns and two extra points in the Warren Ponies' 34-13 win over Red Lake Falls enabled the burly Warren fullback to edge out Mahnomen's Jim Klepetka by one point in the individual scoring race. During conference play, Edgar scored fifteen touchdowns and ten conversion points, for a 100-point production. Klepetka, a 165-pound left halfback, scored sixteen touchdowns and three conversion points for 99 points.

Compact Pontiac Makes Bow Today

Tempest Model Features Transmission in Rear

Pontiac's newcomer in the compact car field, the Tempest, featuring a front-mounted engine and a rear transmission goes on display in Thief River Falls today, Thursday, at Wiener Motors.

Two Tempest models, a four-door sedan and a four-door, two-seat Safari station wagon, are offered with a wide range of options in horsepower and accessories. Both an inclined four-cylinder and aluminum V-8 engine are availble with combinations of carburetors and transmissions to provide from 110 to 155 horsepower.

Independent wheel suspension, swing axles and the 50-50 weight distribution brought about by having the engine mounted up front and the transmission at the rear give a smooth, stable ride, according to the manufacturer. More engine compartment is opened up in front by the unique transmission arrangement and the "hump" on the floor in the front and rear seats is nearly eliminated. Other advantages are also claimed with the new system.

Highway Patrol Asks Report on Bad Driving

Minnesota citizens were urged to report incidents of careless driving they witness in another effort to curb the rising fatality toll in the state.

Leo M. Smith, chief of the Minnesota highway patrol, announced that "everyone in our state should be concerned with the continued slaughter on our streets and highways.

"Despite almost every conceivable effort of enforcement officers and safety groups to hold down the number of motor vehicle accidents, too many motorists have apparently thrown caution to the winds and refused to assume their direct responsibilities."

More and more it has been proven that driving is a full time job, the chief said, one cannot be thinking of anything else.

"It is your responsibility not only to maintain control of your own vehicle," the patrol chief warned, "but to be alert to the movement of all other vehicles to the front, rear and approaching from the sides. Many a safe driver ended his driving career in a terrible crash because he failed to take these preventive, defensive measures."

"I am asking the good citizens of the state of Minnesota to report to any law enforcement agency those serious accident-causing violations which they observe," Smith requested. "Do it right away, to permit possible apprehension of the careless before an accident happens which too often involves a law abiding driver as an innocent victim.

"It is not only your right as a citizen, but also your duty to report these violations to the nearest highway patrol officer, sheriff or local police officer and give them the license number, description of the vehicle, time and location as well as the type of violation.

"If you find it impossible to appear in court against the violator, we will write the driver, warning him of his careless driving and calling attention to his responsibilities as a driver to do his share to keep others safe.

"With the limited number of traffic enforcement officers on our streets and highways facing an increasing number of vehicles which are driven more miles each year, we must have the full cooperation of each and every driver and citizen," Smith emphasized. "Assistance in reporting these dangerous moving violations may save your life or that of one near to you."

43 Students from Pennington Co. at 'U' of M. This Falls

News Service Explains Why List as Reported May Not Be Complete

A list of Pennington county students enrolled as of September 30 at the University of Minnesota was forwarded to the Times this week by Wm. T. Harris, director of the 'U' of M. news service.

Of the 43 students listed, 41 were studying on the Twin City campuses and two at Duluth branch. These two are Mark Bjorkman and Paul Kristiansen.

If any names are missing, said Harris, it is because the student failed to fill out a directory card in time, or because he has listed his current school address, rather than his home town.

The students listed include Judith Hoffman and Margaret Wayne of Goodridge; Roger Anderson, Hazel; Alyce Allerson, Thomas Amren, Janice Finstad and Lee R. Johnson of St. Hilaire; and the following from Thief River Falls:

Vote for Woodie

COUNTY COMMISSIONER
3rd District

WOODROW ALMQUIST

To the Voters of the Third District of Pennington County:

As you know, I am a candidate for County Commissioner in the 3rd district. I make only one promise to the people of my district and that is: I will do to the best of my ability and judgement what seems best for my district, my community and also our County of Pennington.

I will make no special promises to certain individuals.

This would contrast rather sharply to the rumors that are circulating through the country. These are: 1st that I promised a certain party Sunday beer and also that someone paid my filing fee.

These are both falsehoods. I cannot help but feel that these falsehoods are being put into circulation deliberately to mar my reputation and to benefit someone else. I have not made such a promise and nobody else paid my filing fee.

Your vote and support will be appreciated.

Trappers Seeking Muskrats Given Official Warning

Special attention is called by state game officials to that part of the regulations for taking muskrats in the vicinity of 'rat houses. The regulations indicate that—"no person shall set traps within six feet of any muskrat house or molest, injure or destroy any muskrat or beaver house or beaver dam or any burrow, den or other abiding place of beaver or muskrat."

The trapping season for mink, muskrat and badger opened on October 29 in the northern zone and closes November 27, while in the southern zone it will open November 5 and closes December 4.

Game wardens have already reported some illegal kills of mink by duck hunters and will be checking closely for this type of violation.

Revolt Needed

Dick Wanek of the St. Paul Pioneer Press points to the fact that the request by the state department of education for more than 265 million dollars, to pay state aid to public school districts in the next two fiscal years, is 40 million dollars more than the total state budget for all major state operations except highways, just ten years ago. A deficiency appropriation to $18,636,420 for this year's aids will be asked of the next legislature in addition to the two-years request.

The per pupil costs of education have increased from $85 a year in 1940, to $211 in 1950, and now stands at $297, according to Wanek. These figures cover maintenance costs only.

How much higher will these costs go? That depends on how soon the legislature starts saying "no" to requests for the annual increases. And that will not happen until the taxpayers back home start getting nasty with the spenders. Annual, across-the-board, pay increases for public employees, including educators, cannot be justified and should be stopped. But these will end only with a taxpayers' revolt.

The Last Days

At this stage of the election campaign we may expect the usual barrage of misinformation and half-truths that too many campaigners resort to in their efforts to confuse the voters. It is well, therefore, to take all of the last-minute charges and counter-charges with a grain of salt.

The Minneapolis Tribune points to one such criticism that might be considered representative of others that will be used by over-enthusiastic pleaders for votes on both sides of the raguments. According to the Tribune:

> The Democratic Digest for November-December criticizes Vice President Nixon's record with respect to federal aid to education, and cites a number of his votes on bills that came before congress during his service there to prove its point.
> We were intrigued with one particular paragraph which read as follows:
> "In 1950, he was among the 13 committee members who voted to defeat another senate-passed education bill. The vote was 12 to 13, Nixon's vote making the difference."
> We assume that the Democratic Digest is writing about S 246 because that bill, authorizing federal aid to the states for elementary and secondary education, was passed by the senate in 1949 and it was killed by the house labor and education commitee in 1950 by a vote of 12 to 13.
> If this is so, isn't it curious that the Democratic Digest failed to mention that among the members of the committee who voted with Nixon against the bill was Rep. John F. Kennedy, Democrat of Massachusetts, who now is the Democratic nominee for president?
> Or does the Democratic Digest concede that Nixon's vote counted for more than Kennedy's and thus was responsible for the comment about "Nixon's vote making the difference"?

Vote For All Four

Four proposed amendments to the state Constitution are being submitted to the voters in next week's election and all four deserve your support. Only amendment No. 2 has become controversial, and just a little opposition generally is enough to defeat a proposal. We therefore look forward to regretting the defeat of the most important amendment of the four.

We are happy to present the following observation by Editor Arthur Suel of the New Prague Times:

> Numerous inquiries have been made to The Times within the last week or two regarding the four proposed amendments to the state constitution to be voted upon at the November 8 election.
> Official explanations of these four amendments were published in The Times in the two preceding issues.
> State Representative Martin McGowan, editor of the Appleton Press and of the Benson News and Monitor, an ardent liberal, urges support of all four of the proposed amendments, terming Amendments 1, 3, and 4 non-controversial.
> Editor Wm. E. Dahlquist of the Thief River Falls Times, a staunch conservative and a former state senator, strongly supports Amendment No. 2, the purpose of which is to establish the principle of both area and population in the apportionment of the state legislature somewhat similar to that contained in the federal constitution.
> The Times has faith in the considered opinions of these two able editors, both with state legislative experience, one a liberal and the other a conservative.
> To be adopted, proposed constitutional amendments must have a majority of all votes cast at the election, therefore anyone not voting on the amendments is actually casting a vote against adoption. Vote on the amendments.

We will admit that we liked the personal reference in this editorial. Being a fellow-member of a great mutual admiration society we can inform readers of the Thief River Falls Times that the editor of the New Prague Times is a man of keen perception and sound judgment whose opinions may always be accepted without question. The only thing against him as far as we know is his political affiliation, but under the circumstances the fact that he is a Democrat adds much to the important fact that amendment No. 2 is not a partisan issue.

So vote for all four, and especially for No. 2, which would retain for the outstate area a fair share in the control of the legislature.

No Longer A Dictator

Premier Nikita Khrushchev has expressed the wish that his pledge to defend Cuba with rockets against any United States attack should be considered as a "symbolic" declaration. That is a significant statement.

Khrushchev would not have made such a statement, which must be considered as a retraction, without pressure from the board of directors who control his activities.

We may reasonably suspect that Khrushchev is not the ruler of the Russians. He is a front-man who has been selected by the "brains" to represent them in the international arena. He is a versatile fellow and has proven his ability to put on a good act. But the Russian people are intelligent and we may safely assume that their real leaders are using Khrushchev as a front man only as long as he serves their purpose.

Our guess is that comrade Khrushchev is nearing the end of his blustering career. When a dictator must qualify what he has said, and modify his threats, there is reason to believe that he no longer is making the decisions. This may justify the conclusion that Khrushchev is no longer a dictator.

Mixed Emotions

Senator Kennedy has gone all-out in his efforts to convince the voters that our country is on the verge of collapse politically and industrially. He gives the impression that he is hoping something terrible will happen to us before election day in order that he may step forth into the condition of chaos and become the great restorer and reformer.

In some respects his utterances remind us of the attitude of his patron saint, President Franklin Delano Roosevelt, during the discouraging months in the interval between his election and his inauguration. During that five-month period — the inauguration was in March at that time — the condition of the country deteriorated steadily. President Herbert Hoover was powerless to act and invited President-elect Roosevelt to put into effect immediately the program he had in mind to bolster the economy. Roosevelt ignored the invitation and gave the impression that he hoped conditions would get worse and be as bad as they could get at the time he took office.

Senator Kennedy gives us the impression that his thinking is along the same line. He gives the impression that he would be happy if our country were in a desperate condition at the time that he assumed authority.

Roosevelt was a potential dictator. Some of his actions, the court-packing attempt, indicated his personal ambitions and his disregard for democratic procedures.

Neither Nixon nor Kennedy are popular leaders who are responding to the call of their countrymen to lead the way. Both of them have the same shortcoming—they are fellows who, early in life, decided to become political leaders. They both have indicated that they are not handicapped by scruples in their greed for power. As we judge them, both of them should be looked upon with suspicion if the public interest should be in conflict with their personal interest.

Up to the present time neither of them has indicated that he is a George Washington or an Abraham Lincoln. We will await the outcome of the election with mixed emotions.

How the Soviets Size Us Up

(Financial Post, Canada)

Soviet writers on history and economics make a strong point of being "scientific", which ought to mean that they begin by getting their facts straight. In practice, they are often inaccurate to the point of absurdity.

A work by A. G. Milelkovsky called "Canada and the Anglo-American Contradictions" is taken very seriously by Marxist intellectuals, and others. Here are some of Mr. Milelkovsky's discoveries about Canada:

After the Second World War Canada's "most reactionary elements" engaged in "open propaganda for a cosmopolitan concept and a denial of national sovereingty". In the same period, Canada's "army was separated from the Empire's armed forces controlled by Britain".

Canadian "capitalists" promoted the building of a port at Churchill on Hudson Bay.

"The latest act in the struggle of U.S. monopolies for control of cheap hydroelectric power in Canada," says Milelkovsky, "is the plan to build huge hydro-electric stations on the St. Lawrence River."

All these statements are, of course, nonsense. For example, it was only against prolonged American opposition that the St. Lawrence seaway and power project finally took shape; and Canada's half-share of the electrical energy will be publicly owned in this country.

The point of interest in all this is that it reveals the shallowness of Soviet scholarship. Milelkovsky, an economics heavyweight in Russia, purports to give in this book the real, scientific, Marxist lowdown on what's happening in Canada; his work actually has as many mistakes as a dog has fleas.

Democrats CARE About Aged!

Only one Republican Senator voted in favor of the original Social Security Act in 1935. They called it Socialism!

A Democratic program for hospitalization and medical care for the aged under Social Security was killed in the U. S. Senate. Only 4 Republicans voted for this program.

The Republican president vetoed two housing bills for the elderly in 1959.

IN MINNESOTA, under Governor Freeman, old age assistance benefits were increased by 18% and maximum boarding care grants were increased from $75 to $115 per month.

When the Republican candidate for Governor was a state senator, he approved the bill to slash the state's share of medical and hospital care benefits for those on old age assistance. He also consistently voted against repeal of the old age lien law.

BROWSING — with — BROUSE

The big news this week is all concerned with next week . . . specifically Tuesday, November the 8th and the election coverage you'll see on KXJB-TV, Channel 4.

The CBS Television Network will broadcast election results continuously from 8:00 p.m. to the conclusion as will KXJB-TV. Channel Four's complete staff will be on hand to tabulate state and national results and the KX news staff will be reporting hourly throughout the evening at :25 and :55 on the state races.

KXJB has contacts in all counties in North Dakota and in all Fargo-Moorhead precincts, who will report results in their respective areas.

Dr. Henry J. Tomasek, of the University of North Dakota Political Science Department will be in the studios analyzing returns and reporting on the trends.

I think there's one thing that Channel 4 viewers will find of great interest. All the sets used in the studios that night will be exact duplicates of those to be used by the CBS Television Network. They were produced for KXJB-TV by CBS. I've been watching our man Ed putting them together this week and they'll simplify tabulating the results and make it easy for you to see the results at a glance. Vote November 8 and join us on Channel 4 that evening. You'll receive excellent coverage of both the Presidential and State elections.

This next item has nothing to do with the elections but I thought it important enough to mention. On October 19th, the American Legion Auxiliary honored "Father Knows Best," situation comedy series seen on Channel Four, Tuesday nights at 7:00, with a Golden Mike Award as "Best Family Entertainment on Radio or Television." This is the second such award won by the series. It's another good reason for watching KXJB-TV, Channel 4.

I watch the late show on Channel 4 . . . join me, won't you? See you next week.

DRIVE-IN SAVINGS BANK
'61 Ford Galaxie Club Victoria with Thunderbird styling and roofline that others are imitating but can't match.

The one '61 car built to back up a long-term warranty

Ford led the way with the one car beautifully built to take care of itself . . . and you.

On September 29, Ford Dealers set an industry trend—were first to extend their 1961 car warranty from the conventional 4,000 miles or 3 months to 12,000 miles or one full year, whichever comes first.

Why? Because Ford built the one car to support such confidence. Ford for 1961 is the one car beautifully built to take care of itself.

The '61 Ford was designed and built to the more exacting standards necessary to offer an extended warranty. Ask to see this warranty at your dealer's.

It is significant that Ford has so many take-care-of-itself features not found in other cars, regardless of price. These new Ford features are a triumph of exhaustive research, fine engineering, and quality construction that give you the most reliable Ford ever built. Drive a '61 Ford soon.

HERE'S HOW THE '61 FORD TAKES CARE OF ITSELF

Lubricates itself—You'll normally go 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications. Then a quick, inexpensive Ford Dealer lube job (which costs about $4.00*) will get you set for another 30,000 miles.

Cleans its own oil—You'll go 4,000 miles between oil changes with Ford's Full-Flow oil filter.

Adjusts its own brakes—New Truck Size brakes adjust themselves automatically for the life of the lining.

Guards its own muffler—Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminized—normally will last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.

Protects its own body—All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing the body panels beneath the doors.

Takes care of its own finish—New Diamond Lustre Finish never needs wax.

County Men Share in Seminar on Civic and Political Problems

The first series of seminars on civic and political issues is being held at the University of Minnesota's Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston this fall. Leaders attending the seminar from Pennington county are Ken Onken, Andrew Skaar, Bernard Myers and Stewart McLeod.

The session will be conducted under the University's new Rural-Urban cooperative project in civic and political leadership, sponsored by the agricultural extension service and the general extension division.

The seminars are held on Monday and Tuesday of each week in November and during the first week of December, according to Paul Stelmaschuk, Pennington county agent.

About 40 persons from West Polk, East Polk, Norman, Clearwater, Red Lake, Pennington, Marshall, Roseau and Kittson counties and from North Dakota are taking part in the seminar.

Rural zoning, employment opportunities, local government organization and finance are topics dealing with local affairs. Subjects in the state area to be discussed include economic development in the private and public sections of Minnesota's agri-business economy, taxes, legislative reapportionment and education. The national farm problem will be approached from the standpoint of demand prospects and supply control, "How Agricultural Policy is Made," and "The Role of Belief and Values."

The general situation in world affairs, the problem of world economic development and foreign trade will be considered at the international level of public concern.

The conference will conclude with a consideration of how citizens can participate more effectively in public affairs.

Authorities on these subjects from Minnesota and elsewhere will be speakers and conference leaders, but the bulk of the time will be devoted to discussion among the participants.

The seminars are made possible through a grant from the Fund for Adult Education to the University of Minnesota. The fund is an independent organization established by the Ford Foundation in 1951.

The over-all project is jointly directed by Luther J. Pickrel, extension economist in public affairs and William C. Rogers, director of the state organization service and World Affairs Center of the University.

Newfolden School to Note Education Week

American Education Week will again be observed in the Newfolden Community School November 6 to 12, Mrs. Elaina Roering, chairman, states that plans are nearing completion for a bigger than ever program.

On Thursday evening, November 10, the elementary grades and junior and senior high schools are sponsoring Parents' Night at 8 p.m. Parents will come to school, sit in their children's desks, use their books and each instructor will present a synopsis of the year's work. Anyone wishing to ask questions will be able to do so also during this period. The evening will be climaxed by lunch served in the cafeteria. Buses will run regular routes to bring in parents of rural children so that the parents will be duplicating the experiences of their children.

Friday, November 11, is being set aside as visiting day in the entire school system. Parents are again reminded that their visits in school are appreciated at any time, but since so few come usually, this special week has been set. Parents may eat their noon lunch in the cafeteria for 25 cents.

The Newfolden Education association has secured bulletins for our local churches, which will be used for the Sunday worship services. The pastors have also been asked to make special mention of the week Sunday, November 6.

Weather permitting, a parade, headed by the Newfolden school band, under the direction of Mr. Borman, will march through Main Street, on Wednesday, November 9.

Exhibits of work and materials for the high school will be found at the Sagstuen-Smeby Hardware. The elementary grades are planning a display at the Newfolden Mercantile.

On Friday morning, November 11, at 10:30 a.m. there will be a special program commemorating Veterans Day for the entire student body. The program will consist of advancement of colors by the American Legion Color Guard and presentations by the Newfolden high school dramatics club and music groups.

American Education Week is being sponsored jointly by the National Education association and the American Legion.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q—I have a total disability income rider on my GI insurance policy which would pay me $5 a month for every $1,000 of my coverage. I understand the amount which can be paid for total disability has now been increased. Please give me some details.

A—Recent legislation increased to $10-a-month-per-$1,000 of insurance the amounts which may be paid disabled veterans whose policies carry a total disability income rider. The added cost for this added protection is small. Any VA office will tell you how much the additional premium would be in your case.

Q—I was in training in June, 1960, taking vocational rehabilitation for a World War Two service-connected disability, when the deadline for completing my training was extended by law. I am very grateful for this, and wonder if the new law affects other World War Two veterans who may never have started training.

A—Yes. The new law also gave World War Two veterans, whose service-connected disability was so severe as to keep them from rehabilitation within the time period previously available to them, the right to enter on or complete training any time up to July 25, 1965.

Q—Is the War Orphans Education program just a college program? I am eligible for training but don't want to go to college.

A—No. In addition to classroom work leading to a college degree, the War Orphans Education program provides opportunity for training in a wide variety of schools below the college level—technical institutes, business schools, some vocational or trade schools, normal schools, institutions offering training in medical and related fields, and junior colleges.

Q—Are guide dogs provided without charge by VA for eligible blinded veterans.

A—Yes, they are. Blind veterans entitled to compensation for a service-connected disability can get a dog guide and all necessary training, through VA. VA also pays any necessary medical expense connected with the dog's care.

Q—I applied to VA by letter for disability compensation, and received an application form to be filled out. Is there a time limit on mailing this form back to VA?

A—If you want VA to consider your original letter as the effective date of your application, the form you received must be completed and returned to VA within one year from the date it was sent to you.

ATTENTION
Hard of Hearing

Many people each day say to us, I know I need a hearing aid and want to get one to make it easier for my friends to carry on conversation with me, but feel I cannot afford one, for these people and you we have good news. If you can afford $1.50 per week about what it costs the average cigarette smoker, we may be able to help you. We say may because many people have waited too long and cannot expect the same results from a Hearing Aid as someone who started earlier, unless they are of the very few who have the patience to learn to hear all over again. Many of our customers have proven this can be done, why don't you, right now call for an appointment, phone MU 1-1692 or drop in or write for more information.

FREEMAN FINANCIAL FAILURE

Just what is the Freeman record in state finances? What is this so-called "fiscal crisis" all about? Here are some of the more important facts and figures, indicative of the Freeman failure.

1. The DFL has increased state spending $242 million, or 81%.
2. The state debt on June 30, 1955 was $84 million. Today it is almost $203 million—an all-time high.
3. The mill rate on state property tax was 9.15 when Freeman took office. Today it is 14.32 and is expected to go up next month. This is an all-time high.
4. In 1958 Freeman said an impartial study, showing we would need $72 million in increased revenue for the 1960-61 biennium was a "reckless distortion of the fact." In January, 1959, he called for increases of $84 million.
5. In 1957 the Cameron Thompson Tax Study Commission made its report. Freeman made loud noises about how great that study was. Yet, on April 14 of that year, the following headline appeared in the papers: "LIBERALS DROP FREEMAN TAX PLAN, TO OFFER OWN PROGRAM." Now he says the Conservatives killed it.
6. That study made recommendations for property tax reform. The DFL administration has done nothing to implement those recommendations. Instead, they have aggravated a bad situation by increasing the state's share of the property taxes by 56%.
7. The DFL has increased individual income taxes by 50.4% since 1955.
8. They have increased corporate income taxes by 70.7%.
9. In view of their spending record, another DFL administration would inevitably have to increase taxes still more and enact a sales tax as an additional tax.
10. On June 30, 1955, the cash balance in the Income Tax School fund was nearly $39 million. On June 30 of this year it was down to about $9.4 million. No wonder we have a serious school aid picture confronting us. No wonder the Minnesota School Board Association, an independent group, called for a special session of the legislature to deal with the problem.
11. On June 30, 1955, the cash balance in the Game and Fish fund was about $2.4 million. On the same date this year, it was less than $900,000.
12. The Prison Revolving fund cash balance in 1955 was just over $3.5 million. Now it is down around $640,000.
13. Freeman has criticized Republicans for not coming out with a specific tax program. No such program can be developed until the expenditure needs are known and Freeman knows that. By law, state departments are supposed to turn in their estimates for the next biennium by October 1 to the Department of Administration. Freeman made no effort to reveal these figures until nearly a week after an enterprising reporter had obtained certain of the information. What is Freeman trying to hide? Why won't he let the people know?
14. Freeman continues to refuse to recognize that tax reform, overall, is what is really needed. Minnesota needs to broaden the tax base and that is only done through more jobs. This, Freeman has not done!!!

How Group Health found a way to give this family $48,000 in protection for only $2.50 a week

This young family man has not been able to afford enough ordinary life insurance to provide for running the household for 20 years—especially now while his children are small and expenses are high. New Group Health Plan now makes it possible for him to buy the extra insurance he really needs.

A unique way to buy life and disability protection

One day last spring a man in St. Paul had an idea which may prove to be so basic that it will change our methods of buying life insurance.

It's a plan which makes it possible for a young family man to afford the protection his wife and children need during the early years when they are most dependent on his monthly income.

The man is one of the executives at Group Health Mutual, and the plan he has pioneered is called the Monthly Provider Plan.

HOW THE PLAN WORKS

Suppose the man in the picture decided that his family would need an assured monthly income of $200, in case of his death or disability. He might decide that he wants this protection for at least twenty years—until his youngest child would be on her own. At age 27, for example, Group Health's Monthly Provider would assure $200 a month for a maximum of 20 years—and would cost him only about $2.50 per week. It would pay off for either death or disability. Total possible benefits would amount to $48,000—far more protection than he could buy for the same premium with regular insurance plans.

ADDITIONAL FEATURES

Another outstanding feature of the Monthly Provider Plan is an option to convert to any other form of life or endowment policy without a medical examination.

Net cost of the Monthly Provider Plan is reduced by a quantity discount plan—the larger the amount of monthly income you buy, the less it costs you. And you save another 8% a year if you use Group Health's exclusive Insur-a-matic (R) plan to pay premiums.

PURE PROTECTION

Pure Protection assured by the Monthly Provider Plan does not replace permanent types of insurance. But the plan does give tremendous amounts of protection during the early years—when young families have the greatest needs and limited budgets.

Talk over the benefits of this remarkable policy with your Group Health representative. See how it will improve your present program. For more information write to the company —or call your Group Health man listed below. No obligation, of course.

4-H CLUB NEWS

SHARON KNUTSON TO REPORT FOR 4-H COUNCIL

Sharon Knutson is newly elected reporter for the Pennington 4-H Leaders Council. This is her first report on county club activities. All clubs will want to drop Sharon a note on special activities for Christmas, Farm-City Week, Fire Prevention Week, Rural Life Sunday, National 4-H Week, etc.

Ghosts or goblins for you this Halloween. A few of Pennington county 4-H clubs are having parties, hayrides or carnivals to make this Halloween one to remember.

City View, for instance, is planning to have a party with games such as spin-the-bottle and concentration! You can be sure there will be much laughter in their fun filled evening. Silverton is also planning a party along this line.

A carnival is the thing for the Smiley 4-H club. There will be apple-bobbing, fish pond, baseball throw and many other games to fill the evening. Also, there is door prizes and other guessing games. New Solum 4-H club is also planning a carnival similar to this.

Some clubs aren't too sure of their plans for parties, but whatever they do, they are bound to have a gay time.

Other ideas for 4-H club get-togethers are hayrides, square dancing, box socials, wiener roasts with a bonfire, and games like charades, concentration and many, many more.

Perhaps your club isn't planning anything special for this Halloween but I hope this article has given you some ideas for next year or any time you feel in the party mood.

New Solum 4-H

Family night at New Solum 4-H was called to order by the president Judy Anderson.

The junior leaders will meet November 10 to plan the yearly program.

The program consisted of a reading by Mrs. Dahl and Mrs. Sabo, demonstration by Mrs. Holmstrom, a poem by Mrs. Lambert and a reading by Mrs. Anderson. Games were played and lunch was served.

Since the 4-H banquet may fall on our next meeting night, it was decided to have it the following Monday, November 15.

For our program, Mrs. Richard Swanson gave a demonstration on a game for recreation and Mrs. Vernon Wold gave a project talk on poison in the home. Pot luck lunch closed the evening.

Pedestrian Safety Stressed by Patrol

"One out of six traffic fatalities in Minnesota is a pedestrian who has walked to his death through his own carelessness or by careless actions of some driver. With the pedestrian making one-sixth of our traffic problem, we can do much to lower our mounting toll by attacking this problem directly."

"Give pedestrians a break in traffic," warner Harry A. Sieben, state highway safety director, as he announced that November would be devoted to pedestrian safety in the Minnesota's statewide "Blueprint for Safety" program for traffic.

"About 8,000 pedestrians are killed annually in the country," Sieben said. "Over a hundred are killed each year in Minnesota; in fact our pedestrian fatalities are up about 10 per cent this year over a five year average.

"These persons did not all die at the hands of a careless driver. Many of them lost their lives because they flagrantly broke all safety rules. A very high number of pedestrians killed or injured in traffic accidents had been drinking before they ventured into dangerous traffic. They were a menace to themselves as well as others.

"Many of our pedestrians who are carried to hospitals or the morgue are young children or senior citizens. Children often don't think, or haven't been properly trained by parents, so they play and run in traffic. Elderly people are often impaired in sight, hearing, and muscular ability. Their reactions are slower, they walk slower, and often are wearing very dark clothes at night.

"Drive in such a way that you keep every one's life safe because you have it in the palm of your hand at the wheel," Sieben urged. "And walk in such a way that you protect your life and the lives of others who might be endangered by your carelessness.

Inauguration of Pres. Lincoln to Be Reenacted March 4

Inauguration of the Union's war President, Abraham Lincoln, will be reenacted in Washington, D. C., next March 4 with parades and pageantry in a manner that will exceed those that marked the occasion 100 years ago, Paul J. Sedgwick, chairman of the District of Columbia Civil War Centennial Commission, announced today.

One of the highlights of the program will be a joint session of Congress at which Raymond Massey, star of stage and screen widely recognized for his portrayal of the Civil War President, is expected to deliver Lincoln's first inaugural address, a speech to the nation that the South watched closely in order to determine whether or not the attitude of the incoming executive would be coercive.

A general invitation to the public to attend will be issued. Co-chairmen of the committee in charge of plans are Earl Chesney, liaison official of the White House staff, and C. Wyatt Dickerson, local businessman of wide promotional experience.

As now projected, the inaugural reenactment will open with a giant parade down Pennsylvania Avenue, the route followed by Presidents on their way to and from office. This will take place during the latter part of the morning and will conclude with the joint session of Congress at noon. A luncheon and commemorative program at the Willard Hotel, the wartime meeting place of Lincoln and his military leaders, will follow.

Girl Scout Leaders in Rotary Program

Women Presented Skit on Adult Leadership

Leaders of the area council of the Girl Scouts presented the program at the noon meeting of the Rotary club Monday, October 31.

Mrs. J. J. Womack, council president; Mrs. Frank Clinton, office secretary; Mrs. Stanley Ranum, public relations chairman; and Mrs. R. J. Dryden of the public relations committee, were introduced to the club and presented a skit on the recruitment of adult leaders.

Mrs. Ranum read a history of Girl Scouting in this country. The organization, begun in 1912 by Juliette Low, is celebrating the 100th anniversary of the founder's birthday.

Girl Scouting today in the United States includes in its membership one out of every seven girls between the ages of 7 and 17.

"The Men in Her Life," a Girl Scout movie on the adult leaders of the organization, was shown by CPO Doug Richardson.

AIR-CONDITIONED
If your hair is not becoming to you you should be coming to me.

This week's column is guest written by Jerome Kuehn, supervisor of surveys, Minnesota game and fish division, Mr. Kuehn is chairman of the Upper Mississippi River Conservation Committee, about which he writes this week.

Many of you will soon be traveling along the "aquatic backbone of our country, from the land pines and beautiful Chippewa legends to the land of palms and flashing Creole eyes. You guessed it, the Great River Road from Minnesota to the Gulf is out of the planning stage and into the construction stage.

To help you enjoy the Father of Waters to the fullest is an organization known as UMRCC—Upper Mississippi River Conservation Committee. For 17 years this group composed of conservation officials from Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Wisconsin, Minnesota and several federal agencies, have joined together to promote a sound fisheries program for the river. It isn't difficult to understand why such a cooperative effort is necessary. River fish travel up and down stream for miles and cross state boundary lines at will. A planned interstate program of management is vital to both the sport and commercial aspects of the great fishery resource.

Soon you will be enjoying a breath-taking panorama of scenic beauty as you move in comfort and safety over the Great River Road. Already one sees the new distinctive marker signs denoting this new highway network in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois and southward. Only now after many years of association with the great river and its valley are we beginning to recognize it importance to so many people. Fishing, hunting, camping, pleasure boating, river lore, water trails — they're all there to be enjoyed. Some fishing alone has been found to be worth $1,700,000 annually to Minnesota. Just imagine what the many recreational assets of this river will be worth to our sons and daughters in the years to come. And to be sure those recreational values will be there to enjoy is the goal of UMRCC.

Certain stretches of the river have fish populations that are largely going untouched. Why? Simply because there is no access for the fishermen. UMRCC has been working closely with planners of the Great River Road to provide adequate access points where they are needed.

One state allows a certain type of fishing gear while across the river another state prohibits its use. UMRCC seeks to standardize the types and kind of fishing gear to be used in the interests of the fisheries.

Dredging spoils must be deposited somewhere if a navigation channel is to be maintained. UMRCC endeavors to have it deposited where it will not harm fish spawning areas.

If Mark Twain's river interests you, why not learn more about it. UMRCC has available a free colorful pamphlet "The Mighty Mississippi," a recreational guide from the headwaters to St. Louis. Copies are available upon request from the Minnesota Conservation Department, Centennial Building, St. Paul 1.

SMALL MISCHIEF

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Isaiah	7	13-16
Monday	Proverbs	6	20-22
Tuesday	Galatians	4	1-7
Wednesday	Ephesians	6	1-4
Thursday	II Timothy	3	14-17
Friday	Hebrews	12	[illegible]
Saturday	Psalms	77	13-14

I call Bruce my combination angel-terror. Soon he will be four, and he is a fascinating mixture of mischief and goodness.

At bedtime, I always tiptoe into his room to be sure he's covered. Then it is that I am struck by the innocence of his face in sleep. Then it is that I realize how helpless is this small dynamo, who plunges with such boundless energy about our house and yard all day. Then it is that I am struck by the awesomeness of my responsibility.

I realize it is entirely up to me to see that Bruce learns right from wrong, to see that he grows into the sort of man who will be a credit to his family, his community, and his country. I must teach him to keep a steady heart and a level head, to resist the many temptations that will be strewn in his path, to hold honor and truth and integrity high.

When I think of my task, I send a small and special prayer to God to aid me. And I thank God for his Church on earth which, for years to come, will be helping me, again and again, in making my small mischief into a man.

Lest We Forget

125,000 hospitalized veterans throughout the nation have never recovered from disabilities inflicted upon them by war. Many are destined never to leave their sickbeds.

We can never repay them, but we can help by writing and visiting those we know, by working with organizations dedicated to helping the disabled veterans, and by accepting veterans released from hospital care and giving them jobs.

If you are a veteran in need of treatment, you can obtain help from your nearest veterans hospital by contacting your local American Legion Post. If it is an emergency, have your doctor contact hospital authorities at once and ask for immediate service.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor Times

Your editorial "Vote for No. 2" which appeared on October 10, 1960 has just come to my attention. The editorial, in addition to expressing support for Amendment 2, criticized me at length for my statement of the purpose and effect of the proposed constitutional amendments which was published in that issue of your newspaper.

I believe your criticism was wholly unjustified and I believe that your readers should have this opportunity of being so advised.

As your editorial recognizes, the law requires the Attorney General to prepare a statement of the purpose and effect of proposed constitutional amendments. The statement is furnished to the Secretary of State who arranges for its publication in accordance with law. The statement thus becomes a part of the process of adopting constitutional amendments and great care must be given to its preparation. In addition to helping the voters understand the amendments they are about to vote upon, the statement has other uses which must be kept in mind. First, is resort to the statement in future judicial constructions of the amendments. Second, is resort to the statement by groups urging their their adoption or defeat. Because of these additional uses, it would be most unwise to sacrifice precision for the sake of a more generalized and easily readable statement. The statement must have the precision which its nature as a legal document requires. Since the statement is so written, I see little potential in it for mass influencing of voters. Indeed, I fear that the number of voters who actually study the statement are preciously few. As for partisan use of the statement, the fact is that it has not been notably used by either side in the controversy over Amendment 2. This should disprove the charge that it was slanted for such use. I am unaware of any criticism of this statement other than your editorial.

Recently when the constitutionality of Amendment 1 was challenged, my office vigorously and successfully defended its constitutionality before the Minnesota Supreme Court. A contrary decision would have been damaging to the remaining amendments. If I were concerned only with the defeat of Amendment 2 and not with the proper performance of my duties, I would not have taken the action which I did.

I appreciate your courtesy in having this opportunity to correct any misimpressions which may have existed.

Very truly yours,
Walter F. Mondale
Atorney General

Editor Times:

As a voter who hasn't made up his mind yet I would like a few things cleared in my mind.

For one thing, how can Mr. L. J. Lee, who is not a farmer but a union and labor representative help the farmer? Where is the correlation between a union man and a farmer? In spite of all the propaganda, I cannot see how labor can be even remotely considered a friend of the farmer.

I don't blame Walter Day for not running again this time. He's served us well and has earned his rest from the legislature. The thing that bothers me though is that Mr. L. J. Lee of Bagley, who is one of those nominated along with Ben Wichterman, is not a farmer at all. I'm told that he's the Business Agent for the AFL-CIO Operating Engineers Union and that his job is to travel all around Northwestern minnesota and North Dakota helping to organize labor unions and so on. Can we expect a labor union organizer to know our farm problems or to be very much concerned about them?

Wouldn't he be pretty well obligated to do in the legislature just what the Twin Cities labor bosses wanted him to do? I think this is a serious matter for us farmers and that we had better look pretty carefully at it before we vote November 8th.

Care Of Garden Equipment

At the end of the garden season all garden tools should be cleaned carefully and put away for winter.

Sand all rusted surfaces and coat them with oil. A bucket filled with sand to which crankcase oil has been added is excellent for cleaning and oiling hoes and spades. Work the hoe or spade back and forth in the sand until it is clean. The oil leaves a protective film on the metal surface.

Take your garden hose indoors. Drain it of all water and keep it in a cool place.

Clean and oil the lawn mower carefully before storing it. Be sure all spray equipment is cleaned and dry to prevent corrosion or rusting. Dusters should be emptied, or if dust is left in them, the kind of dust should be clearly labeled.

Sharpen and oil your pruning tools now so they will be ready for use early next spring. Make an inventory of all broken handles and make plans to repair them during the winter months.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Q—I am a World War II veteran. May I get VA outpatient medical treatment for a nonservice-connected disability?

A—No. Outpatient medical care by VA generally is for the treatment of service-connected conditions only.

Q—I have a disability directly traceable to my service in the Korean War and I am planning to apply for vocational rehabilitation. Is there any limit on the amount of training I may receive?

A—You may train for as long as is necessary to rehabilitate you, up to a maximum of four years.

Q—I am eligible for a VA grant for a "wheelchair house," but I already have purchased a home on my own. Could I use this grant to pay off my mortgage?

A—Yes. A "wheelchair housing" grant may be used to pay off the indebtedness of a home which you already have acquired.

U.S. Department of Agriculture Initiates Survey

Wednesday and Friday representatives of various agencies serving Pennington county met to examine a course of action for the county. Present at the meeting of U.S. Department of Agriculture agencies was Frank Forbes, extension service supervisor for Northwestern Minnesota who outlined this first step of a planning program which will involve many county residents.

Forbes explained that long range planning was actually started in this county eight months ago, when extension agents from Pennington along with agents from other northwest counties were prepared for development of a county longtime program of work. The meeting of various agency representatives was the first step in developing a community wide program.

Over 70 people assigned to four committees will be involved in the study of problems; the situation as it exists, and in making recommendations for the future. The committees will study agriculture, business, youth, and family life will be composed of leaders in Pennington county.

After a study of the problems the committees will report their which will be published in bulfindings and recommendations letin form for county wide distribution. This bulletin will be available free of charge to all groups in the county such as farm organizations, civic groups, churches, schools and to anyone interested in the welfare and development of Pennington county.

Agency heads will serve as resource people supplying information to the committees conducting the study and making the reports. The committees will start functioning on Monday, November 28, and the reports and bulletin are expected to be published in the spring of 1961. Agency heads and professional personnel present at the Wednesday and Friday meetings were Joe Rosengren, FHA; P. W. Culkins, ASC; Robert Kloubec, SCS; Ralph Hunt, welfare; Gordon Saul and Mr. Larson, forestry; Fred Sorenson, area vocational agriculture instructor; Jon Metusalem, vo. ag. instructor; and Ted Kuzmak, veterans agriculture instructor.

School Officials at Conference in City Wednesday

100 Conferred with Men from State Department on Mutual Problems

Farley Bright, assistant commissioner of education, along with ten members of the state department of education staff, conducted a one-day regional workshop for superintendents, principals, directors and heads of departments last Wednesday, November 2, at Lincoln high school.

The afternoon sessions were primarily for school administrators. Requirements and trends in the fields of science, mathematics, language arts, foreign language, history, special education for the gifted and libraries were discussed by the directors of the various departments.

The evening session was broken up into the several divisions with Mr. Bright and Mr. Weltzin meeting with the administrators. New department regulations were discussed along with an explanation of the state aid situation.

Supt. Marshall Hankerson stated that the Thief River Falls schools have received the balance from last year's and 25 per cent of this year's foundation aids. Ten per cent more can be anticipated by December 31 for a total of 35 per cent. Normally 80 per cent of the state foundation aids are paid in the fall. It is estimated that, unless the legislature appropriate additional funds, there will be a total of from five to ten per cent deficiency in state aids for this fiscal year.

Deputy Registrar to Start Issuing '61 Car License Tabs Nov. 15

Secreary of State, Joseph L. Donovan, reported today that automobile, truck and trailer renewal application cards for 1961 license tabs are being mailed to approximately 1,600,000 Minnesota motorists at the rate of 90,000 per day.

Mailing began November 9 and will be completed about November 14. Most owners should receive their application cards by November 15. Because of the requirement for an acknowledged application, owners of mobile homes have been mailed a different type notice and application form with instructions for renewing.

By law, the department cannot issue the new 1961 tabs until on or after November 15. Owners receiving their applications before that date must wait until November 15 before making their tax payment. Tabs will be issued in TRF by Mrs. Marjorie Hanson, deputy registrar, in the Union State bank basement.

Donovan said procedures for registering will be substantially the same as for 1960. An instruction card is included with each application. It would be advantageous for every owner to carefully read the instructions because they contain valuable information. Small validating year tabs will be issued for 1961. These are to be atached to the lower right corner of the 1960 plates. Regular plates will be issued for mobile homes.

If there is a change of class of license plates, change of re-

Beware River Ice, Police Chief Says

Cummings Warns Against Danger of Freeze-up Time

With the approach of the freeze-up of the Red Lake river here, a timely warning to parents was issued by Chief Elton Cummings to keep their children off the thin river ice and keep the children conscious of the danger involved in walking on the ice in early winter.

Cummings warned that the ice in the early stages of freeze-up is very undependable and that children should stay off until continuing cold weather assures that the ice is solidly frozen.

Every year the past few years the river has claimed one or more victims and it is hoped a second drowning tragedy here in 1960 can be averted, Cummings stated.

Polls Predict Close Race for Governor and for Presidency

One of the hardest-fought national and state political campaigns in the history of the country is drawing to a close today, with Election Day set for Tuesday.

The majority of the polls indicate a victory by varying margins for John F. Kennedy, Democratic candidate for the presidency, in his contest with Vice President Richard M. Nixon. The Minneapolis Tribune's poll Sunday gave a 50½-49½ per cent margin over Nixon in Minnesota.

For the governorship, the Tribune poll has Elmer L. Anderson, GOP, with a 51-49 lead over his DFL opponent, Orville Freeman, who is seeking an unprecedented fourth term.

Senator Hubert H. Humphrey, DFL, is given a 56-44 lead over his Republican rival P. K. Kenneth Peterson.

The race for Ninth district congressman was enlivened Saturday by the announcement by Odin Langen, GOP, that he has conclusive proof that his DFL opponent, Coya Knutson of Oklee, has received campaign contributions of at least $1,100 from James R. Hoffa and his Teamsters Union. Mrs. Knutson flatly denied the charge in a radio address Sunday.

The only local contests in Tuesday's election are for county commissioner posts in the first and third districts of Pennington county, and the fourman race for the two posts of representative from the 65th district.

Adell Nelson Wed to Walter Miller at Strathcona

Baskets of yellow mums and fall flowers graced the altar of the Gustav Adolph Lutheran church in Strathcona for the wedding of Adell Nelson and Walter Miller Saturday, October 29. Rev. James Hanson performed the double ring ceremony at 2:30 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Nelson of Strathcona and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Miller of Greenbush.

Marjo Johnson, organist, played the nuptial music and accompanied Geoline Brosam as she sang "O Promise Me" preceding the ceremony and the "Lord's Prayer" while the couple knelt at the altar.

The bride was attired in a gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta, styled with a sweetheart neckline and a chiffon overskirt over a bouffant skirt. She wore white satin slippers. Her short veil was held in place by a jeweled cap and she carried a bouquet consisting of an orchid centered on a white Bible.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Clare Minske of Hallock with Jeanne Nelson, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid. Both wore street length gowns of brown satin with small net veils attached to brown velvet head bands. They carried bouquets of yellow mums. Their pearl and rhinestone pandants were gifts of the bride.

Faye Miller, niece of the groom, was flower girl and wore a yellow nylon dress and white hat. She carried a basket filled with yellow carnations and fall flowers. Jeffrey Von Horn, nephew of the bride of Superior, Wis., wore a navy blue and gray suit and carried the rings on a white pillow.

Serving his brother as best man was Donald Miller with Verne Nelson, brother of the bride, as groomsman. The men of the wedding party wore white carnation boutonnieres and navy blue suits. Their cuff links were a gift of the groom.

A reception given by the bride's parents followed the ceremony. The table was graced with a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with bells and doves.

Mrs. Don Wicklund, sister of the groom, cut and served the wedding cake while Emma Heinrichs and Beverly Weichert of Minneapolis poured coffee. Mrs. Norman Johnson, aunt of the bride, was in charge of the guest book. At the gift table were Eunice Miller, Mrs. Merton Kirkeide, Mrs. Curtiss Johnson and Mrs. Lester Johnson.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mmes. Thorben Johnson, Julius Johnson, William Johnson and Orville Anderson. The latter and Mrs. Norman Johnson dished ice cream.

The bride is a graduate of Greenbush high school and has been employed at the Lutheran Brotherhood Life Insurance office in Minneapolis. The groom was graduated from the Crookston AC and has been working with Wicklund and Sons construction company.

Joyce A. Bangert Edward E. Ulrich Exchange Vows

Joyce Ann Bangert became the bride of Edward E. Ulrich September 11 at a 4 o'clock ceremony. The First Immanuel Lutheran church of San Jose, Calif., was the scene of the double ring ceremony with Rev. A. J. Brommes officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bangert of San Jose and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Ulrich of Red Lake Falls.

Mr. Fiedler played the traditional nuptial music in a setting of white chrysanthemums and accompanied the soloist, Fred C. Bangert, brother of the bride, as he sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a chapel lengh gown of Chantilly lace and tulle, fashioned with a sabrina neckline delicately sprinkled with pearls. The fitted basque bodice featured long sleeves and a bouffant skirt with a border of Chantilly lace. Her silk illusion fingertip veil was caught on a crown of pearls and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis and butterfly orchids which covered a white Bible.

Serving her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. Jeanette Love of Honolulu, Hawaii, with Jeannie Brederultz of Redwood City, Calif., and Joyce Brommer of San Jose as bridesmaids. Their ballerina length dresses were in a sungold tone and fashioned with scoop neckline, small cap sleeves and a long torso with a drape forming the hipline and featured rosebud trim in the back. Their cascade style bouquets were of gold pom pom chrysanthemums and two symbitian orchids accented with brown ribbon.

Jack Ulrich of Red Lake Falls was best man for his brother, with Ron Hagemann of Seaside, Calif., and Dick Bremmer of San Jose as groomsmen. All gentlemen of the wedding party wore white dinner jackets and dark trousers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the parish hall at the church. A lunch featuring a four-tiered wedding cake, punch, mints and coffee was served to about 250 guests.

Out of town guests were the bride's sister of Hawaii, the groom's parents and brothers, Jack and Ronald Ulrich of Red Lake Falls and his grandmother, Mrs. J. Fellman of St. Hilaire; Mrs. S. Armstrong of this city and others from Long Beach, Richmond and Monterey, Calif.

The bride is a graduate of Campbell Union high school and is presently a student of San Jose state college and the groom is a 1953 graduate of Pershing high school of Plummer and is presently employed by IBM Business machines in San Jose, where the couple are making their home.

900,000 Letters Being Mailed out to State Residents This Week

Every Minnesotan can help rid his state of tuberculosis by answering his Christmas Seal letter, said Dr. Herman Kleinman, Minneapolis, president of the state Christmas Seal organization.

Around 900,000 Christmas Seal letters asking for contributions to fight tuberculosis are being mailed to homes in Minnesota, as the Christmas Seal organization opens its 54th annual campaign Nov. 14. These letters contain Christmas Seals, annual reminders of the Christmas season, and symbols of the fight against tuberculosis.

Last year 245,213 tuberculin tests were given in Minnesota. This included testing in schools, industries and communities. A total of 140,264 chest x-ray films were paid for with Christmas Seal funds.

Your Christmas Seal money also pays for health education projects. It finances research for more effective detection and treatment of tuberculosis. It will pay also for a new project—a work evaluation unit to analyze the employment possibilities of the recovered TB patient.

Critic Commends Artists for Fine Concert Sunday

Marjorie Hulme Swenson Pleases Large Audience with Vocal Renditions

By Bryant Ulseth

The "Friends of the Library" undoubtedly enjoy a great many more "friends" as a result of the Sunday afternoon concert presented in the Lincoln High School Auditorium. Certainly the people who were responsible for arranging this fine presentation and Mrs. Marjorie Hulme Swenson, Mr. Polovitz and Miss Willett who rendered the music, are to be commended for their efforts.

A large audience was ample evidence of the energetic ticket sales campaign, the reputation for musicianship of the performers and the need of our community for more music of this type.

The well balanced program showed clearly that much time was spent in preparation and the warm applause was appropriate to the ability of the artists. Compliments to Mrs. Lowell Swenson, Mr. Michael Polovitz and Miss Thelma Willett for an enjoyable afternoon and sincere thanks to the Friends of the Library for making it possible.

Thursday evening, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Bornholdt and Sarah Forhart were supper guests at the Selmer Bornholdt home of rural Thief River Falls.

William Walker, who attends St. John's University at Collegeville, Minn., spent last weekend at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Walker.

Local VFW Officials Greet State Leaders at Airport Saturday

Members of the local VFW post were on hand Saturday morning, November 5, to greet their state senior vice commander, Arnold Ringstad of East Grand Forks, and Joe Bobleter of Robbinsdale, past department commander, who arrived by plane at the local airport as a part of the organization's "Light Up for Democracy" campaign and 1961 membership drive.

The local visit, part of "Operation Grasshopper," was held for the two-fold purpose of encouraging voters to go to the polls November 8 and to spur the 1961 drive of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Headed by the local post's commander, Russell Berger, the delegation delivered a list of 90 new members who have joined during the past two weeks. The post now has a total membership of 290, more than twice as many as the 103 members at the same time last year.

Members of the local post who were present at the airport to meet the visitors were Roy A. Jorgenson, Commander Berger, Bennie Johnson, Harold Anderson and Selmer Dimmen.

Also present was Mayor Orin Green who greeted the VFW officials on behalf of the city and was presented with a special poster bearing the legend, "We fought for your right to vote—Please use it!" The state senior vice commander also presented the mayor with a flashlight inscribed, "Light for Democracy" and urged him to use every effort to encourage citizens to vote including the porchlight lighting campaign Monday evening from 8 to 9 o'clock.

The state vice commander and past departmental commander made 14 stops in northwestern Minnesota Saturday and Sunday beginning their flight from Fergus Falls and ending in Minneapolis where a special program was scheduled for Sunday evening.

gistered weight, or a transfer of ownership, a different type application form must be used. These forms are available at all deputy registrars and at the central office in the Highway Building in St. Paul. Otherwise, owners will need only to sign the application card mailed to them and turn it over with the required tax payment and the 1960 registration card to a deputy registrar or directly to the Motor Vehicle Division of the Secretary of State's office in St. Paul. Any change of address must be noted on the application card.

"Owners must remember to bring the application card and 1960 registration card with them," Donovan said. "The success of the mechanized procedures largely depends upon the cooperation given by the motoring public in presenting the application at the time of registration."

Two Cars Wrecked in Crash Friday

Man from Fairmont Faces Drunken Driving Charge

Three traffic crashes were reported in the city over the past weekend, with two of the cars involved reported as total losses by city police.

At 2:10 Friday morning a car driven north of Riverside av. at a high rate of speed by Gordon L. Haglund, Fairmont, struck a car parked facing north, owned by Albert Harbott, city. After striking the Harbott car the Haglund car jumped the curb and finally hit a house at 320 S. Riverside. The car was spinning as it progressed so that the rear of the vehicle struck the house.

Both the Haglund and Harbott cars were demolished and $50 damage was estimated to the house. Haglund was tagged for driving under the influence of intoxicants and driving with an open bottle of intoxicants in a motor vehicle.

At 1:15 a.m. Saturday a car backed out of a parking lot on the south side of Horace av. near Second st., into a car owned by Richard R. Miller, who was parked facing north on Horace av. The party who struck the Miller car in the left front door then drove off, leaving an estimated $60 damage to the Miller car.

At 9 a.m. Sunday a car driven north on Main av. by Otto Saugen, rt. 2, ran through a red traffic signal at Third and Main and was struck in the right-rear wheel by a westbound car driven by Hans S. Walle, city. Estimated damage to Walle's car was $125, to Saugen's, $75. Saugen was tagged for failure to heed a red light.

New Law Protects Cropland and ASC Allotment History

P. W. Culkins Explains Terms of Legislation Enacted in September

Any farmer who diverts cropland to permanent cover under a Conservation Reserve contract is protected in his cropland and acreage allotment history for an additional period equal to the period the land was under contract, Patrick W. Culkins, manager of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, said today.

Previously, these acreages have been protected only for the life of the Conservation Reserve contract. Doubling of this period is provided under a new law passed at the recent session of Congress and signed by the President in September.

The legislation provides that cropland which is diverted from an allotment crop to a conservation use under the program shall continue to be classed as cropland for twice the period of the contract, and for purposes determining future allotments, shall be considered as thought it had been planted to the commodity.

This new provision, Mr. Culkins said, does not apply to contracts terminated before the end of the period for which the contract was originally signed.

Contracts under the Conservation Reserve program range from 3 to 10 years. ASC officials hope that the new legislation will encourage participants in the program to maintain former allotment crop acreage in vegetative cover for at least twice as long and perhaps permanently. The provisions of the new law will be considered in the determination of farm acreage allotments for 1961.

Four Amendments to Be Voted on Tuesday

In addition to the job of picking their favorite candidates, Minnesota voters will be faced Nov. 8 with decisions on four proposed constitutional amendments. All have been endorsed by various nonpartisan groups.

Amendment No. 1 would empower any regular session of the state legislature to extend the usual 90-day limit of the following session (two years subsequent) by as much as 30 days.

It also would permit state senators and representatives to run for other state elective offices provided they resign from the legislature if elected.

Amendment No. 2 would change the ground rules on reapportionment of the legislature, requiring the house to be redistricted every 10 years on the basis of population and the senate, in a manner which will give fair representation to all parts of the state and which would consider area as well as population.

Amendment No. 3 would empower the legislature to pass laws setting up a line of succession to the governorship in the absence of a lieutenant governor and a president pro tem of the senate.

It would also allow passage of laws for continuation of state government in the event of enemy attack, including such matters as relocation of the state capital if necessary.

Amendment No. 4 would permit the legislature to pass a law giving the vote to Minnesotans who move from one voting precinct to another in 30 days just preceding elections.

It would also remove from the constitution an out-of-date section dealing with voting qualifications of Indians.

Northwest Conference All-Senior Squad

The football coaches of the Northwest football conference—Joe Mrkonich of Thief River Falls, Lowell Larson of Crookston, Ron Thompson of East Grand Forks, Ray Kavanagh of Roseau, and Wenneth Wilson of Bemidji—at a meeting held last Wednesday selected the 1960 all-conference senior football team. The following boys were named: Lee Fawbush, Bemidji, quarterback; Spencer Price, Bemidji, halfback; Vernon Warner, Bemidji, fullback; Dean Fossand, Bemidji, center; Jim Turner, Crookston, halfback; Ross Dewhurst, Crookston, halfback; Don Olson, Crookston, tackle; Bob Raymond, East Grand Forks, quarterback; Dave Backlund, Roseau, quarterback; Don Ulferts, Thief River Falls, end; and Ron Amundson, Thief River Falls, center. Given honorable mention were Dale Carter, Bemidji, end; Ardie Clark, Crookston, guard; Gary Adair, East Grand Forks, tackle; Roger Norman, Roseau, guard; and Lloyd Ranum, Thief River Falls, halfback.

With seven of the "first stringers" being backfielders, the all-conference eleven is pretty much of a ball-carrying club. But of course the naming of a senior squad is merely a means that the coaches have of acknowledging the efforts and the contributions that the boys made during the season. The squad will never be called together for a game, so it's immaterial that the squad has three quarterbacks on its roster.

Attention: Deer Hunters

The Pennington County Sportsman's club will operate a shooting-in range for the deer hunters at the city gravel pit this week. The city has granted permission to the club for the use of the pit, and a permit has been issued by game warden Carl Sundstrom.

The pit is located just a short distance west of new trunk highway 59 on the Viking road. Hunters who are somewhat in doubt as to the alignment of the sights on their rifles should take advantage of this opportunity to "sight in" their rifles.

The First Cage Practice

It's probable that Wednesday evening's basketball practice, on the Auditorium court by the Bums, was the first cage drill by a squad in this area, aside from the college squads at North Dakota U and Bemidji State.

The Bums, who lay claim to being the city's "professional" club, will play a schedule of games this season against independent teams in this vicinity. In Wednesday evening's inaugural drill, ten players reported for action, headed by big Dave Hanson, a high-scoring Prowler a couple of seasons ago, who is expected to give the Bums great help around the boards.

According to Wally Grovum, who is the general manager of the squad, the Bums will not have a coach. With a ten or 12-man squad, substitutions will be made on a "need" basis. A player becoming exhausted will wave in a substitute. That's the plan. But judging by the boys who have reported for practice, there will be problems and the Bums will need a larger squad than ten players. The substitutes are already tired!

Larger Area in Mud Lake Refuge Open to Deer Hunting Nov. 12-20

Deer hunting will be permitted on the open portion of the Mud Lake Natnional Wildlife Refuge from sunrise to sunset Saturday, November 12 to Sunday, November 20, both dates inclusive, according to Herbert H. Dill, refuge manager. Only deer may be taken.

Hunting conditions are expected to be better than last year. The opened area is much larger and is easily accessible to hunters afoot. Entrance to the hunting area may be gained from SA Highway No. 7, from the north at the old Secondary Headquarters road, or from the main gate along the west boundary. Due to road conditions, the east gate at Kelly Ridge, along the east boundary will be closed. The refuge gates will be opened at 6 a.m. and cars will not be permitted to enter from any other points. All cars must be out of the refuge at dark.

Travel by car on the refuge proper will be limited to designated areas; traffic may be further restricted in accordance with weather conditions to prevent damage to the trails. No driving will be permitted in the fields by hunters.

Hunters must comply with all state regulations pertaining to deer hunting, but will not be required to report to the checking stations this year. Additional information may be obtained by writing: Refuge Manager, Mud Lake Refuge, Holt, Minn., or calling at headquarters. Maps are available.

Medics Give Reasons Children Won't Sleep

The Minnesota State Medical Association lists the following reasons why children fail to go to sleep.

Exciting play near bedtime may make it impossible for the child to get to sleep. Sometimes the father who has been at work all day will unknowingly contribute to the child's inability to sleep by engaging in vigorous play before bedtime. A story hour or a family sing can add to parent-child relationships, and the danger of becoming too "keyed up" to sleep is not so likely.

Keep the stories light in nature. Pre-school children particularly have a vivid imagination and a ghost story could have a disturbing effect. It may be advisable to restrict the child's prebedtime play to one playmate. Group play activities often have a stimulating effect on the child.

When a child is unable to nap in the afternoon, it may be advisable to change his schedule so that bedtime comes earlier. Sometimes children are unable to sleep because they have not received sufficient physical exercise.

Children are past-masters in the art of knowing how to get attention. Repeated requests for a drink of water, a trip to the toilet, a handkerchief are ordinary devices used by the child to get atention. To break the child of this type of behavior, first make certain that all of his needs are taken care of, then be lovingly firm in telling the child that when you say good night it's final.

Bed covering, too much or too little or a room too warm or too cold, can cause sleeplessness. Blankets which are too heavy can cause the same effect. A heavier pajama or a sweater is recommended if added warmth is desired.

Illness may temporarily disrupt a child's sleep routine. Often a child will rebel at bedtime because the bed reminds him of the unpleasantries of a past illness. A temporary move of bed, change of surroundings, a new bedtime toy or pajamas will help to restore the pre-illness sleep routine.

More Than $1 Billion Loss Is Expected During 1960

The nation's fire losses are expected to reach an all-time high by year's end. This is the prediction of the International Association of Fire Chiefs, which reported them in its November newsletter as averaging over 4 per cent above 1959.

"Unless fire losses decrease substantially this month and next, losses for 1960 will total over $1,072,000,000," the Fire Chiefs declared. Their prediction, they said, is based on monthly loss tabulations of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, which reported that those for the first eight months of this year amounted to $747, 006,000, which is almost $30,000,000 above the first eight months of 1959, when they totalled $717,860,000.

"Ever-mounting fire losses emphasize the need for increased fire prevention activities, especially in industry, where the major losses occur," the Fire Chiefs declared.

They also emphasized the need for greater fire prevention next month. This is the period, they said, of heavy fire losses.

Conservationist in R. L. Co. Quits

LaVern Wagner of Red Lake Falls, who has been soil conservationist with the Red Lake County Soil Conservation district since 1955, has resigned effective November 12. Mr. Wagner said he will move with wife and six children to California and that he will probably enter the same field of work there.

Polk Co. History Museum Expanded

Acquires Lake Bronson Victor Fritz Collection

The Polk County Historical society today announced the purchase of the Victor Fritz historical collection. This collection totalling over 2000 items combined with the present society collection will compose one of the finest and largest collections of historic items owned by any county historical society in Minnesota.

Fritz, whose museum has been a tourist attraction in Lake Bronson for many years, has devoted his entire life to accumulating this outstanding collection. Outstanding items will be combined with the present Holte Memorial Museum exhibits and will double displays exhibited. Construction of new cases, tentatively, will be completed in time for the spring reopening of the museum.

Cataloging of the Fritz collection and setting up the exhibits will be under the supervision of Henrietta Holte, museum curator, and Mr. Fritz, who has volunteered to come to Crookston to assist in this work.

Outstanding item in the collection is a wooden plow which Mr. Fritz estimates is over 300 years old.

Another outstanding item is a workable treadle type printing press on which the first paper in Kittson County, the Kennedy Screwdriver, was printed. The local Society hopes to print souvenirs of the Holte Memorial Museum on this press. Other items include a working 100-year-old spinning wheel, a large collection of 20 pioneer rifles and pistols, a dinosaur hip bone found in Arctic in Alaska, an albino or pure white gopher and skunk.

Also included in the collection are two 1812 Bibles, an Edison roll disc phonograph, a pioneer cider press, hitching posts, tobacco plug cutter, butter churns, ox yokes, and two 1880 flat top cast iron pioneer cabin stoves.

Holiday Favorite Foods Plentiful for Thanksgiving

Turkeys, Cranberries, Beef and Pork Are All in Good Supply in November

Turkeys and carnberries — the traditional twosome — share the spotlight on the U.S. Department of Agriculture's list of plentiful foods for November.

The 1960 cranberry crop is expected to be four per cent greater than last year's record crop and 29 per cent above average, reports Mrs. Eleanor Loomis, extension consumer marketing agent at the University of Minnesota. Consumers can be assured of a plentiful supply of cranberries for use now and for freezing.

All sizes of turkeys will be coming to market, but the larger sizes will be most plentiful and best buy per pound.

Beef and pork will be abundant all month. Beef of the less expensive grades, suitable for hamburger or stew, will be in heaviest supply. Since hog supplies in November are expected to near their fall peak, pork prices should be reasonable.

Three late-fall vegetables will be especially good buys at produce counters — potatoes, onions and cabbage. The late-crop potatoes are excellent for mashing, baking and almost all other cooking methods, Mrs. Loomis says.

Dry beans, vegetable fats and oils are other foods on the U.S. Department of Agriculture's plentiful list for November.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER
3rd District

WOODROW ALMQUIST
To the Voters of the Third District of Pennington County:
As you know, I am a candidate for County Commissioner in the 3rd district. I make only one promise to the people of my district and that is: I will do to the best of my ability and judgement what seems best for my district, my community and also our County of Pennington.
I will make no special promises to certain individuals.
This would contrast rather sharply to the rumors that are circulating through the country. These are: 1st that I promised a certain party Sunday beer and also that someone paid my filing fee.
These are both falsehoods. I cannot help but feel that these falsehoods are being put into circulation deliberately to mar my reputation and to benefit someone else. I have not made such a promise and nobody else paid my filing fee.
Your vote and support will be appreciated.

We Hope He Comes Back

Mayor George Vavoulis of St. Paul made a good impression upon those who met him and heard him on the occasion of his visit to Thief River Falls Wednesday as a Chamber of Commerce dinner speaker. We found him to be a very interesting and just a little inspiring. His has not been a from rags-to-riches career. A great mother and his own hustle eliminated the rags. He is not rich. But he does have a very fine background of community service in St. Paul, which no doubt accounts for his surprising victory as an independent candidate for Mayor.

Dreng Bjornaraa, former editor of the Times, remembered him as an especially aggressive paper boy. The hustling habits of his youth apparently stayed with him and helped him to success in his later efforts. As a soldier in World War II he enlisted as a Marine and came out as a Captain in that branch of the service. He is not a run-of-the-mill politician. He is rather soft-spoken and modest.

We hope he will come back. He said he would like to. And he said that if he did come back he would welcome an opportunity to speak to the student body. Let's keep that in mind.

Vote Tuesday

Tomorrow, Tuesday, is election day, and election day is always an important day in a nation of free people.

By this election we will influence the course of future events, not only in our country but thruout the world. Those whom we elect, to lead the nation during the next four years, will have great responsibility in directing the management of not only our domestic affairs but in making the decisions that will have much to do with the future course of international developments.

In a government controlled by the votes of the people an election is a test of the capacity for self-government of the people themselves. In a government controlled by the votes of the people, government is good only to the extent that voters make good decisions.

In the management of our personal affairs, whether it be the management of a home or a farm or a business, good management often requires considerable restraint. We cannot always have all of the things we would like to have.

There is a tendency for young people to want what they want at once. Youth is naturally impatient with delay. With age, a normal person becomes more conservative. Normal people, as they gain experience, adjust themselves to the unpleasant facts of life, along with the pleasant, and find contentment in a world of reality.

In a well-balanced operation of any kind we need the enthusiasm and the impatience of youth. But we also need the patience and wisdom that comes with experience.

In a government such as ours, candidates for office appeal to both the young and the old for votes. Too many candidates promise everything all voters, and all groups of voters want. Of course they cannot keep such promises but getting elected is the important thing. And, unfortunately, too many of the candidates who do make promises that cannot be fulfilled, are elected to office, and that is one of the difficult problems in the kind of government we have.

The vote you cast Tuesday will be a very important vote, whether it be at the national or state or local level. It will be especially important at this time at the state and national levels.

Most of us have selfish interests. Many of us are members of pressure groups, seeking special consideration. It would not be good for the country if all of the pressure groups were given all that they seek. Government by pressure groups would never be good government.

Good government in a democracy is possible only when we have informed voters who recognize the fact that the best interest of the country as a whole must be the first consideration of every good citizen.

No More of that Kind, Please

Just to keep the record straight, President Franklin Delano Roosevelt's New Deal program did not restore our economy nor did it bring us prosperity. It was World War II that temporarily solved our unemployment and surplus problems. Roosevelt assured us that the cost of the war would not be burdensome financially, and it wasn't burdensome financially at that time.

In Canada, during the war, cigarettes cost fifty cents a package but here in our country we still bought them for fifteen. In England the income tax was boosted to 50 per cent after a small exemption. To the people of Britain and Canada the war demanded great personal sacrifices financially. We fought the war on credit and we still haven't made any progress in paying for it.

Yes, Franklin Delano Roosevelt brought us a measure of prosperity, but it was the kind of prosperity we cannot afford more of.

Ireland Sees The Light

Ireland is emerging from an era of self-inflicted stagnation. When the Irish achieved their independence their one objective was to revive the happy Ireland of their ancestors, and their desire to rid themselves of all traces of British association is understandable. They even made an attempt to restore their own primitive language and under the policy of Sinn Fein (ourselves alone) they decreed that the control of all industry must be in Irish hands.

Under this policy the proud Irish remained proud, but they also continued to be poor.

This policy was dropped a few years ago. The restrictive investment policies were scrapped and foreigners with money to invest were encouraged to establish industries. The new approach is bringing results. In the last two years 90 new factories have gone into production, manufacturing goods for world markets. Irish youths are finding employment at home, and the sale of manufactured goods is resulting in a favorable trade balance, bringing wealth and better living conditions for the good people of the Ould Sod.

There are people in our country, some of them prominent, who think we should do as the Irish did, isolate ourselves from the rest of the world and erect trade barriers to keep competitive products off our markets. That is the sure road to stagnation and poverty. When we no longer are able to compete with other industrial nations in the world markets, and in our own, then we are in a state of dangerous decline. Other nations will buy from us only as we buy from them.

Our country has grown great because we have enjoyed the advantages of mass production methods. We no longer have a monopoly on mass production methods. We are competing with nations that have machines that are just as efficient as ours, operated by workers who are just as skillful as ours, and who are willing to work longer hours for less pay. They are producing goods at lower costs.

Maybe we can meet this competition by building still better machines and devising ways of becoming still more efficient. But we must cut our costs somehow if we are to stay in business, and anyone who tells us we can stay in business without regaining our competitive status is either stupid or is ignoring the obvious facts.

The people of Ireland have learned their lesson the hard way but they now are on the road to recovery. We can save ourselves some tough headaches by avoiding the mistakes that have retarded their development for so many years.

Britain United

Our country had a direct interest in the outcome of the dispute that threatened the leadership of Hugh Gaitskell as head of the British Labor party. A left-wing group of the party advocated a go-it-alone defense policy for Britain and, according to the New York Times:

> "The crisis stems from a party split on the issue of British defense. The British unions, which have been moving to the left for the past five years, favor unilateral disarmament, including nuclear disarmament, which would mean severing Britain's ties with NATO and the withdrawal of U.S. bases from Britain. The Gaitskell leadership regards this approach as an invitation to national suicide. It favors adhering to NATO, with major reliance on the U.S. to provide a nuclear-rocket deterrent."

Gaitskell won a decisive victory on this issue by a vote of 166 to 81. As leader of the Labor party Gaitskell is presumed to become Prime Minister if the present government were to be defeated, and the decision of the Labor party to support him on this important question of defense policy is an encouraging result from our standpoint. It will make it easier to maintain a solid front in other European countries.

And the result may be especially helpful to our side in the coming election in Japan, where the real issue will be much the same.

Payoff On The Waterfront

(Wall Street Journal)

By promising to pay longshoremen $27,500,000 over the next five and a half years, West Coast employers have bought the "right" to run the docks they use. Worked out after several years of haggling, this agreement between the Pacific Maritime Association and the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union is being hailed by both sides as "epochal."

Not every maritime employer may be so delighted, but Union Boss Harry Bridges and his friends have every reason to be jubilant at the fat price they got for something that never really belonged to them. All of the union will give up in return for the employer's tribute is a worn-out featherbed of ridiculously antiquated and expensive "work rules," by which the union has long smothered the freedom of ship owners to handle cargo in the best and most efficient way.

The employers are frankly gambling that, by introducing labor-saving machinery and sensible work practices, they will be able to absorb the cost of their freedom. Not that they will be entirely free even now: They may not lay off unnecessary workers; some innovations will still be subject to arbitration.

One arresting aspect of this "epochal" agreement is the employers' estimate of the huge cost of union-enforced inefficiency—at least the $3,000,000 annually which they now hope to realize by running the docks the way they should be run. With the average longshoreman earning $2.82 an hour, even the most shortsighted union boss should be able to calculate what wages might be if the waterfront had always been run efficiently.

As it is, the really striking thing about this strangely one-sided pact is the additional proof it furnishes of the ability of monopoly unions to gain a stranglehold on any industry and enforce whatever they want in the way of a payoff.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor Times:

From the editorial column of the TIMES Oct. 31 under the headline—Vote Conservative—I quote:

In the first place I do not know of any president during my lifetime at whose shrine I would rather worship. In fact it was so dark for us farmers before Roosevelt became president that it was hard for us to see any shrine at all.

And about the fifty cent dollar—We did not HAVE the dollar until after Roosevelt became president, and when we then got it, it looked mighty big to us even if it was worth only fifty cents. I do remember that some folks had some dollars during Hoover's administration, but they lost them in bank failures.

The editor also says he is sure it will be a backward step if we replace Odin Langen with Coya Knutson. I fail to see what Odin Langen has done for the ninth district. A congressman must do more than just answer the roll calls. I am going to vote for Coya Knutson because I think she got a raw deal last election.

Respectfully,
Gunsten Skomedal

Fertilizing according to a soil test pays handsome returns for Axel Hogberg, who farms 80 acres near Bagley. Tired of short pastures and poor hay stands, Hogberg tested his soil, split his 9-acre pasture into three strips, divided each strip into 1-acre grazing plots and fertilized with split applications of ammonium nitrate. He also fertilized his hay fields according to soil test results. According to Arnold J. Heikkila, Clearwater county agent, Hogberg now grows hay to spare and pastures 20 head of cattle on nine acres with excellent results.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh
Speak Up, Doc!
Doc Turner was up playing cribbage with Smiley Roberts the other day when, 'long about suppertime, Mrs. Roberts invited him to stay and have a bite with them.
Now, Doc had sniffed a cherry pie coming out of the oven and his mouth was watering. But what did he say? "No, thanks," says Doc. "Some other time, then," says Mrs. Roberts, and back she goes into her kitchen.
Well, next day Smiley ran into Doc on the street. Smiley said, "You missed some good cherry pie last night, Doc."
"Don't I know it," says Doc. "I sure wanted to stay but your missus only asked me once!"
From where I sit, Mrs. Roberts has the right idea about persuading people. Give folks credit for knowing their own minds. For instance, I never coax anyone to join me in a glass of beer. And if they don't try to talk me into drinking their favorite beverage, we'll get along fine. You can't persuade folks to be good neighbors, but you can "invite" them.

WALTER DAY URGES ELECTION OF LEE AND WICHTERMAN

L. J. LEE

Candidate for election, State Representative. Resident of Clearwater county 46 years. Former member of Bagley Village Council. Chairman, Clearwater County Board of Commissioners, member Hospital Board and Welfare Board; also of County Fair Board.

Dear Friend:

I wish to take this opportunity to ask your support for the re-election of Representative, Ben Wichterman and the election of L. J. Lee on November 8th.

Mr. Wichterman deserves re-election because he has been a loyal and tireless worker for the people of this district. He understands the programs that pay state aid to the county and the school district for education and welfare. These programs have saved the local property taxpayer millions of dollars while providing for better schools and greater welfare aids for the aged and needy.

The best testimony of a good legislator is the support his ideas get from the other members of the House. Mr. Wichterman introduced 85 Bills and Resolutions in the 1959 regular and special sessions. Fifty-eight (58) of these proposals passed in the House of Representatives and 25 were passed by the Senate and signed into law by the Governor, an outstanding record.

I believe Mr. Lee should be elected because his past service in public office has been outstanding. As a member of the Bagley Council, he has proven that he understands the problems of the small businessman. He has served as a member and as chairman of the Clearwater Board of County Commissioners with honor and distinction. Under his leadership our county road system has been improved, welfare needs have been met and the levies have not been increased.

I believe that Clearwater County is entitled to have one of the two representatives that serve the 65th District. I feel sure that Mr. Lee will give the people of this district the kind of leadership and service that they deserve.

In closing, I want to thank you people for the kind and generous support that I have had these past 42 years. It has been a real honor and a great privilege to serve you.

Sincerely yours,
WALTER E. DAY

BEN WICHTERMAN

Candidate for re-election, State Rep. from Plummer. Six years Legislative experience. Lifetime resident of Red Lake County. Farmer—Small Businessman. Vice chairman of the House Tax Committee. Member of Education and Municipal Affairs Committees. Serves on Interim Commission studying problems of education.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Q—I pay my GI insurance premiums quarterly and usually get a reminder from VA before the premium is due. This quarter I did not get one, and the premium is about due. Should I pay it, or wait until VA sends me a reminder notice?

A—By all means pay your GI insurance premium when it falls due. Premium payment is always the policyholder's responsibility, and failure to do so means risking policy lapse. Do not wait for VA reminders. It is the actual premium due date of your policy which should be observed.

Q—A friend of ours is a World War Two veteran whose service - connected disabilities have previously kept him from entering on vocational rehabilitation, but whose condition has lately somewhat improved. Can he still take training or has the deadline for that benefit come and passed?

A—The deadline which until recently would have applied to your friend has been extended. World War Two veterans too seriously disabled to begin rehabilitation earlier now have until 1965 to complete such training.

Q—I am 17 years old, the daughter of a deceased veteran and eligible for a pension under the new pension law. In computing my income for pension purposes must I include money I earn for myself on a job?

A—No. The law says that a child may not have an income of more than $1,800 annually. However, money you yourself earn as wages is not counted as income, nor is profit from self-employment.

Q—I am a Korea veteran and currently unemployed. Does the VA administer the unemployment pay program?

A—No. Unemployment benefits are administered by the U. S. Department of Labor through states. Job-finding help, consisting of counseling and placement services, is offered by the U.S. Employment Service.

The only child of a president to be born in the White House was Esther Cleveland, in 1893.

THERE ARE ALWAYS gimmicks abounding, but this one's a dilly: A shoe polish manufacturer recently ran a contest looking for a pretty girl with a long nose, the gimmick being that she'll be used to promote a new no-odor polish . . . In case you care, the Italian film originally titled, "Don't Hit Your Mother-in-Law" has been changed to "Peace in the Family" . . . Sign in a dress shop: "Because of certain laws existing in society, you need clothes. To skip a lot of bland details, we need money. Come on in. Maybe we can make a deal."

CANNY CONSUMERS in the east have a sure-fire technique for evaluating small appliances before sinking their dough into them. Their trick is to ask the man who fixes them. A visit to the neighborhood repair shop and a few good questions to the man in charge about which brand comes in least often for repairs can be enlightening. Homemakers who have adopted this method say it's the only foolproof way they've been able to find in order to judge how well a toaster, iron or mixer really stands up under the pressure of regular use.

COST IS IMPORTANT. Before any of Minnesota's iron ore can be sold, some steel or iron casting salesman has to make a sale. To make this sale, he competes with salesmen of aluminum, plastics, wood and other materials, as well as with salesmen of foreign steel and iron ore. As any salesman can tell you, other things being equal, he can't sell his product when a product of comparable quality costs less. For this reason, the steel industry works hard to hold its costs down. One way of keeping its costs down is to use high quality ore. That's why the competition is so tough for our lower quality Minnesota ores. Quality ore to meet blast furnace standards is often readily available in Canada, Venezuela, Michigan, Liberia, and many other states and nations, and obtainable at a lesser cost.

SOUNDS LIKE SOME of our scientists are way out. One of them, a Dr. L. Ron Hubbard, claims plants worry and feel pain. And how does he know this? Lately, he says, he's been "penetrating the tomato's unconscious with a skin galvanometer to detect emotional changes such as fear and guilt. When a nail is stuck into a tomato, the indicator on the galvanometer dial quivers and begins to fall." Fascinating task, huh?

Minnesota Farm Bureau will hold its 42nd annual meeting Nov. 13-16 at Hotels Lowry and St. Paul in St. Paul. More than 1,000 Farm Bureau members are expected to be on hand. The featured address this year will be delivered by Dr. Nicholas Nyardi, nationally known economist from Bradley University, Peoria, Illinois. Dr. Nyardi's address at the Tuesday evening banquet will be on "Free Enterprise or Disaster".

Other speakers on the program this year include Claude Gifford, associate editor of Farm Journal; O. R. Long, director of field service, American Farm Bureau Federation, and Miss Mercedes J. Hurst, public relations dept., International Harvester company.

Dr. E. Fred Koller and Dr. Elmer Learn, agricultural economists at the University of Minnesota, will be guest speakers at Farm Bureau's informative commodity session. Dr. Koller will present "The Dairy Situation and Problems—State and National", while Dr. Learn will devote his time to "Agriculture's Adjustment Problem—and What Can Be Done About It".

Hi-lite of the annual meeting, as always, will be Farm Bureau's voting delegate session on the last day of the convention. Here is where recommendations for future legislative action, in the form of county resolutions, are brought together from all of the County Farm Bureaus and voted upon by the voting delegate body of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation. This group is made of duly elected farmer delegates from all parts of the state. The policy recommendations themselves represent many hours of individual study and concentration by thousands of Farm Bureau members and their respective county resolutions committees.

Yellow Is Safest Color for Hunters

Beter Vision Council Cites Results of Survey

A recent three-year study indicates that yellow and not the traditional red, is the safest color for hunters, the Upper Midwest Council for Better Vision reported today.

The study showed that golden yellow is the color most easily seen. The conclusion was reached after tests were conducted in various types of terrain and weather and at different times of day. More than 12,800 scores were tabulated.

In the tests, golden yellow was correctly identified 95 per cent of the time, while yellow fluorescent rated 73 per cent, orange fluorescent 69; orange 54, red fluorescent 51, red 35, plaid 32, blue 26 and green 24.

This, and similar studies made elsewhere are expected to eventually bring about a change in the hunting laws of states which still retain red as a protective hunting color.

BOWLING, BRIDGE, AND GRID MARATHONS

Just to see how long it would take, two young men — Sonny Bayer of Crosby and Red Stein of Pierz — rolled 100 successive games on Pierz alleys. It took 23½ hours. Red, 16, reached a 225 high in the hundredth game, averaging 171 to win 47 of the series; Bayer, 23, hit a top of 249 and averaged 177 to take 53 of the series. . . . Dr. W. A. Sund of Benson recently missed his first Minnesota football game in 20 years—he was ill. . . . Beginning with last game between Minnesota and the Carlisle Indians in 1907, an anonymous Appleton fan has seen at least one U home game every year since. . . . Roy Carlson of the International Falls Daily Journal staff, is the first United States citizen to serve as President of the Canadians, famed Fort Frances hockey team. The Falls and Fort Frances also have an International Bridge club, which has met regularly for 47 years, and still has two of the 1913 charter members.

Kennedy Winner By Close Margin

JOHN F. KENNEDY
U. S. President

John Fitzgerald Kennedy is, at 43, the youngest man ever elected to the presidency of the United States, winning the Tuesday election by a very narrow margin of the popular vote although the margin in the electoral college was somewhat broader.

Kennedy carried most of the key states to gain his electoral majority. Most southern states remained under the Democratic banner, which proved the wisdom of having Sen. Lyndon Johnson Johnson of Texas as second man on the ticket.

The five normally Democratic states which gave Vice President Nixon their electoral votes were Florida, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Virginia. All other southern states gave the Kennedy-Johnson ticket victories, including South Carolina which experts said could go for Nixon, and North Carolina, rated as a toss-up by the pollsters.

Despite his precarious lead in the popular vote, Kennedy managed to come through with the big key states, with a few exceptions, notably Ohio. It was apparent early Tuesday evening that the youthful senator was on his way to the White House despite his slim popular majority.

Kennedy is the first Catholic elected to the highest office of the land. Apparently his religion had little effect on his election, or if it did, it was to his advantage, as he won whopping majorities in the northeastern states with the highest concentration of U. S. Catholics. The religious factor probably had a bearing on Nixon's carrying the three southern border states, at least two of which have gone Republican in the past three presidential elections.

Texas, which supported the GOP in 1952 and again in 1956 did not follow suit in 1960.

Vice President Nixon did not concede the victory to Kennedy Tuesday evening, but said the election was a "real cliff-hanger" as he watched early returns come in in a hotel room in Los Angeles. He apparently hoped a late surge would still bring the victory he worked so hard to achieve. He admitted that if returns kept coming the way they did the indications were for a Kennedy victory.

Deputy Registrar Points out Need of Bringing in Application Cards

Mrs. Marjorie Hanson, deputy registrar, today reminded local motorists that 1961 motor vehicle license tabs will be issued beginning Tuesday, November 15, continuing through January 10 without penalty. Minnesota motorists applying for 1961 registration will be issued bright blue reflectorized tabs with "61" in raised yellow numbers, which will be attached to the current Minnesota plates.

Owners have received IBM application cards by mail and must present them at time of application together with 1960 registration cards. Mobile homes will be registered under the same procedure as 1960 but new plates will be issued in this class only.

Mrs. Hanson states that her office will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday thru Saturday. She urges motorists to apply early to avoid the rush which inevitably occurs in January.

New tabs may be attached to the 1960 plates immediately. In the event a motorist has lost one of his 1960 license plates, it will be necessary that he apply for duplicates at the same time. The local office of the deputy registrar is located in the basement of the Union State bank building.

The Pennington county board at a special meeting Monday awarded to Herbert Holthusen of Grygla the contract for grading and graveling eight miles on County State Aid Highway 27 extending north from the Neptune bridge over Red Lake river to Highway No. 1.

Holthusen's bid, the lowest of five received, was in the amount of $152,854.98. The contract calls for the work to start before July 10, 1961, with the completion date set at September 1.

At its regular November session Tuesday, the board rejected bids on a proposed street improvement project in Goodridge because they were 35 per cent or more above estimates. An agreement was reached whereby the work will be done in installments with county equipment, with the village to contribute $4,000 in addition to allotments of state aid.

A delegation of farmers brought up a proposal for a large drainage project in Sanders, Norden and Black River townships, and the board voted to get estimates from engineers on the cost of a survey.

Freeman Loses Bid for Fourth Term; Humphrey Is Winner

Minnesota voters, including those in Pennington county, helped elect Sen. John F. Kennedy to the presidency. In other races in the state, incumbents won except for two notable exceptions.

In the gubernatorial race Elmer L. Andersen defeated incumbent Gov. Orville Freeman, who was seeking an unprecedented fourth term, and in the 3rd congressional district suburbanite Clark MacGregor defeated incumbent DFL Rep. Roy Wier, despite the fact the 3rd district race was a three-way contest, the only one in the state.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey gave Minneapolis Mayor P. Kenneth Peterson a bad shellacking in the senatorial race, with Humphrey's win never in doubt. Governor Freeman held an early lead over Anderson, his GOP opponent, but could not keep pace with his DFL teammate and lost out to the St. Paul business executive by a substantial margin, 738,920 to 715,504.

In the 9th congressional district, Rep. Odin Langen's campaign to retain the seat won from former DFL representative in congress, Coya Knutson, paid off. Statewide attention was focused on this contest as first one, then the other, held the lead while early returns were tabulated.

As the late returns, especially those from the southern part of the district, rolled in, it was apparent the big man from Kennedy would win handily. He was given fair to substantial margins over Mrs. Knutson in Otter Tail, Wilkin, Clay, Becker, Beltrami and Kittson counties, while Mrs. Knutson led in Polk, Pennington, Mahnomen, Lake of the Woods, Red Lake, Clearwater, Marshall and Roseau counties. The latest totals show Langen the winner by 62,129 to 56,939.

The hot four-way race in the 65th legislative district also held much interest. Incumbent state Rep. Ben Wichterman was a certain winner from the start. The tightest race was between Victor H. Aalbu, Gonvick newspaper publisher, and L. J. Lee, Bagley, with Aalbu beating Lee, 5,849 to 5,767. Irwing W. Beyer was a poor fourth with 3,472. The breakdown, county by county is shown in a separate table. As is shown in the large tabulation elsewhere in the Times today, Pennington county voters went down the line for the DFL and only in the city did GOP candidates give their DFL counterparts serious opposition, but in

T.R. Falls Folks Are Honest, Says Winnipeg Citizen

The following article appeared this week in the Winnipeg Free Press, and was forwarded to Mr. and Mrs. Randall Noper of this city:

Not long ago Pat Gerald Hailley of Winnipeg was in Thief River Falls with some friends. After eating in a local restaurant, Pat and his friends got a football out of the car for a game of catch. For some reason or other, they parked the football temporarily on the bumper of a car while they stopped to window-shop. Then they drove back to Winnipeg without the ball.

Pat decided to play a hunch a few days later, and wrote to the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce to tell them of the missing ball. The chamber said they would try, and the wheels started to turn. A notice went into the Thief River Falls Times, and sure enough the ball was turned in. Now this was Labor Day weekend, and theoretically thousands of cars could have been in the area. Says Pat, "I have sent a letter of gratitude to the chamber of commerce and shall hold the town of Thief River Falls as an honest and friendly place."

The first president to be married in office was John Tyler. World Book Encyclopedia says he married Julia Gardiner in 1844, two years after his first wife died.

Connie Ekeren Tells Rotary about Greece

Connie Ekeren, American Field Service visitor in Greece last summer, was the speaker at the regular noon meeting of the Rotary club today, November 7.

Miss Ekeren described humorous events during her trip to New York from Thief River Falls and her stay with a Greek family of five.

Fathers are definitely the head of the house in Greece, she related, and girls do not have the liberties teen-agers have here.

She described some customs of the country including the use of a string of "worry beads" by men, especially the older ones, and eating habits which require the use of both hands and elbows on the table if one is to show proper appreciation for the food.

The over-generous use of olive oil in all cooking was one thing the local visitor did not become accustomed to and much of the food is served cold.

Small shops specializing in the sale of only one kind of article is very common in the areas she visited, Miss Ekeren said.

Driving habits of the Greek people was an interesting and hair-raising experience, according to the Lincoln student. Lights at night are used more for signaling than for illumination in the country and are flashed on and off. In the city, driving is done with the light of the street lights. Horns are sounded constantly as a warning device.

The study of history is stressed in the schools and is an important part of everyday living. There seems to be little thought of the future which may be caused by the frequency of wars and earthquakes which destroys so much within a short time after it has been constructed.

Life in Greek cities and the smaller communities is in great contrast. The wealthy live in the larger cities, have modern automobiles and appliances and other things which we take for granted while the others in small communities live much as they have done for hundreds of years.

Although the better educated people expressed their thanks to the United States for its help, there are others who have expressed their dislike for our country. This may be caused by our movies which are shown in Greece, our military and our visitors who may be trying to show their superiority.

With Miss Ekeren as a guest of the club was her father, Ole Ekeren; Junior Rotarians Mark Larson and Jack Goulet and Viggo Fischer, foreign exchange student at Lincoln high school from Denmark.

The club voted to apply to send representatives to the Model United Nations which will be in Winnipeg April 7 and 8, 1961.

no case was the greater city Republican vote sufficient to offset the DFL vote in the rural areas. The county vote was 5,942, not a record, exceeding the 1956 figure by only 32 votes.

Incumbents won in every state except in the third district county commissioner contest, where Woodrow Almquist scored a 16-vote upset over incumbent Carl Anderson. Odin Hanson won easily over Stanley Hruby, while Glen Tasa was unopposed.

The reapportionment Amendment No. 2 lost out in the county 2,475 to 3,467 while the other amendments showed majorities of yes votes. A blank was considered a no vote. The vote was also in line with the statewide trend defeating No. 2 and passing the others.

In the race for chief justice of the state supreme court, Pennington county gave incumbent Roger Dell a 3,303 vote to Hanson's 1891. For associate justice Gallagher and Nelson were unopposed, while Knutson defeated Dressell, 4,287 to 862. The county vote followed the state in giving wins to Dell and Knutson.

In Marshall county commissioner races, Roy Edman defeated Leon Pribula in the second district 652 to 440, while in the fourth district Andrew Korgen won from Oscar Rokke, 732 to 662.

Marshall Co. Poultry Show to Open Nov. 21

The Marshall County Poultry Association will hold its annual poultry show in the city Auditorium basement in Warren on November 21, 22, 23.

Entry Day is Monday, November 21, for live birds. Dressed birds may be entered no later than 3 p.m., Tuesday, November 22. Judging will take place on Tuesday, November 22, and sale of dressed birds will take place Tuesday evening at 8 p.m.

Of special interest to 4-H'ers this year are the classes of dressed poultry in the 4-H division. Any 4-H'er can secure the special 4-H premium list from Harlem Sandberg, 4-H Club Agent.

The show committee has added several new events this year so that more people can attend. Arrangements have been made with Dr. C. L. Sholy, superintendent of schools, to let each class of elementary pupils attend the poultry show on Tuesday, Nov. 22. The classes will be let out of school for one-half hour at a time starting at 10 a.m. Each class will be accompanied by its teacher. Harold Thomforde will conduct the tours for the students.

There will be demonstrations for the ladies on Tuesday afternoon to help housewives select the proper quality of dressed poultry for table use. Demonstrations will be held at 2:30, 3:30 and 4:30 p.m.

All ladies present will be eligible for door prizes to be drawn after each demonstration. These prizes will consist of a pair of dressed Cornish Game Hens.

All children who come to the show are eligible for prizes of live pairs of pigeons which will be given away Tuesday night after the sale. Also, after the dressed poultry sale on Tuesday night, door prizes will be given to adults present at the sale and lunch will be served.

Friendly Fraulein Is Exchange Teacher at Goodridge This Year

Energetic, warm-hearted Miss Margot Wiese, German Exchange Teacher under the Fulbright program, arrived in Goodridge on August 27 after spending five days in Washington, D. C. The following day she began her year's duties as teacher of German, physical education and history. She teaches classes formerly taught by Elmer Wies, who is currently instructing students in Miss Wiese's home town, Dortmund, Germany, a city of more than half a million inhabitants. When at home, Margot Wiese lives with her mother and teaches at the Kaethe Kollwitz Gymnasium.

Undaunted by a full schedule, Miss Wiese adjusted quickly to the 375-student consolidated school system located in a village of 125 citizens. With a degree from the University of Munster and six years of teaching experience, this friendly Fraulein is a valuable and welcome asset to the 21 member faculty at Goodridge. Her alert interest and intelligent observations on the American educational system will make her year's stay in northern Minnesota mutually profitable.

Margot Wiese's handling of the English language permits her to easily teach her native tongue to her 16 German students. Having traveled widely in Europe, this 32-year-old German citizen is able to bring a lively commentary into her World History classroom. As a proficient athlete and trainer of physical education teachers in Germany, this "studienraetin" is also well able to handle her three classes of girl's physical education.

Kennedy Elected to Presidency in Exciting Contest

It was not until mid-morning Wednesday that Nixon conceded that Kennedy was the winner and sent him a telegram of congratulations, pledging his support in the coming administration and wishing Kennedy success.

President Eisenhower also sent a congratulatory telegram and pledged his full cooperation in the transition from the old to the new administration.

In a televised appearance with his wife, Jacqueline, Kennedy thanked the voters for their electing him and asked their continuing support to bring the nation safely through the 1960's. He declined to comment on appointments to his administration but said he would make appointments of those who would be helping in the transitional process, after he takes a short vacation.

Near-final tabulations showed Kennedy's popular majority to be only 50.2 per cent, compared with Nixon's 49.8 per cent, attesting to the closeness of the race. According to the record such a close election has not been held since Grover Cleveland defeated James G. Blaine in the 1884 election. Kennedy had 337 electoral votes to Nixon's 185; thus the Kennedy victory could not be termed a landslide by any means. Nixon's total is expected to increase slightly.

Nor were the election returns consistent. Although electing their favorite son the next president, Massachusetts voters returned GOP Sen. Leverett Saltonstall to the senate and also elected a Republican governor, John A. Volpe. Several Nixon states elected Democrats to their state house, including North Dakota, which went Republican except for the election of young, crew-cut William Guy over incumbent Lieut. Gov. C. P. Dahl.

Late returns gave Kennedy a substantial margin in Minnesota, while Gov. Orville Freeman was defeated by Elmer L. Andersen. It was after Minnesota's 11 electoral votes were placed in the Kennedy column that Nixon finally conceded, the votes having put Kennedy's total over the 269 needed to win the election.

Saturday 1st Day for Hunters to Seek Deer

For an expected 200,000 hunters the big day is Saturday, November 12, the opening of the firearms deer season. Except for portions of a twelve county area in extreme southwestern Minnesota, hunters will find the remainder of the state open for varying lengths of time.

Nine zones have been established within the state permitting hunting from one upwards to nine days. Some zones are open to all legal firearms, while others are restricted to shotguns with slugs only. Bow and arrow hunting is permitted in all zones during the regular firearms season.

Hunters are reminded that no license to take deer with firearms may be issued after the first day of the seasan, November 12. A license to hunt deer is required regardless of age.

Residents of the state may transport, during the established season and the next following two days, one deer hich has been lawfully taken and possessed. Each hunter must personally accompany the deer being transported. Deer may not legally be transported unless the metal locking seal bearing the license number of the owner has been affixed to the carcass between th tendon and the bone and around the bone of the leg, and securely locked.

Hunters may take only one deer of any age or sex. It is unlawful to take deer from any artificial scaffold or platform higher than six feet above the ground, or to hunt in any deer zone unless wearing a red hunting cap and a coat or jacket which is at least three-quarters solid scarlet or bright red.

SAFETY awards were accepted on behalf of the county by Charles Richards, center, Pennington county sheriff, and John Ziegler, right, safety chairman of the Jaycees Monday evening, November 7, during a meeting of the countys Safety council. Cal Nygaard, left, field representative of the state Safety council, presented the county with a plaque for county safety during 1959 and for agricultural safety during last year. Ziegler accepted the award of achievement presented for the 1960 car safety check program which the Jaycees held in the city.

VOTERS in the city's third ward, like voters throughout the United States, turned out in record numbers for Tuesday's general election. Many in the third ward who were pressed for time used the city Auditorium stage as booths to mark their ballots while others took advantage of seats around the Auditorium floor. Workers at the five ward polling places reported a steady flow of voters throughout the day with the greatest rush, as expected, after the working day was over.

Changes in Social Security Law Made

Benefits Are Increased for Certain Children

More than 900,000 children are now receiving social security survivors benefits. Under the 1960 amendments to the social security law, about 400,000 of these children will receive some increase in their monthly benefits.

The new law provides that the monthly social security benefit of each child of a worker who has died will be three-quarters of the amount the worker would have received if he had lived to draw retirement benefits. The old law provided that each child would get one-half that amount with an additional one-quarter of the total amount divided among all the children.

Families eligible for increased payments do not need to get in touch with their social security office. The increased amounts will be added automatically to the check they will receive in January 1961.

However, not all families of deceased workers will get increased checks as a result of this change. For instance, where there is only one child entitled to benefits, that child is already receiving the amount that will be payable under the new law.

There are also some families with a number of children entitled to benefits who will not get an increased monthly check under this change in the law. These are families already receiving the maximum monthly amount that can be paid on the basis of the deceased breadwinner's earnings.

It is more unlikely that any family, for instance, in which a widow and three or more children are receiving benefits will get any immediate increase in their monthly check, because in most cases this family will already be receiving an amount that is about the maximum monthly amount that can be paid to the family.

Grade Principals Study Standards

Local People Sharing in Elementary School Study

The Northern Elementary Principals group in the Northern division of M.E.A. is studying standards useful in measuring the quality of an elementary school's school-community relationship. This is a part of a state-wide project for the Minnesota Elementary Principals association during the 1960-61 school year. The M.E.A. project concerns "Standards of Good Elementary Schools".

A series of study meetings concerning the project has been planned for Northern Elementary Principals by its president, John Elsbrener. Thief River Falls elementary principals, Phil Beadle, Miss Olga Bloomaness and John Elsbrener and Elementary Director Ray Henderson attended a meeting held at the Greenbush elementary school on October 31. Elsbrener and Henderson also attended a meeting at Walker on Thursday, November 3.

Elementary principals of the Northern division will meet at Bemidji on November 16 to conclude the study. At that time plans will be made to present the topic of school-community relations at the winter institute for Minnesota elementary principals, February 2 and 3 in St. Paul.

Polk Co. Has Close Legislative Race

Wilder and Maruska Are Renamed to Lower House

Harveydale Maruska of Angus, state representative from Polk county, who had been trailing his two liberal opponents, Harvey Wilder and Leland Affeldt, with only two precincts uncounted, received a huge vote in the two East Grand Forks precincts which were the last to come in Wednesday afternoon.

Maruska's 7798 total defeated Affeldt with 7579. Wilder topped the voting with 8268. Ken Moran ran last with 6044.

Polk county gave DFL candidates sizeable majorities in Tuesday's election. Even in the contest between Ninth District Congressman Odin Langen of Kennedy and Mrs. Coya Knutson, former representative from Oklee, the county went counter to the trend in the district as a whole, giving Mrs. Knutson 8614 votes to Langen's 7172 with only two of the county's 87 precincts uncounted.

East Grand Forks Spurns New Name

A proposal to change the name of East Grand Forks to Red River was soundly whipped as a record turnout of voters balloted 2,477 to 354 against the measure in the general election Tuesday.

Past voting records fell as 2,831 residents participated in the election at national, state and local levels. The previous record was 2,583 votes cast in the general election of 1956.

GATZKE . . .

The Gatzke Farmers Union local held its regular meeting on Monday evening at the Gatzke school with president Neil Morrissey presiding. Mrs. Walter Lunsetter read the annual treasurer's report in the absence of Walter Lunsetter. Several musical numbers were rendered by Mylan Ruud and Orvis Mugaas. Mr. and Mrs. Leo Orpen were elected delegates to the convention in St. Paul and Mr. and Mrs. Art Johnson were elected alternates. Sharon Aune was the winner of the door prize. Lunch was served by Mrs. Leo Orpen, Mrs. Olufson.

Handle with Care

The 1960 deer hunting season will open at sunrise on Saturday morning, Nov. 12. It is hoped that Minnesota hunters will continue to exhibit the caution and common sense that has made this state one of the safest as far as big game hunting is concerned. Last year, there were only three fatalities reported, and with the hundreds of hunters that were tramping the woods, this must be rated as a commendable record.

With the prospects of a banner season promised the hunters, and the reports that the state deer herd is abundant, it is probable that this year's deer hunting army will be the largest on record. The more hunters that are afield, the more care and caution will be required.

One of the area's veteran and experienced hunters explained that in all the years that he has been hunting he has seen many hunters who looked like deer, but that he had never seen a deer that looked like a hunter. Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger.

Wanted: A Plan

After several trips to the pheasant hunting area, we are hoping that some individual, with a touch of genius, will develop a method of flushing pheasants out of soil bank land. The development of such a method, which must be legal and honorable, would be a boon to mankind, and surely merit installation in the sportsman's hall of fame for the developer.

A number of hunting parties worked the pheasant cover in the vicinity of Herman and Wheaton this past weekend, and they all report that the birds were very stubborn and did not respond very well to the pressure of the drivers. In fact, it was difficult for hard-working and far-ranging dogs to get the pheasants into action. The birds have apparently gotten heir second wind, and have developed into marathon runners.

There was noticeable flight of northern ducks into the area during the fore part of the week. These ducks, mostly mallards, and full-feathered and mature, did provide some shooting for the hunters who were fortunate enough to intercept the flight pattern, or discover he feeding areas of the ducks.

We made a trip to the Union lake and Sarah lake duck hunting grounds on Monday, hoping to discover that the bluebills had begun their migrations to the south. But except for a few ducks on Cameron lake, just outside of Erskine, we did not see any ducks. It appears that the main flight of the bluebills has again by-passed this area.

But to get back to the pheasant hunting. It is evident that a reliable dog is a must if a hunter is to have any success on pheasants. For instance, Dr. Milt Starekow has a fine black Labrador, Ruff, who is returning dividends for the care and affection he has been receiving. During last week's trip, Ruff brought in a couple of pheasants that hadn't been shot down. Milt, who is well-supplied with shells and anxious to do some shooting, doesn't know whetther to be pleased or not with Ruff's free-lance retrieving. It is an easy way, though, to get birds.

And Ruff's case isn't exceptional for we hear that Otto Ruprecht's dog brought in some birds as a result of out-maneuvering the pheasants.

Strategy

The other week, after receiving considerable information from team sponsor, Elmer Poole, we were lavish in praise of the Viking Tavern bowling team of the Business league. At the time the Black Knights had a record of 11 wins and one loss, and were making a shambles out of the race.

Since that time, the Vikings have bowled 12 games, and during this month of bowling the Knights won but two and lost ten! What a falling off this has been.

When queried about this reversal in form, Elmer explained that it was a matter of strategic planning. The team was bowling at too high an average, and Elmer decided that it would be wise to "dampen" the averages of his team. That's his explanation and he's stuck with it.

But strategy or not, we don't believe that such boys as Pat Poole, Freddy Jensen, Larry Gilbertson, Dwayne Bakke, Dean Anderson, and Art Overbye will be satisfied in remaining in fourth place in the league standings, where the Viking are at present.

N.W. Angle People Oppose Park Plan

Object to Proposal of Mississippi Park Group

The people of Northwest Angle, isolated "tip" of the United States, held a council of war last weekend, coming by boat and foot to state their opposition to suggestions that their lands be included in a possible state or national park.

Their meeting followed a Mississippi Parkway gathering held the pervious Friday in Warroad where Parkway officials suggested that their lands be held in perpetuity and hinted at the possible use of eminent domain.

Angry residents, frustrated at previous attempts to learn of park plans, were unanimously in opposition to any action which would deny them full rights to the lands cleared by axe and grub hoe from the wilderness in which some had struggled and lived for nearly a half-century.

Isolated from the rest of the United States, accessible only by a day-long boat trip or by airplane, Angle residents recently favored construction of a road to civilization but declared that if a road meant the sacrifice of their way of life to the confines of a park, "they can forget it."

Everyone had a voice in the resolution which brought a standing vote of approval.

"Resolved," it read, "That the people of the Northwest Angle individually and collectively, unconditionally oppose and refuse under any or all circumstances—any suggestion or effort to cause their lands to be put in perpetuity or acquired by the right of eminent domain."

We will, "oppose by any and all means any such suggestion or effort," they declared.

"Men who complain that they are 'too busy' usually find time to do the things they want to do. When they say 'I don't have time'—to read, to converse, to serve their industry or community — they mean their other interests have a more urgent personal appeal."

Learning Fast

Another American satellite was sent into orbit last week and now is reporting on conditions ranging from 258 to 1,422 miles above the earth. It is completing its trip around the globe every 12 minutes.

This particular spinning top has eight assignments in the ionosphere, which, we gather is the next layer of space beyond our atmosphere. Gradually, step by step, the mystery of space is being solved and, we have no doubt, as we have learned to navigate safely through the atmosphere, our progress in space flights through the next layer will be rapid from now on.

What's The Answer

The president of General Mills has suggested the creation of a task force of representatives of American food industries "to take a lead in a worldwide assault on human hunger." That is a good proposal. It would be interesting to compare the recommendations of a group of hard-headed American businessmen with the recommendations of the social workers.

As a first step in a realistic approach to the problem it would be well to get the facts straight. Senator Kennedy, in a campaign speech, stated that 15 million (we believe that was the number) Americans go to bed hungry every night. That kind of talk could cause us to lose prestige fast in many parts of the world, including Russia. We know that with all of the agencies for relief that have been created, and for which we are paying, there is no excuse for any American going to bed hungry, unless it should be some of us who would be better off if we weighed less.

There no doubt are many millions of hungry people in the world, who are hungry because food is not available for them. Some of them, the young and the aged and the ailing, should be fed as deserving recipients of public or private charity. Many more millions should be given opportunities to earn the food they lack.

One of the surprising things about the world's food supply is the number of areas that now are producing surpluses. The number of these areas is increasing.

Providing adequately for the hungry is no longer a problem of world scarcity. It is better distribution that is needed, which would come naturally if buying power were available.

And how much should be done for people who can work but will not? Are they being helped by being fed? It is an interesting question. You figure out the answer.

Blackmail

This is the 15th anniversary of the forming of the United Nations organization, and in view of recent developments, maybe that's about as old as the organization is going to get. The Soviet government has never been helpful in the efforts to maintain peace. Whenever there have been important decisions to make the Russians have been obstructionists. Now the Communist group of nations are refusing to pay their share of the cost of the Congo operations, which is quite a hefty sum.

Under the circumstances we can see no good reason why Khrushchev and his mob should be tolerated. According to the provisions of the United Nations charter, the Soviet government should lose its voting rights in the general assembly until it does contribute its share of the cost, and we can see no good reason for not meeting this question head-on at once.

Columnist Davis Lawrence points out that:

> "The record shows, moreover, that the Soviet Union has paid none of its share of the expense for policing the Gaza strip, authorized by the UN after the Suez crisis in 1956. Out of the 1960 bill of 20 million dollars, this country is paying $9,679,064 but the Soviet Union now has been in default of its assessments for four years, totaling more than 10 million. Other Communist bloc countries have followed the same course.
> "The United States pays the lion's share of the UN expenses. The estimated cost of all UN operations in 1960 is about $283,650,000 of which this country will nearly half, or approximately $120,500,000. Why should the United States bear such a burden when the Soviet government decides for itself what expenses it will pay and those on which it will openly welch? The Soviet Union this year will pay around $17,455,000 for some of the regular expenses of the UN but declines to pay any assessment of which it doesn't approve, through there is nothing in the charter to sustain such defiance or such pressure to change policies by withholding money contributions. This is really blackmail."

Canadian Tax Conference

Our Canadian neighbors have tax problems too, and representatives of the federal and provincial governments have been exploring the possibilities in a greater centralization of tax collection by the federal government, distributing back to the provinces a specified share of the revenues. Their discussions have been interesting.

It is clear that the collection of state and federal income taxes could be handled more efficiently, and more thoroughly, by one central agency. This would also be true of most excise or sales taxes. The difficulty is the lack of uniformity in state taxes. A central tax collecting operation would not be possible unless state taxes were uniform.

Which of course is another good argument for uniformity. It would be desirable, for instance, if Minnesota's income and sales taxes were identical with those of neighboring states. Uniformity would put an end to many of the arguments as to whether we are being fair to industry.

The Canadians are considering this problem seriously, and their progress in achieving simplification, efficiency and uniformity in their tax structure thruout the Dominion might establish a pattern that should be considered on our side of the line.

The discussions at the Federal-Provincial Conference in Ottawa have covered taxation in all of its aspects and some of the observations have been particularly interesting. We like the following conclusion on taxing and spending by Premier Manning of Alberta:

> "In our view, while there obviously are some advantages to indirect taxation, to be honest we would have to acknowledge that primarily the advantage is a political advantage; it is the nicest way of a government collecting money from people without the people knowing what they are paying.
> "If it costs $200 to remove a man's appendix, are you doing him a service by adding the $200 to the price of his automobile and telling him that you are taking out his appendix for nothing?
> "Unless the individual citizen knows what the costs of the social services are, he is not in a position to intelligently say whether he wants those services, whether he prefers other services, or whether he wants more services.
> "Only when he knows the price tag attached o each alternative is he in a position to intelligently, through his elected representatives, say what he wants and what he is prepared to pay for."

Friendly Words from Tito

Khrushchev's antics in New York are being sharply criticized by the Yugoslav press and have resulted in a friendlier attitude toward the West by Marshal Tito, according to Eric Bourne, writing from Belgrade to the Christian Science Monitor. That is encouraging. It is nice to know that Comrade Nikita occasionally loses prestige too.

It is significant that Tito is not impressed with Khrushchev's proposal for an East, West and neutralist triumvirate to govern the United Nations. In his homecoming speech Tito, referring to this proposal, declared:

> "We want the mistakes in the Congo corrected, but we do not want to introduce chaos into the United Nations."

A recent Yugoslav dispatch from Berlin "presented an extremely level-headed view of the situation," according to Mr. Bourne, "and for once treated the Western position with understanding." He continues:

> "The Berlin situation, it said, has certainly changed since the original four-power agreements were drawn up, but it was 'also true that these agreements still existed' — precisely the Western argument hitherto little appreciated here — and have not been withdrawn or replaced by new ones more in keeping with current conditions.
> "All this seems to reflect a greater realism over East-West issues on Marshal Tito's part after what he himself termed his 'profound experience' during his three weeks at the Assembly where, by apparently general Western consensus, he acquitted himself well."

A friendlier Tito does not weaken our position.

Parents or Credit Managers

(Milwaukee Journal)

Charge accounts for teen age customers is the newest wrinkle in retailing—and one of the most controversial.

A recent survey by Seventeen magazine of 217 department and specialty stores reported that 63 per cent had some form of credit plan for teen agers. In 1959 the figure was 32 per cent.

The Wall Street Journal notes that stores have both immediate and long range reasons for promoting credit among young buyers, who in some cases need be only 12 but usually must be 15 or 16. Grabbing a bigger share of the already big teen age market is one reason. Getting young people in the habit of buying at a particular store is another. "Educating" young buyers in the use of credit is third.

One blue eyed, 17 year old Charlotte (N.C.) girl finds a charge account "wonderful" because it enables her to buy things "right quick" when she wants them. She says that a charge account has taught her how to manage her part time job money.

Maybe it has. But to our middle aged way of thinking, requiring a teen ager to wait and save is a better way to teach money management than encouraging buying "right quick." We believe, too, that parents should be the teachers rather than credit managers.

Or is it the parents who allow their teen age sons and daughters to have charge accounts who should be given instruction in the proper use of credit?

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

A youth was hauled into court for fighting. "Tell your side of the story," the judge said.

"Well, I was in a phone booth talking to my girl friend when this guy wants to use the phone. He opened the door, grabbed me by the neck and tossed me out."

"Then you got angry?"

"No," the youth replied, "I didn't really get mad until he grabbed my girl and threw her out too."

A man stepped up to the pen counter. He selected one and said to the salesgirl, "This is a surprise gift for my wife."

"A surprise? How nice!"

"Yes," said the man. "Today's her birthday and she's expecting a car."

You and Your Eyes

"Is TV Blinding Us?"

Properly viewed, TV doesn't injure vision any more than normal everyday eye tasks. This was the finding of a recent exhaustive and scientific study. It is an opinion shared by most authorities on the subject. Incidentally, the study also showed that television generally does not make children listless, lose sleep, dream, or concentrate poorly. Nor does it make children either more passive or more aggressive.

In fact, TV viewing habits often can help you detect visual defects in yourself or children. This is important, since early detection is important to correction.

So don't blame TV for troubles it doesn't cause. Safeguard eyesight by correcting visual defects early. Then watch TV — discriminately, of course — observing these rules . . :

- Keep the wall behind your TV set evenly, but not too brightly, lighted.
- Use at least one table or floor lamp.
- Sit far enough from the set so that scanning lines can not be seen.
- Look on the level or slightly downward as the set.
- Rest your eyes occasionally by glancing around the room.
- Keep the TV screen adjusted to medium brightness.

①HOW MUCH HOT WATER DO YOU USE?

②HOW MUCH DO WE SPEND ON OUR CARS?

②Last year the American public spent more than $16 billion for cars and parts for an average of $230 for each registered vehicle. CHEVROLET

'61 TORSION-SPRING CHEVROLETS

If you don't think scrapping the front axle has made a world of difference, you haven't driven a Chevy in a while. A few minutes behind the wheel and you can feel why drivers are happier and breakable loads are better protected. But the biggest advantage of all, you'll realize, is that the truck itself (sheet metal, tires, chassis components, everything) takes less abuse. With independent front suspension soaking up road shock and vibration, the truck lasts longer, goes extra thousands of profit-miles before trade-in time comes around. Add that to what everybody's always known about Chevy dependability and you find yourself looking at the soundest, surest truck investment you could bet your business on. CHEVROLET and look! NEW REAR-ENGINE CORVAIR 95's

A panel and two pickups that put a thrifty air-cooled engine in the rear, the driver up front and as much as 1,900 pounds of load space in between! That's more capacity than a conventional half-tonner. Yet these Corvair 95's are nearly two feet shorter from bumper to bumper. Highly maneuverable. Built to last with a one-piece body-frame design. Bound to save you money on a busy schedule!

BROWSING

BROUSE

SPECIAL is the word on Channel 4 this month and there's good reason for it. For instance, on November 13, a bold experiment in public school teaching will be shown on THE INFLUENTIAL AMERICANS from 8:00 to 9:00 p.m. This program will point out how the demand for higher quality education at a time of acute teacher schortage can be met, and focuses on gifted teachers at work in selected areas.

The DuPont Company will present HEAVEN CAN WAIT from 8:30 to 10:00 p.m. on November 16. It is a comedy about a prize fighter who, through heavenly intervention, wins fame and fortune on earth. Its central character is Joe Pendleton who, through a series of madcap adventures, becomes a champion boxer and the righter of wrongs for a pretty girl named Bette Logan.

And on November 20 from 9:00 to 10:00 p.m. KXJB-TV will present the first Belafonte special of the season entitled BELAFONTE, NEW YORK 19.

Of course, these aren't all the upcoming specials. I'll tell you more about them next week.

You've probably noticed that I've always signed this column off with "watch the late show on Channel 4." Here are ome good reasons for doing just that.

On this coming Saturday night (November 12) KXJB-TV will feature "Guadalcanal Diary" with William Bendix and Lloyd Nolan. This was one of the best war films ever done.

Next week on Tuesday the 15th, you'll see "Doctor Takes A Wife." It stars Loretta Young and Ray Milland and is a very entertaining comedy. An American tank crew outwits the Nazis in the desert in "Sahara" on Saturday, November 19. This exciting film stars that all-time favorite, Humphrey Bogart, and Dan Duryea.

So with the regular programming, the specials and the great late shows you can really enjoy the viewing on KXJB-TV, Channel 4. See you next week.

Some secrets its owner can't keep!

We wouldn't go so far as to say that your life is an open book when you're seen in the company of a new Cadillac car.

But we will admit that at least a few of the pages have been turned.

For a Cadillac indicates—with unmistakable clarity and eloquence—the personal virtues that lead a man to the "car of cars".

Beautiful, distinctive and substantial—it reflects his eminence in his field of endeavor . . . and testifies to what he has made of his years.

Practical, sound, and desired—it evidences his awareness of the true aspects of value and quality.

And if a Cadillac has historically cast such credit on its owner—how much more grandly it will do so in 1961!

For the car now offers more of everything to inspire the respect of those who behold it.

Its styling is graceful as never before. Its interiors are remarkably generous in every dimension. And its performance and ride make every journey a miracle of motion.

You ought to inspect and drive this 1961 Cadillac.

Your dealer will be delighted to accommodate you. And we wager you'll quickly see the wisdom of letting the "car of cars" reveal a few discreet secrets about you.

Summary of Weather Shows That October Was Pleasant Month

The first touch of winter was felt in the area October 18 when very light snow flurries were seen but, looking back to last year, the month looked good in comparison.

For those with short memories, the first snow of 1959 fell October 9 and was followed the next day by an inch of the stuff. The first ice on the river pool was reported October 13.

Compared to the same period last year, October 1960 was warmer, both day and night, and drier. Average high this year was 56.26 compared to 45.26 last year and the average low was 34.06 last month compared to 28.9 in 1959.

Only 1.42 inches of precipitation was recorded last month, the same as in September, compared to 1.83 inches of rain and two inches of snow during the month in 1959.

Perfect fall weather dominated last month's weather picture through the first 28 days, but the period ended with three gray days during which 1.15 inches of rain fell.

Looking forward to November, no below zero readings were recorded in 1957 but 8 inches of snow and rain fell during the month in 1958 and 5.7 inches fell during the period in 1959 coupled with low readings of —18 on the 14th and —15 the 25th.

Portable Scale Is Being Utilized on State Highways

Is Operated by State Highway Patrol to Check Trucks for Overweight

A new portable truck weighing scale is now being used on a year-round basis by the Minnesota highway department to bring a halt to violations of truck load limitations, State Highway Commissioner L. P. Zimmerman announced.

In addition to violating load license limitations, overloaded trucks have gone out of control on occasion and been directly responsible for accidents, and trucks moving loads in excess of posted road weight restrictions have caused damage to sections of highways, Zimmerman said.

The portable scale is operated by the state highway patrol and was put into use upon the recommendation of Patrol Chief Leo Smith. It will be continually on the move throughout the state to catch violators who wilfully bypass the state's eight permanent weighing stations. Violators are liable to stiff penalties and fines in addition to being delayed in the transportation of their goods, according to Zimmerman.

The scale was first used in the Duluth area, where the number of grain-hauling trucks increased more than 400 percent in a year and violations took a big jump. As a direct result of its use, a sharp decrease in violations was reported in that area.

Previously, members of the highway patrol used an older model portable scale, chiefly during the spring break-up period; but the new model, doing a more efficient job, will be used on routine basis by the Minnesota highway department.

Famed Aviator to Boost Yule Seals

Max Conrad to Appear in Minneapolis Monday

Max Conrad, Minnesota's famed aviator, will arrive at Wold Chamberlain airport, Minneapolis, Monday, November 14, at 11 a.m. for a brief stop-over on a 7,000-mile New York to Honolulu flight to call attention to the 54th annual Christmas seal campaign.

Flying a Piper Comanche single-engine plane, Conrad, the Christmas Seal Ambassador, will bring greetings and sheets of autographed Christmas seals from Steven Dohanos, noted artist and ex-TB patient, who is the 1960 national honorary Christmas seal chairman. Conrad was Minnesota's Christmas seal chairman last year. His plane bears the inscription: "Christmas Seals Fight TB." At his Minneapolis stop he will be presented a lei made of Christmas seals which he will deliver to the governor of Hawaii.

Present at the airport to greet Conrad will be H. P. Buetow, president, Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing, state Christmas seal chairman for 1960; Josiah G. Neal, managing director, Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health Association and executives and volunteer Christmas seal workers from Ramsey and Hennepin counties.

Business Not Hurt by Highway Bypass

University Reports on Study Made at Faribault

A new super-highway which by-passed the central business district, diverting 5,000 cars a day—two-thirds of the total—from Main Street did not hurt business as a whole in Faribault, Minnesota.

This is one of the findings of a study, the fourth in a series on the economics impact of highways in Minnesota, made by the University of Minnesota departments of agricultural economics and geography in cooperation with the Minnesota department of highways and the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads.

Author of the latest report is Dale Gustafson. James Schwinden is director of the study project. Both are research fellows in agricultural economics at the University.

Some of the conclusions of the report:

Gross sales for retail and service firms and for firms located both on and off the old route through the central business district increased each year before, during and after completion in September, 1955, of the new alternate route, Trunk Highway 65, on the western edge of the city.

Gross sales of firms assumed to be sensitive to through traffic—gasoline stations, bars, cafes, motels—did suffer a drop in 1957 but showed an increase in 1958. The firms that received a large percentage of their volume from through traffic were more severely damaged unless they adjusted and added other lines to increase their sales.

Drops in sales experienced by traffic-sensitive firms were offset by a rise in sales of retail, service and total firms. This increase was steady—not even a temporary drop was recorded. Therefore, except for a small number of firms, reduced daily traffic through Faribault's central business district did not hurt business as a whole.

It appears that the decrease by loss of through traffic was more than offset by relief of traffic congestion and improved shopping conditions which induced local people or attracted others to spend more. Another possibility is that the drop in gross sales in the central business district was balanced by an increase in sales for the firms near the new alternate route.

Hunters Urged to Aid in Pheasant, Grouse Surveys

Game authorities have completed distribution of some 5000 envelopes to be used in the collection of ruffed grouse wings and tails, and pheasant wings and feet.

Game wardens, game managers and biologists have each been given a supply of envelopes. They will be contacting grouse and pheasant hunters in the field and urging the hunters to cooperate in the statewide project.

Purpose of the collection is to provide officials with information on the age makeup up the bird population, reproductive success and period of peak nesting. Techniques have been developed whereby use of wing and tail feathers, and foot characteristics give investigators this information.

Vice-Chmn. State Heart Fund Named

Kelly Drey of Fergus Falls Is Appointed

Kelly I. Drey, North West National Life Insurance company agent at Fergus Falls, has been named State Heart Fund vice-chairman, representing four regions which embrace thirty-one central and northern Minnesota counties. The announcement was made by Harry G. Cummings, 1961 state Heart Fund chairman. The annual independent Heart Fund campaign will be conducted in February with a statewide goal of $530,000.00.

The Minnesota Association of Life Underwriters, of which Drey is a member, has for nine consecutive years endorsed the Heart Fund as their major service project providing top echelon leadership toward its support. Drey will represent the state chairman in the areas for which he is responsible.

Over 64% of funds raised last year went to research support, major concern of the Minnesota Heart Association. Contributions also allowed the association to expand its educational and community service programs, providing more literature, more films, more exhibits and speakers to more Minnesota citizens.

The Minnesota Heart Association, since its founding, has vigilantly safeguarded public funds. An active board of directors carefully directs the expenditures of the Heart Fund contributions into areas where the money will do the greatest good. A yearly audit and Annual Report is sent routinely to all state media and available to any interested person upon request. These sound procedures have enabled the Association to maintain the continuing confidence of Minnesotans. This trust is reflected yearly in their generous support to the Heart Drive, which has never failed to exceed its goal.

Calls for Return of Registration Cards by Hunters

U. S. waterfowl hunters who have received registration cards with the purchase of their federal duck stamps have been urged to cooperate with the Fish and Wildlife Service by filling out and promptly returning the indicated portion of the form.

This year more than 1400 post offices throughout the country have been furnished with double postcard forms which are handed to purchasers of duck stamps at these particular post offices.

One-half of the card is to be filled out by the hunter and returned at once to the Bureau. The other half is to retained as a "score card" on which the hunter can list the numbers and kinds of waterfowl which he bags during the season, and the number of days he hunted.

The chief purpose of the survey is to determine as accurately as possible the extent of the waterfowl kill for the season in order that a proper balance between the harvest of these birds and hunting regulations may continue to be maintained.

RRV Shows Building Drive to Be Resumed

The reactivation of the Red River Valley Winter Shows building fund campaign this fall in 15 Northwestern Minnesota counties was planned at a conference November 4, at the Northwest School and Experiment Station. The joint meeting of the board of managers and the area and county chairmen of the building fund campaign received reports indicating $150,000 has been pledged to the fund with about one-third of the effort complete. The goal of the campaign—is $450,000 which will build a new set of facilities for the famous mid-winter exposition at a new location near the experiment station.

Preliminary building plans were presented representing proposals by two firms. It was announced that November 8 has been set as the deadline for firms submitting preliminary proposals to the board. It is expected that construction on the new set of facilities will begin about May 1, 1961, provided the support is up to expectations.

In a separate session the board of managers adopted the recommendations of the Red River Valley Livestock association and will introduce a fat animal show for beef, hogs and sheep as part of the 1961 winter shows. It is anticipated that the number of entries the first year would be limited because of lack of space in the old set of buildings but with new facilities the show would be open to statewide and interstate competition. In other action the board voted to erect a sign on the proposed site of the new buildings which will indicate the progress of the campaign to travelers along Highways 2 and 75.

Board of managers director Stuart McLeod of Thief River Falls represents the Red River Valley Dairymen's association on the board.

Illegal Left Turns Scored by Patrol

Chief Leo M. Smith Gets Numerous Complaints

"Improper and illegal left turns received the greatest criticism by many drivers as endangering traffic," Leo M. Smith, chief of the Minnesota highway patrol said today.

A week ago the chief had asked Minnesotans to report serious accident-causing violations they observe. Since then motorists and pedestrians have noted various violations and called the patrol.

"A principal criticism is against the driver who jumps the light at a change and charges ahead of drivers approaching in opposite lanes, just to get around the corner first," Smith said.

"This dangerous maneuver is improper, discourteous, dangerous, and besides it is illegal. The highway traffic regulation act provides that the driver of a vehicle intending to turn to the left shall yield the right of way to any vehicle approaching from the opposite direction which is within the intersection or so close thereto as to constitute an immediate hazard.

"Too often the careless driver making the illegal turn is saved from serious injury only through the alertness of the other drivers. A squeal of brakes and the smoking of tires from a sudden stop are indications that someone else cared about being safe.

"When the person in the left lane suddenly slams on his brakes," the patrol chief said, "the driver on his right is too slow in his reaction and slams into the side of the turning vehicle. Let's all be safer, more courteous, in traffic. Yield the right of way to the proper vehicle at all times and thus help reduce the number of persons killed and injured in traffic."

FIT FOR THE AGE

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Luke	16	8
Monday	Psalms	22	1
Tuesday	Ecclesiastes	3	11-15
Wednesday	Ecclesiastes	9	1-3
Thursday	Revelation	22	13-14
Friday	Hebrews	8	13-14
Saturday	Luke	9	62

It's hard for grownups to grasp what it means to be a child today!

We grew up yesterday. The planes and radios which had startled our parents were commonplace to us. Television and jets we could take in stride. But Space! Who among us expected to live in a Buck Rogers era?

Yet to our youngsters nothing seems more natural than man's invasion of the universe. Everything that went before was preparation. We are ready to blast off. And the man who will establish our first colony on Mars is probably training for his mission in a sixth grade classroom . . .

Was there ever a time when religious, moral and spiritual development were more essential to our youth? The Truth man will cherish on Earth, and carry with him among the stars, is being taught every Sunday in our churches. Is your child . . . and the home in which he is growing up . . . FIT FOR THE AGE?

20 Creamery Boards Share In TRF Parley

L.O'L. Creameries Sponsor Meeting On Directors Duties

Twenty creameries operating in Land O'Lakes districts 14 and 17 were represented at a meeting of creamery board directors at the Eagles Hall Friday. The meeting was sponsored by Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., for the purpose of discussing the responsibilities of directors in the management of cooperative creameries.

Principal speakers were Dr. Douglas C. Basil of the school of business, and Ralph Wayne, extension dairyman specialist, of the University of Minnesota. This was the first of a series of such meetings to be held.

Speaking of the functions of board members as the general managers of creameries, Dr. Basil stressed five fields of responsibility. Board members are representative of the membership; the authority of management is delegated by them; they decide questions of policy, establish the objectives of the operation and evaluate the results. Under their direction the general manager is completely responsible for the operation of the creamery, is accountable to the directors, and should provide leadership in planning.

Ralph Wayne urged creamery directors to encourage better dairying practices, stressing the importance of testing as a means of increasing herd production. The average production per cow in Minnesota is now 267 pounds of fat, he stated. A cow that produces 400 pounds of fat is three times as profitable as the average cow. A herd of ten cows with a 400 pound average bring just as great a return as an average herd of 30 cows, he pointed out.

All dairymen should keep some kind of a production record, he stated. Programs are available for as litle as 25 cents plus a milk scale to keep a record for an entire year. He estimated that 90 per cent of Minnesota's dairymen have only a vague idea of what individual cows are producing for them.

Gordon Sprague, Land O'Lakes economist, and Carl Mattson, membership supervisor, participated in the discussions. Marian Augustine, director of District 17, presided.

Governor-elect E.L. Andersen Makes 1st Two Appointments

Governor-elect Elmer L. Andersen Friday named the two men who probably will be closest to him in the conduct of Minnesota state government.

One of them, William E. Stevenson, 45, is a career state employe who moves up from assistant commissioner of administration to head the most important operating department in the capitol: administration.

He will succeed Arthur Naftalin, who offered to resign so that a commissioner of Andersen's choosing could take his place.

The other is Thomas H. Swain, 39, who will be executive secretary to the Republican chief executive.

The administration commissioner-designate has been assistant to Naftalin since 1955. He has been a civil service employe of the state since 1940, with exception of two years with the state of Oregon from 1951 to 1953. His new salary will be $15,000 a year.

Swain, who lives in St. Paul, will succeed Thomas R. Hughes, who has been secretary, personal right-hand man and political adviser to Freeman for six years. The secretary's pay is $10,000.

Swain quit his job as executive director of the Minnesota Information Insurance center several months ago to head the Andersen campaign volunteers.

A former University of Minnesota athletic ticket manager and convention bureau manager for the St. Paul Chamber of Commerce, he served as executive director of the Statehood Centennial commission from 1956 to 1959, during which time he came to Thief River Falls on several occasions.

Andersen said his first major chore will be to sit in on budget hearings with department heads. He is required by law to present a biennial budget to the 1961 legislature soon after he is inaugurated Jan. 4.

The Library Corner

By Eleanor Olson

It's just the friendliest shoe! That's how someone described the shoe that's being used in the children's poetry display at the library during Book Week. It is, of course, the home of the old woman who had so many children that she didn't know what to do. The display is loosely grouped under the title of Mother Goose land.

I doubt if either Eugene Field or Gelett Burgess would mind having their poems referred to in this way. The "friendly" shoe sprouts happy little cherubs at every seam and crevice as well as small squirrels, birds and spiraling smoke from the chimney pot. Near the shoe is a small purple cow who looks so benign that she might well be able to charm adult and child alike into wanting "to be one." And further down the line Eugene Field's Sugar Plum Tree fairly drips with miniature fruits and candies.

Children's eyes take on a sparkle when they see these illustrations; for them Mother Goose comes alive. The only unfortunate thing is that the displays had to be put on the set of shelves near the window which are above eye level for the small children. They are unable to examine the details as closely as they would like.

One little boy just couldn't resist temptation when he saw a little face peering out of a window of a real pumpkin. Throwing caution and good behavior to the wind, he dragged a chair to the shelves and climbed up as fast as he could before anyone could say no-no. He didn't touch a thing but he didn't climb down until he had absorbed every detail of Peter Peter Pumpkin Eater's house.

Book week is a happy occasion for children at the library, but maybe it should also be a time for adults to review their reading habits. It's so easy to say, "I used to read, but I don't any more. I just don't have time.

Reading for just 15 minutes a day adds up to two books a month, a thousand books in an average lifetime. That could make you a real authority on any subject you were interested in and enjoyed. That fifteen minutes can be found when you are having your morning coffee, while dinner finishes cooking or just before you turn the lights off to go to sleep at night.

After going at a breakneck pace all day going to bed with a book is truly relaxing; the kinks in mind and muscle put there by the day's activity ease away quite painlessly. (You know by now that I am addicted to reading in bed.)

Whether I've convinced you or not of the joys of reading, do take your children to see the displays at the library. They will love them. Take a look, too, at the windows in the banks and First Federal Savings and Loan. They give you and your children winter reading ideas.

Prowler Cagers Start Practice

Six lettermen were included in the group of forty candidates that reported to coach John (Jack) Junker for the opening session of the Prowler basketball practice this afternoon in the Lincoln high school gymnasium.

The Prowlers, the defending district 31 and Region Eight champions, will open play on their 1960-61 schedule on Friday, Dec. 2, when they meet the Bagley Flyers on the local court.

Coach Junker, in his first season here after taking over from coach Hartley Story, who is now cage mentor at Osseo, will have veterans Ron Hanson, Don Ulferts, Gary Anderson, Eddie Lietzow, Elton Hornseth, and Harvey Ebbighausen as a nucleus for this season's Prowler club.

Lost to the squad through graduation were Steve Embury, Bob Pearson, Ron Solheim, Darrel Nelson, and Dave Hauswirth. And junior guard Wayne Bjerken, a letter winner last year, has been declared ineligible.

Following a week or ten days of drills it is expected that coach Junker and his assistant Joe Mrkonich will pare the varsity squad down to about 15 players.

29 LHS Boys Win Football Letters

Ten Senior Players Are Included in Group

Larry Douglas Johnson, St. Hilaire, was travelling south on the airport road at the city limits when his car skidded on the ice Sunday morning at about 3 o'clock, and knocked down three mail boxes and a road sign.

No injury was reported but there was about $75 damage to the front bumper and the left rear fender.

Making the Circuit

We spent the weekend making a tour of the deer hunting range in this area, visiting at the various camps and making note of the success that was being had. It appears that there wasn't as much hunting pressure being exerted this season as in years past. And, too, there seems to be an increase in the "pasture" available to the deer, due perhaps to the large number of acres that have been put into the soil bank.

We travelled through the Mud Lake refuge, moved out along ditch 20 to Thorhult, then up through Fourtown to the Malcolm corner, then east to the Red Lake Game refuge, and up along the Rapid river. North into the Beltrami Island refuge, to Norris Camp, west through the Winner ridge, south to Skime and the Randen ridge, and then to highway 89 to the six-mile corner, and to Goodridge and back to town. That's a tour that encloses a tremendous area of deer browse, and the herd in there must be considerable.

While the hunters weren't having what could be called a "banner" season, there were deer hanging on the meat poles of most of the camps. John Augustine, the oldest hunter in the 14-man Skomedal - Rupprecht camp, got the first deer in that party and collected the prize money pool. We were told that Len Furuseth, also a member of that camp, took eight shots at a doe at a distance of fifty yards. And so sure was Len that he was on target that he walked over to push the critter over. And what do you, the deer ran away!

The Mud Lake refuge provided considerable action on Saturday morning, and some frantic shooting. Clarence (Zip) Mattson hunted in the refuge on Saturday morning, and ran a number of shells through his 30-30. He knocked down a big buck, and while he was following the blood trail in an attempt to get in a killing shot, he came upon three deer, and succeeded in bagging a doe. A couple of hunters came along as Clarence was dressing out his deer, and he put these boys on the blood trail of the buck. In just a short while they were able to finish off the wounded deer. Clarence had lots of excitement and shooting on Saturday morning.

A Great One

The current issue of Sports Illustrated, the weekly magazine that covers sports activities on a national scale, has an item, and a photo, of Baudette high school's Jack Nielson.

Nielson, an all-around athlete for the Baudette Bears, gained recognition for his feat this fall in scoring seven touchdowns against the Karlstad Rabbits. Nielson, who carried the ball eight times, scored touchdowns on runs of 64, 72, 68, 55, 42, 60, and 54 yards. That's a newsworthy performance even though the Rabbits were not rated very highly in football.

It is not surprising either that Nielson should break away for these long gainers, for the 180-pound Baudette athlete, a senior this season, is the Region Eight 100-yard and 220-yard dash champion. In addition to his activities in football and track, Jack is a top-flight performer for the Baudette hockey and baseball teams. In hockey, Nielson is a high-scoring wing; and in baseball he is a sturdy and hard-hitting catcher. Nielson has been a varsity performer in hockey since his days as an eighth grader.

Jack comes by his athletic ability naturally, for his dad, Dick, was a first rate athlete. Dick, who was a contemporary of Bill Zippel, who played hockey here with the Thieves following World War II, had tremendous potential as a baseball player.

Local hockey fans will have an opportunity to see young Jack Nielson in action here on Saturday, Jan. 21, when the Baudette Bears invade the Arena rink for a game against the Prowlers.

A Heartbreaker

That 23 to 14 defeat that the Minnesota Gophers received from Purdue on Saturday afternoon was a heartbreaker for the team, the coaching staff and the fans.

Taking nothing away from the performance of Purdue, it must be agreed that Minnesota experienced a let-down from the emotional peak that they reached in their winning effort against Iowa the week previous. If the sequence of the games had been reversed, with Minnesota meeting Purdue before they met the Iowa club, the Gophers would probably have won both games.

Big Ten football is the nation's best, and the most unpredictable.

WILDLIFE in Minnesota

by JIM KIMBALL
DIRECTOR OF GAME & FISH

The name of it is "The Big Four." It is the first of a series of 16-millimeter sound color movies to be known as the "Outdoor Heritage Series." The movie critics have not determined how many stars "The Big Four" will rate, but one thing is sure—this movie is like none you ever saw before.

It is a picture for people who not only love the out-of-doors but who want to learn more about the birds and animals that live there and how they live there. Yet it is not really a story about individual animals, but about animal population and how and why these animal populations change. It is like the study of society rather than individuals. Biologists call it "population dynamics" and progress in the conservation and wise use of our great wildlife resource depends upon a better understanding of population dynamics. Why can we shoot nearly a third of our total deer population each year and still have as many deer next year but annihilate the herd if we were to shoot 50 per cent? Why have foxes continued to increase over the past ten years in the face of bounty payments for killing them? It is true that even though we may kill one-third to one-half of all the ducks on the North American continent each year, this, in the long run, may be far less serious than destruction of their breeding grounds through drainage? Can we shoot eighty or ninety per cent of our cock pheasants each year without reducing the number of pheasants produced next year? If we count all the young foxes that are born, foxes increase at the rate of 250 per cent a year and rabbits at 900 per cent. Why don't these animals over-populate the earth?

"The Big Four" movie does not try to answer these questions directly. It does explain four basic biological principles which makes it possible for anyone to draw some pretty sound conclusions of his own. In fact, it opens an entirely new avenue of conservation thinking for most people.

The picture should interest sportsmen though it has no scenes of catching big fish or shooting limits of ducks. It is aimed primarily at youth and all who are capable of youthful thinking. The acting is done by professionals and the script was written by Herb Krause, a well-known writer. It was privilege to serve as an advisor along with Charles Bell, Dr. W. J. Breckenridge, Al Hochbaum, Dr. John Tester, Dr. Wm. H. Marshall, and other professional conservationists.

An amusing thing happened when one scene was shot of an actor playing the part of a wildlife biologist. To make it real, the scene was actually taken at a sportsmen's meeting. He played his part so well that following the scene the sportsmen showered him with questions which a professional wildlifer should be able to answer. You never saw a more bewildered actor.

Copies of "The Big Four" are just now being released. They will be available in the film library of our conservation department and for rent from the Audio-Visual Extension Film Library, University of Minnesota.

This should be an ideal conservation film for schools and for showing to young people taking the course in firearms safety training. Schools, sportsmen groups or others considering possible purchase can borrow a free copy for preview from the Audio-Visual Education service, University of Minnesota.

State School Board Group Favors Stiffer High School Courses

Tougher study programs are ahead for Minnesota's high school pupils, the state board of education indicated Thursday in St. Paul.

The board accepted a report on a survey of school superintendents which will serve as a statement of policy and possibly as a guide for legislative action.

The report, based on replies to questionnaires by almost 400 school superintendents, calls for:

Stiffer requirements for high school graduation.

Longer school days or more intensive use of the time.

Possibly a longer school year.

The report was given to the board by T. C. Engum, chief of the section of elementary and secondary education of the education department.

Out of 451 questionnaires sent to superintendents, 382 were returned. They indicated a trend toward stronger high school courses than the state's present minimum requirements.

The state board requires four courses in each of the 10th, 11th and 12th grades to qualify for graduation.

The report shows 175 schools already require more than the minimum and 198 adhere to the minimum. Nine superintendents did not report on this phase.

In 330 schools, pupils are permitted to carry extra courses but are not required to.

Sixty-two per cent of the superintendents said they were in favor of increasing the credits necessary for graduation.

Some schools are now offering two kinds of diplomas: one in which the pupils has met the minimum requirements and a "super" diploma for those passing extra courses.

Board members indicated they favor a uniform "8-hour day," probably from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The survey disclosed some schools start as early as 7:45 a.m. and run as late as 9 a.m. The average is 8:30 a.m.

Most common dismissal time is 3:45 p.m.

The report indicated that changes in starting and closing times may pose many problems in transportation, because some high school buses also carry elementary pupils that have shorter schedules.

To increase the time devoted to studies, 147 out of 382 schools are staggering classes and using the lunch periods. Fifty-six school districts allow only a half hour for lunch.

In 302 schools, superintendents have established 55-minute instruction periods, five minutes more than required by the state board.

The board discussed the possibility of a longer school year, now 170 days in 36 weeks. The members suggested 175 days in the same 36-week period.

However, in doing so, the board will run into trouble with an increased demand for state aid, it was pointed out.

Summer school, which is becoming increasingly "popular," according to the report, may be the answer to the desire for an extended school term.

Eighty school districts now offer summer school classes for pupils wanting to make up work and for the better students who want more education.

Former St. Hilaire School Heads' Son Is Congressman

Clark MacGregor of Plymouth, Minneapolis suburb, who last Tuesday was elected Congress from the Third district, defeating DFL Rep. Roy Wier, who had held the office 12 years, is the son of a former superintendent of schools at St. Hilaire.

Mrs. Oscar Gunstad, long-time resident of the village, recalls that the father, Wm. E. MacGregor, had served there in 1908-9.

Clark MacGregor, who was making his first race for public office, is a graduate of Washburn high school in Minneapolis, Dartmouth college and the University of Minnesota law school. He is a veteran of World War II.

Medical Assn. Urges Diabetes Detection

Life can be normal for most of the 2,750,000 Americans who have diabetes.

The Minnesota State Medical Association points out that diabetes, when properly treated, has been compared to a lion safely caged, the danger made harmless. When the bars of the cage are let down, trouble is inevitable.

Proper training and strict observance of meal planning, along with the use of insulin, can mean the difference between chronic illness and good health.

When the pancreas fails to secrete enough insulin to transform fats, starches and sugars into muscle energy and healthy cell tissue, supplementary amounts of this hormone are required.

When a person develops diabetes, the sugars, starches and fats form a glucose which remains in the blood stream.

Because the kidneys must work overtime in an attempt to remove the excess amounts of glucose and liquid through the urine, uncontrolled diabetics frequently complain of heavy thirst and frequent urination.

Failure to recognize the early symptoms of diabetes is a major cause for its neglect. Frequently the symptoms are so mild that they are mistaken for ordinary fatigue or a run-down feeling. As the disease progresses, the kidneys become overworked, the patient begins to lose weight, while experiencing a feeling of constant hunger and thirst.

If proper treatment is not begun the patient may eventually suffer from malnutrition. This, in turn, could contribute to boils, eye disorders or hardening of the arteries.

Often when diabetes is diagnosed in its early stages, the disease can be controlled by diet only.

Diabetes detection tests are recommended by the Minnesota Medical Association to alert, not to alarm. All persons are urged to protect their health by taking these simple periodic diabetes examinations.

Retail Trade Assn. Elects Officers

Harry W. Kane Elected to Head State Council

The Minnesota Council of Retail Trade Associations, which characterizes itself as being the representative of the main streets of Minnesota because its members represent 34,000 retailers throughout the state, recently held its annual election.

The officers for the coming year are: President, Harry W. Kane, manager of the Minnesota Electrical association, which represents the independent electrical contractors and dealers in the rural Minnesota areas; vice president, Robert T. Thornburg, Minnesota Petroleum Council; Secretary, Edwin J. Chapple, Food Retailers association.

The purpose of this organization over the many years of its existence has been the promotion and protection of retail trade, state-wide. It has helped to implement fair trade practices and has devoted considerable time, effort, and information to the interest of the consumer, who is the customer of association members.

Plans are under way for further intensive effort along these lines, which will encompass protection to the retailer and the consumer from unscrupulous advertising and fraud, plus an effort to improve the general value that the consumer will get for the money he spends for merchandise. It is a belief of the council that its efforts along these lines to prevent these and other prevalent frauds, will save the consumer even a greater amount of money in the years ahead than in the past.

Boat Show Slated for Minneapolis

Charles C. Waller, New York advertising executive and one of the nation's leading authorities on the boat and marine industry, will discuss ways that boat dealers can further serve their community when he addresses members of the North Central Marine association at their annual convention Thursday, December 1, at the Minneapolis Auditorium.

The NCMA meeting will be held in conjunction with the third Northwest Boat and Marine Trade Show at the auditorium, scheduled for November 30 thru December 4.

Because the boating field is growing so rapidly and attracting so many new people, the need for general information on this subject is also growing by leaps and bounds, Waller said. This situation, he added, offers dealers a valuable opportunity to provide proper answers and information and generally to become community experts on boating and marine affairs.

The show will be open to the public Friday evening, Dec. 2, and Saturday afternoon and evening and Sunday afternoon, thereafter.

Local Student in UND Choral Union

Fifty-five University of North Dakota students are members of the University Choral Union, according to Director Robert Van Voorhis, instructor of music at UND. The Choral Union is open to everyone that enjoys singing, Van Voorhis said, including those not enrolled in the University. To form the sizeable group necessary to perform many of its selections, the group combines with area residents. Student members include Elaine Rodahl of TRF and Arleen Prosser of Middle River.

"We should never attempt to bear more than one kind of trouble at once. Some people bear three kinds—all they have had, all they have now, and all they ever expect to have."
—Edward Everett Hale

We Like It That Way

We are pleased with the results of the election. Some of the candidates we voted for won. In picking winners our batting average has never been good.

We voted for Nixon, but in view of the fact that the result was close we are satisfied with Kennedy as the winner. We were not enthusiastic about the prospect of Republican Nixon as president, dealing with a Democrat Congress. The result could have been bad.

With practically a tie vote we believe Kennedy is the best choice. The tie vote should make it easier for his feet to reach the ground. His election by so narrow a margin could not be construed as a mandate for extremes of any kind. And the slight trend toward a more conservative Congress should serve as a healthy influence in guiding the deliberations of the doubtfuls.

The increased popularity of Odin Langen as our Ninth District Congressman is encouraging. We have been favorably impressed with his record and we are sure that if we can keep him there long enough he will develop into a respected and influential member of Congress.

Governor Freeman's defeat did not come as a surprise, the polls having indicated that as a likely result. The election of Elmer Andersen as his successor will give to the Republicans control of the extensive business of government that is managed by department heads and various state agencies. This control will come gradually, however, the present officials having been appointed generally for specific terms of service and will continue to serve until that term expires. Few state employees are affected by the change, practically all of them being under civil service.

And so another election has come and gone. We like the results because neither side can claim a sweeping victory. Both sides won and both sides lost. We like it that way.

Which Mr. Kennedy?

We know that Senator John Kennedy will be the next president of our country. As yet we are not sure which John Kennedy this is going to be.

There is the conservative John Kennedy who is pledged to a sound economy and a stable dollar. To accomplish this will require a few painful adjustments. He has indicated that the next four years will not be easy. He tells us that it is going to be necessary to make some sacrifices.

This, we believe, is true, and if President John Kennedy will lead us thru the difficult years that lie ahead in a sincere effort to keep our country strong and competitive in a free world, we are sure the American people will respond with whatever sacrifices may be necessary.

Then there is the liberal John Kennedy who has promised to lead us down the easy road outlined in the Democratic party platform. This is the road that winds through the pleasant valley of Greater Giveaways, where all of us will enjoy the tempting pleasures of bigger paychecks for less work and more liberal grants of federal aid for the easing of all public and private needs. This is the road that leads to deficit spending, more public debt, a ten-cent dollar, increased unemployment and eventual poverty. The end of the road is an era of great suffering and a painful recovery, but the journey to that destination is very pleasant. Until we reach the end of the road we are sure this President Kennedy will be a very popular leader.

We are hopeful it will be the conservative John Kennedy who will emerge as the leader of our country. It is for him to choose whether we go the easy way or the hard way. He has indicated that he is aware of the fact that the hard way is the right way.

We sincerely hope that he has the courage to make the right decision.

Which Mr. Andersen?

We know that State Senator Elmer L. Andersen will be the next governor of the state of Minnesota. As yet we are not sure which Elmer Andersen this going to be.

There is the conservative Elmer L. Anddersen, a man who is well grounded in the economics of government, a successful business man who knows what it means to meet a payroll and keep costs in balance with income, a man who, by his own efforts has advanced to the head of a manufacturing firm that serves a national market.

This Mr. Andersen is well educated, well informed and is experienced in government, having served in the legislature during the years of the Freeman administration. During his campaign for the governorship he has pointed up the basic weaknesses of the Freeman administration. He did this effectively, knowing whereof he spoke. He has pointed out the fact that the state is in serious difficulties financially and that drastic steps must be taken to restore a sound balance between costs and income.

As we see it, this is the Mr. Andersen a majority of the people voted for in electing him Governor of the State of Minnesota. The objective to which he is pledged will not be easy of accomplishment. Sacrifices will be necessary. Not all necessary decisions will be popular, but we are sure the people will go along with whatever sacrifices may be clearly necessary.

But there is the liberal Elmer Andersen too, the Elmer Andersen who has never been a leader of the opposition to the spenders, who are responsible for the state's present financial difficulties. As a member of the legislature Mr. Andersen has not had the reputation of being an opponent of deficit spending, and the so-called conservative members of the legislature must share with Governor Freeman and the liberals in the responsibility for the state's present financial mess. A few conservatives tried to hold the line, as did a few members who classified as liberals. But Mr. Andersen was not one of them.

And so we wonder which Mr. Andersen is going to be our next governor, hoping, of course, that it will be the Mr. Andersen who campaigned so effectively against Governor Freeman and who will dedicate himself to providing the good management of the enormous business of state government that we are sure he is capable of.

That will require some difficult decisions, difficult mainly because they will not meet with the approval of pressure groups. To be a good governor, the next governor of Minnesota will have to say "no" many more times than he will say "yes".

In the best interests of all of the people of the state Minnesota we hope that the Mr. Andersen who will be our next governor will not be the Mr. Andersen of the State Senate but the conservative Mr. Andersen who pointed out so effectively in the campaign the shortcomings of the too-liberal-with-our-dollars Governor Orville Freeman. We hope he will be the kind of a governor he thinks Orville Freeman should have been.

We believe Mr. Andersen has the capacity and the qualifications to become a great governor. He has a background of experience in business administration that should enable him to give the state strong leadership in restoring sound management practices to the business of government.

Campaign Too Long?

. . Now that the national political campaign is out and over, we can spend our spare time arguing about whether it was conducted properly and whether or not the numerous speeches of the leading candidates served any good purpose. Were the debates important? Have any really important issues been resolved?

We are sure most Americans, and probably many foreigners, were glad when it ended. It was becoming monotonous. But maybe that is as it should be. Better perhaps that a campaign be too long than too short. We like the following observations and conclusions by the Wall Street Journal:

"There is truth in the charge that the campaign is unhumanely long. For months, both Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Nixon talked, traveled and politicked almost continuously, when most of what they had to say might have been said in a brisk few weeks. Critics alleged that most voters made up their minds early and merely had their choice confirmed. Others argued that fatigue and desperation could lead a candidate way out on a shaky limb. And what, it was asked, must our allies think when we row so bitterly over what had seemed settled policy?

"While there is something to be said for brevity. After a campaign such as we have just seen, another pair of men might have been briefer or used the many months to beter advantage. So, even if Mr. Nixon and Mr. Kennedy did not often speak to the real issues and instead debated such irrelevancies as Quemoy and 'prestige', their record is not the last word on how long a campaign should be.

"Nor are we persuaded that the long campaign really disserves U. S. interests abroad by giving the appearance of disunity. Americans are, in fact, sharply divided on many questions, including foreign policy. Better that the differences be aired and understood than that they explode under the rug later.

"Complaints about a campaign's length actually come down to complaints about the workings of a free society. The Russians could run off a campaign in a week, or even a day, very efficiently and very meaninglessly. Democracy takes longer, and if a particular pair of candidates want to subject the country to a long campaign, it's small cause for grumbling."

"Heavens!" replied the Englishman, looking startled. "Ours I hope!"

REPORT from the GOVERNOR

Orville L. Freeman

In this final "Report to the People" of our state, Mrs. Freeman joins me in expressing our deepest thanks to the people of Minnesota for the privilege of serving you for the past six years.

Minnesotans of all political persuasions have been kind and thoughtful to us in countless ways. This kindness has helped immeasurably to ease the burden we have carried in seeking to meet the challenge of these changing times.

Minnesota's Future

The people of Minnesota have launched programs that will lead to a great future. We must stay in the vanguard of progress toward greater opportunity for our young and our old, toward greater economic growth, toward higher standards on our farms, in our towns, and in our cities.

Minnesota's progress is tied to that of 49 other states, as the United States of America faces the challenge of the new frontiers. In the decade of the 1960's the pattern we set for progress will determine our future.

Administrations Change

New administrations will take over, in Washington as well as in St. Paul, in January 1961. This is a part of our democracy. Transitions will be made, peacefully and cooperatively, as is characteristic of politically mature people under a democratic form of government.

I sincerely urge all of the thousands of Minnesota citizens who have worked with me so ably and effectively to improve our programs in the many areas in which state government is involved, to continue to work for those programs, and to that end to cooperate with the incoming governor and his new administration.

Mrs. Freeman and I will continue to fight in the ceaseless struggle for a better life for all the people.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q—Is it possible for a young man or woman to take a regular high school education under the War Orphans school program?

A—No. The law prohibits regular high school studies under the program. Many below-college-level courses may be taken, but the course must be one which offers specialized vocational training which will equip the student for a vocational goal.

Q—I am the widow of a World War II veteran, and up to now have not been eligible for a pension because my husband's death was not service-connected. I understand the new pension law has changed that, and that I may now be eligible. Is this correct?

A—Yes. Widows of World War II and Korea veterans may now be eligible if their husbands had 90 days or more of active service, part of it during wartime, and were discharged under other than dishonorable conditions. The widows' incomes, of course, must not exceed legal limits for pension eligibility.

Q—I have just reinstated my government insurance and don't want it to lapse again. How can I use my dividends to keep my insurance from lapsing?

A—Before your next dividend is due, ask VA to hold it for you as a credit. Once this dividend credit is earned, VA can use it to keep your insurance in force. VA does this by withdrawing a monthly premium from your dividend credit whenever the premium due is not paid by the end of the 31-day grace period.

Q—I am at school under the Korean GI Bill and don't feel I am making satisfactory progress with the course I am taking. Can I change it?

A—Yes, that is possible, provided of course that the lack of progress is not due to your own misconduct, neglect or lack of application, and if you have not already had a change of course up to now.

Our LAND

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

"I've followed a 5-year rotation of corn - corn - grain-hay-pasture since I started farming and I like it well," says Wayne Suhr, Mantorville. Suhr took over his father's farm, which was planned and laid out in 1948 with the help of Nels Snustad, SCS conservationist. This year Suhr has dug a pit for watering livestock, set up a wildlife area and built a tile outlet. He is also installing 1,300 rods of tile drains in the wet draws so he can get into his fields early in the spring and gain top production from all of his land. Al Fischer, present Dodge county conservationist, says Suhr's 5-year rotation controls the erosion on Suhr's gently sloping fields and maintains the tilth and organic matter in the soil.

Arnold Putzier uses a chisel tooth cultivator to prepare a seed bed for corn in alfalfa sod. Putzier, who farms in Winona county near St. Charles, believes his cultivator saves water and soil when used on the contour. "Usually," he says, "I go over the ground twice, going around the contour of the hill the second time. Then comes a disking operation. This way I have a heavy mulch on top of the ground when I plant corn. Two cultivations are all that is necessary. My corn looks as good as if the land was prepared by the conventional method.

Kenneth Huwe attributes his increased oat yields in part to the field terraces he installed on his Becker county farm two years ago. His oats on the forward fields went to 100 bushels per acre this year. The terraces have reduced the water runoff, allowing some of the much needed rainfall to percolate into the medium-textured soils. Some of this moisture was held in reserve during a month long dry spell this past season. Huwe prepared his soil and water conservation plan with the help of John Vogel, SCS technician for the Becker county soil and water conservation district.

Because he wanted a recreational area for his family, Kenneth Christianson, Barnesville, planted 15 acres of cropland to wildlife area. In June, a four-row border tree belt of 8,000 trees and shrubs was planted around the tract. Inside the treebelt the land, which borders a drainageway, was seeded to alfalfa, bromus and sweet clover to furnish wildlife food and nesting cover. To provide a pond for fish and waterfowl a 12-foot deep pit was dug on the side adjoining the drainageway. Christianson says of his pet project: "I have always wanted recreational opportunities right close to home, so I decided to go ahead with my idea even though land valued at $100 to $150 per acre had to be used." The Clay county ASC program provided technical assistance and shared the cost of the various soil conservation practices.

YOU MAY WORRY about waistline, as I do, but nutrition people say that rarely does anybody think to count the kids' calories. The result—an alarming rise in chubby children, with evidence piling up that today's fat youngster is almost certain to become tomorrow's dangerously obese adult. . . . Speaking of juveniles, a visitor asked a bright-eyed little boy, "Willie, how do you like school?" Replied Willie, "Closed."

LAST WEEK'S MAIL contained a delight—the new catalog of the Southern Music Publishing Co., and among the more intriguing songs we'll soon be hearing are these: "Mother Fletcher's Instant Cha Cha," "On My Floating Kidney (I'm Coming Back to You)," "Tiss Me (Or Ya Dotta Dit Out)," "They Locked God Outside the Iron Curtain," "When Grandma Got Her Teeth in Upside Down," and "When the Ice Worms Nest Again." Wonder whatever happened to those good old-fashioned songs like "Flatfoot Floogie with the Floy Floy"?

THEY'RE TALKING about semi-taconite in our Minnesota North Country. Semi-taconite is not magnetic like the taconite they're processing in those big plants at Silver Bay and Hoyt Lakes. Special legislation, passed last year, has made it possible for two mining companies to set up pilot plants to find a practical way of recovering iron ore from semi-taconite. There's a lot of research yet to be done, I'm told, but if they do find an economical process, semi-taconite could be the basis for an industry similar to that which processes taconite.

A COOK TOLD ME that if you start the sausage cooking in a cold pan you'll get less grease. Maybe in the pan, perhaps—but what about you? . . . Since he installed several grassed waterways with the help of conservation technicians, Alfred Studenski, Sauk Rapids, finds he can mow and harvest the grass on the waterways with the amount of gas he formerly used to pull his machinery around the washouts. Studenski says since he applied manure and commercial fertilizer to the waterways they produce a greater tonnage per acre than any other piece of ground on the farm. He has been a cooperator with the Benton County Soil Conservation District since February, 1959, and has had a basic conservation plan since August, 1960.

The first complete soil survey in Waseca County was recently completed by Joe Cummins, soil conservation specialist. Cummins was assisted by soil specialists "Woody" Anderson, Harold Anreman and Lacy Harmon, who helped in the final classification of the soils groups. Soils maps and publications of the survey will be available for distribution in about 1½ to 2 years.

A Cooperative venure for wind erosion control was started this year by neighboring farmers near Grove City who cooperate with the Meeker county soil and water conservation district. Lyle Schoneman, a district supervisor, and Chester and Orville Hendrickson established a three-row field windbreak between the two farms. A row of cottonwoods was planted on the boundary line and a row of Harbin (Dropmore) elms was planted on each farm. "With good follow-up cultivation this planting is off to a flying start," says Einar Henrikson, SCS work unit conservationist. "It should prove to be a very effective field windbreak in the near future."

Julius Milbrandt, 1960 Wadena county conservation winner, is sold on field diversions. "Last June," he relates, "we had about 2 inches of rain in an hour. The diversions on the contour-plowed land walked the water over to the waterway and down the 6 percent slope without any erosion." Milbrandt believes he would have had 6 inches of silt along the lower fenceline with up-and-down-the-hill farming.

Church Institute to Open at 'U' M. Nov. 29

"Inspiration and Information" will be combined in the Minnesota Institute for Town and Country Churches, scheduled for the St. Paul campus of the University of Minnesota November 29 through December 1.

The program for the institute was planned by many religious denominations and organizations with the University responding to the expressed needs of the groups by providing facilities, organization and personnel, according to J. O. Christianson, director of Agricultural short courses.

The institute is open to representatives of all church groups and anyone else interested. Registration should be made in advance. Dormitory rooms will be available on the St. Paul campus. All arrangements should be made through the Short Course office, Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul 1.

Discussions will center on problems of the rural community and family life today, with leaders on the national as well as state and local levels, participating.

Two of the speakers will come from Washington, D.C. They are Phillip Aylsworth, who is engaged in program relationships work with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Federal Extension Service; and John M. Brewster, an agricultural economist, who is head of Farm Size and Resource Requirements Investigations, Marketing Service, USDA.

Aylsworth will speak on "Keeping Abreast with Change." Brewster will discuss "Values in Rural Living."

Other speakers will discuss the rural community from the standpoint of solutions to its problems, guidance to better family living and development of industry. The rural family will be discussed in terms of values, social network, economic pressures, decision making and career exploration.

Sessions will be in the form of both panels discussions and talks by individuals.

Other participants in the program will include:

Duck Migration Is Ended for '60

Ducks Unlimited Reports Waterfowl out of Canada

Waterfowl migration out of western Canada is almost complete for 1960, it was announced Thursday at the Winnipeg office of Ducks Unlimited. Southward movement of waterfowl has been leisurely and rather difficult to evaluate. Exception was a relatively heavy southerly movement October 19-20. Bulk of the stragglers are in southern Alberta, but these are expected to move out as temperatures drop.

Reports from Alberta indicate that heavy concentrations of Lesser Snow and Canada geese in the Hanna district pulled out October 13, only to be replaced five days later by more of the same species from the north. These replacements have also departed. Ducks were plentiful on all water bodies until the end of October.

Saskatchewan reports a definite movement out of southern areas October 28, but estimated peak movement throughout the province took place between November 1 and November 5. A Canadian Wildlife Service aerial survey report dated November 4 indicated "a reduction of about 75 percent on the population from the previous week.'

Manitoba migration was definitely unspectacular with a steady southward movement all fall going largely unnoticed. The only evidence was gradual disappearance of the early-migrating species.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Q—I am a Korea veteran, insured under VA's new-type, low-cost term insurance, which cannot be renewed after my 50th birthday. Does this also mean age 50 is my deadline for converting my term insurance to one of VA's permanent plans?

A—Not necessarily. You cannot renew your term policy after age 50. However, if you renew in the five year period which includes your 50th birthday you can convert during that time. As an example, if you renewed for five years at age 48, you could convert to a permanent plan any time up to age 53.

Q—VA is not currently sending me my monthly GI insurance premium-due notices because I have an application for the disability rider pending. Until I get back to paying by the premium-due cards, what kind of information should I send VA when I pay my premiums?

A—Give your name in full, and the number of your policy. Include also the letter or letters before the policy number. Depending on whether you are a World War One, World War Two or Korea veteran, the letter prefix will be V, K, RH or RS. Give both the number and letter prefix. This will speed crediting your account with your payment.

Q—Is it possible to attend school less than half-time under the War Orphans Education program?

A—No. War Orphans payments may not be made to a student attending school less than half-time.

Q—Is every disabled Korea veteran entitled to special vocational rehabilitation training?

A—No. This training is available only to disabled veterans who need it to overcome the handicap of their service-connected disabilities. However, those who don't need vocation rehabilitation training may be eligible for Korean GI Bill training.

2,000 Are Expected at Farmers Union Parley in St. Paul

Some 2,000 delegates and members of Minnesota Farmers Union are expected to come to St. Paul to take a hand in drafting farm policy recommendations for 1961. Convention sessions will be held Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, November 20-22.

Less than two months thereafter, discussions will open in the new Congress to determine the course to be taken.

"For this reason," says Edwin Christianson, president of Farmers Union, "policy-making, which is normally the major business of the Minnesota Farmers Union, will take on even greater significance this year."

Convention sessions will be held at the St. Paul Municipal Auditorium, beginning Sunday evening, November 20 and continuing through Tuesday afternoon.

The closing banquet session Tuesday evening will be held at the Prom Ballroom, 1190 University Avenue, as in recent years.

The banquet headliner, as traditionally, will be M. W. Thatcher, general manager of the Farmers Union Grain Terminal Association.

Among the featured visiting speakers at the convention will be James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers Union and president of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers (IFAP) and Clyde T. Ellis, general manager of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association.

Edwin Christianson, president of the Minnesota Farmers Union, will make his annual address and report on Monday evening.

How would you like a 1961 Swedish SAAB automobile for Christmas? Jim Parkins, Merit druggist of Parkins Corner Drug, announces that his store is sponsoring the Merit "Christmas Holiday" contest which will award a SAAB car plus 50 Faribo "Carefree" wool blankets as prizes.

The five-passenger SAAB is built by Sweden's leading producer of jet aircraft. It features front wheel drive, a three cylinder, dual stroke engine with only seven moving parts and delivers 33-38 miles per gallon on regular gas.

"Because this is a regional contest there is a good chance that someone from this area will win one of the 51 prizes" said Parkins. All anyone has to do is register at the drug store to be eligible to win. Winners will be announced during the week of December 27.

3 Are Renamed to County Fair Board Tuesday

Groups Seeks County Tax Levy to Permit Free Gate at Fair

Three members of the Pennington county fair board were reelected at a lightly attended annual meeting of the society Tuesday evening. They are C. H. Toomey, Ken Onken and Lloyd Johnson. Albert Koop, president, conducted the meeting.

Most important action taken at the session was adoption of a resolution asking the county board to seek legislation permitting the board to increase its mill levy for county fair purposes sufficiently to permit free admission to the county fair.

Dates for the 1961 fair were set at July 24 to 27, and it was announced that the Wm. Collins carnival company again will supply the midway attractions.

In his report covering the 1960 fair, Secretary J. M. Roche revealed that receipts from operation of the fair totaled $13,221, the major items including outside gate, $4,847; grandstand, $2,763; concessions, carnival and space rentals, $4,111; and car promotion $1,382. Other sources of revenue were state aid, $1,989.50; and county aid, $2,601, making total income of $18,037.

Principal disbursements included premiums, $3,560; advertising, $406.46; entertainment and race purses, $7,981; other expenses, including car, $2,340; minor repairs, $640; improvements, $1,324; and insurance, $674. The society owed $6,000 in loans.

N.W. Minnesota DHIA Meeting Set for TRF in January

Plans Made Last Week at Meeting of Top of Nation Sale Directors

Top-of-the-Nation dairy cattle sale directors and consignors met at Thief River Falls on Monday, November 7. Over 20 leading dairymen from Northwestern Minnesota counties discussed the need for improvement in the dairy industry.

The directors and consignors expressed the need and value of more DHIA testing in Northwestern Minnesota, and a meeting to which all present DHIA members of the five associations serving Northwestern Minnesota and their supervisors would be invited was proposed for January. The meeting was tentatively set for January 27 at Thief River Falls.

The associations are NW No. 1, N. W. No. 2, Lake of the Woods-Koochiching, Red Lake-Pennington Units No. 1 and 2; and East Polk-Clearwater.

The Top-of-the-Nation sale this year held an average close to last year and higher than most sales in surrounding states. The average of the sale was $341 which was highly satisfactory in view of the declining markets. The cost of the sale this year was set at three percent in addition to the ten dollar entry fee.

A vote of thanks was expressed by all to the Consolidated Breeders of Anoka for a banquet put on for consignors the night before the sale.

Stay off River Ice, Police Warn Again

Police Chief Elton Cummings today repeated an earlier plea and warning to parents to keep their children off the ice on the Red Lake River, in order that accidents may be avoided.

Chief Cummings stated the ice is definitely unsafe for skating or any other use but that some children have been on the ice despite earlier warnings and that the police telephone has been kept busy answering calls about children on the ice.

The Red Lake River claimed one victim here in April and unless the police warning on thin ice is heeded it could ruin the prospects of a merry Christmas for some other local families, Cummings said.

County Error Gives Lee Win over V. Aalbu

100-vote Error in Addition Detected by Canvass Board

An error in addition, discovered in rechecking the totals of last Tuesday's elections, changed victory into defeat for Victor H. Aalbu, a candidate from Gonvick, who ran for a seat in the state legislature to represent the 65th legislative district.

The county canvassing board discovered the error in the totals of the Pennington county returns in the legislature contest Monday, in checking the election totals.

Instead of winning over L. J. Lee, Bagley union representative, 5849 to 5767, Aalbu, Gonvick newspaperman, found himself on the short end of the count, 5867 to 5849, the 100-vote error providing Lee with a narrow 18-vote victory margin.

This was increased to 23 when a five-vote error in Lee's favor was found in Red Lake county.

Aalbu said Wednesday afternoon he had no statement to make at that time concerning a possible demand for a recount. He expressed keen disappointment over the outcome of the affair, however. Both he and Lee campaigned extensively in the district for the seat held previously by Walter E. Day of Bagley, veteran state legislator.

The change in election outcome, if sustained by the state canvassing board, gives the liberals control ofthe House, 73-58 instead of the estimated 72-59 earlier.

Lions Club Told of 'Ducks Unlimited'

Russ Embury and Dr. M.D. Starekow Address Group

Russ Embury, regional chairman for Ducks Unlimited, and Dr. M. D. Starekow, Pennington county chairman, spoke at the Lions club meeting Wednesday, explaining the work being done by the organization to preserve the waterfowl breeding grounds in Canada.

Dr. Starekow told of the efforts being made by volunteer workers to propagate ducks and geese, and he urged local contributions of $5 or more to help finance the work. Embury emphasized the need of conserving all available water supplies, and he voiced opposition to indiscriminate drainage.

In its business session, the club approved the recommendation of Dr. O. D. Belch, chairman of the sight conservation committee, that the club supply a pair of spectacles for an eight-year-old boy whose father is unemployed.

Crookston Bank Head Warns Rotarians of Danger from Russia

Although the communists may, at times, vary their methods, their overall aim of world domination over a period of years remains the same, members of the Rotary club were told at their Monday meeting by Marvin Campbell, president of the First National bank of Crookston, and a lieutenant colonel in the army reserve.

Campbell told the Rotarians that any relaxing of the suspicion the United States has had in regard to Russia would be a grave error and pointed out the differences between civil defense preparations of the two nations.

The speaker passed on knowledge which he had gained by attending the U. S. Resources seminar at Moorhead earlier this year which was staffed by armed forces officers in various fields of information. The seminar was designed principally for reserve officers but was attended by many civilians.

Campbell pointed out that many of this nation's policies in regard to foreign trade and agreements may seem contrary to our welfare but are actually a part of our competition with the communist nations. Economic competition, he said, was growing constantly and the USSR gross national output of that nation is increasing from 15 to 20 per cent a year.

The Rotarians were told that Russia has scattered its population and industry to make them less vulnerable to attack and that the Russian people could be warned that they were to take shelter before an attack is launched by the military forces of that nation 'minimizing the retaliatory attack by this nation.

Campbell closed with the observation that the United States should do a better job in its contact with the other people of the world, especially those of the smaller nations and pointed out weakenesses in our personal contacts with them.

The speaker was introduced by Milton Schlechter, program chairman for the meeting.

Phil Jorgenson as the judge, Charles Larson as the district attorney, and Mark Larson as defense attorney gave a spirited rendition of their roles, while Faye Torkelson as a Swedish witness provided a touch of comedy. Other members of the large cast also gave excellent renditions.

Enrollment Projections Show High School Crowded to Capacity Next Year

Due to a lack of a full attendance at its meeting Monday evening, the Thief River Falls board of education deferred final action on its 1961-2 budget until a special meeting next Monday evening, November 21.

At this week's session, Supt. Marshall Hankerson discussed with the board next year's enrollment and space problems. He stated that the present enrollment of Lincoln junior-senior high school is 1,100, with a projected enrollment of 1,145 for next year, which will involve additional sections and classes.

Mr. Hankerson reported that there will be a total of 256 sections next year, with 259 stations available, including shops and laboratories.

Council Holds Busy Session Tuesday Night

Asked to Share in Drainage Project in Northeast Area

Participation by the city in improving drainage of property served by the coulee which runs southeasterly from the town of North to the Red Lake river was requested by a delegation at the regular meeting of the city council Tuesday evening, November 15.

The delegation, accompanied by representatives of the town of North board and the Pennington county board, told the council that the coulee is a breeding place for mosquitoes and a health hazard. It pointed out that brush and cattails have grown up and that rubbish is being thrown into the waterway making it impossible for the increased amount of drainage water to flow into the river. This they said has caused flooding of property.

Following some discussion, the council agreed with the other governing bodies represented that the proper method of dealing with the problem would be to establish the coulee as a legal drainage ditch and the delegation was requested to circulate a petition. Robert Wurst, city attorney, was directed to see if it is permissible for a city to join other interested parties in a petition to the county board to establish the legal ditch.

Elton Cummings, chief of police, asked the council's permission to hire extra clerical help for the police department and municipal court. Cummings and Mrs. Alan Thompson, municipal court and police secretary, told the council that it was necessary to complete accumulated record work and to keep current records. The council voted to hire extra secretarial help for the rest of 1960.

Mayor Orin Green reported that the Chamber of Commerce had expressed a desire for the city to hire a woman to augment the regular police force for the detection of shoplifters during the Christmas shopping season which will soon begin. Following some discussion, the council agreed that if the merchants hire a woman for this purpose, the police department would train her.

Chief Cummings asked what his department should do in the case of traffic law violators from outside the city who ignore tickets issued for parking violations. The council approved the issuance of warrants in these cases.

Two new cigarette licenses were approved. They were for the Community Dairy at 212 Second st. E. and the Park Drivein at 122 Third st. W.

A resolution was adopted for the payment of $20,246.71 to several firms for work done for the city. Twenty students will have speaking parts as Mother Goose characters and animals, plus choruses of fairies, flowers, fruits, mice, frogs, cats, guests and earth children. A rhythm band from the grades will be featured, as well as grade instrumental students between acts.

Selective Service Is Noting 20th Year of Activity This Month

Twenty years of service to the nation is the proud record of the selective service system, being celebrated in Minnesota during November, Lt. Colonel Murley A. Reep, state director, announced today. On November 17, 1940, the first registrant was inducted into the Army, soon to be followed by 242,000 of his friends and neighbors from Minnesota.

"Since the selective service law was placed in effect in 1940, Minnesota has registered 1,380,000 young men," Colonel Reep noted. "Of this number, 242,000 were inducted, 271,000 were enlisted in the various armed forces, and others were deferred for the maintenance of the national health, safety and interest."

Selective service, said Reep, is justly proud that the selection of these young men has been made through the years by their neighbors — a truly grassroots organization of uncompensated men. Many of the local board members have served faithfully for five, ten, fifteen and some twenty years and are still active in the work today. Lt. General Lewis B. Hershey, national director of selective service, has recognized the valuable work of these uncompensated employees by the awarding of certificates of appreciation.

Selective service uncompensated personnel that has served the Pennington county office include the following local board members: Elmer A. Andersen; Stephen A. Austin; Harlan Bailey; Albert F. Berge; Alex Cloutier; Patrick W. Culkins; Mons Engelstad, present chairman; Alfred G. Hallstrom; W. J. LaBree; Harold J. Larson, now serving; Stanley W. Nelson; Owen A. Olson; Clarence E. Peterson, now serving; Jerry Poland; Theodore Rustad; Charles Shelgren; Harry L. Solberg, now serving; and John S. Jaranson, now serving.

Reemployment committeeman: Dr. Edward S. Amesbury.

Medical advisors, examining physicians and dentists: C. M. Adkins; Jacob Biedremann; Baldwin Borreson; Edward Bratrud; Theodore Bratrud; Homer H. Hedemark; A. E. Jacobson; C. W. Jacobson; H. C. Johnson; Orrin G. Lynde; O. F. Mellby; M. D. Starekow; and H. P. Wendt, now serving.

ARMY PVT. DWAYNE HESSE GETS ADVANCED TRAINING

Army Pvt. Dwayne M. Hesse, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hesse, Route 2, Thief River Falls, Minn., is receiving eight weeks of advanced individual training with the 4th Division's 39th Infantry at Fort Lewis, Wash. The training is scheduled to end Dec. 9. The division is a major element of the Strategic Army Corps (STRAC), which maintains an immediate readiness force for airborne deployment to any area of the world.

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

At least two benefits of wheel track corn planting are noted by Robert Wessel, chairman of the Winona county soil and water conservation district board. A heavy rainfall came just after Wessel finished planting corn in the spring of 1959. The contour planting between terraces held all the water, none actually moved into the terraces. When he plowed the field this spring, Wessel noticed how easily the soil turned over. Despite the wet soil conditions, the field was easy to work and seed. A nearby field, planted the conventional way in 1959, plowed "hard and was sticky and difficult to work.

"Miller Slough" farm in Yellow Medicine county is being developed for maximum waterfowl production. The farm is owned by the Fish and Game department of the Minnesota Depart of Conservation. Several acres of new grass-legume seedings create a border along the edges of the slough to furnish superior resting cover. Adjacent trees furnish additional winter protection for pheasants and deer. A sizeable amount of the crops is left for winter wildlife food. Future waterfowl production will be further assured when special combination "dug-out-islands," duck loafing rafts, and shoreline breeding areas are developed.

Before buying a farm near Mentor, Minnesota, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dunn contacted the East Polk Soil Conservation office to inquire about soil types. "I want to know what's underneath," said Dunn to SCS technicians in the McIntosh office. Dunn feels too many farms change hands without the buyer knowing what type of soil he is getting.

A wet fall in 1959 followed by the wettest spring on record in Waseca county offered unusual opportunities to observe the effectiveness of unplowed corn stalks and bean stubble in controlling soil loss. Little soil loss was noted in heavy stands of corn stalk but loss of soil in plowed fields were extremely heavy. Because of this experience, many farmers feel tillage practices should be given greater emphasis. "We have the organic material to make a fine mulch in a good stand of corn stalks. Fall plowing is considered worth an extra 10 bushels of corn per acre from our heavy soils. All we need some kind of tool that will do the job of plowing and mulching," one farmer remarked.

LINDA GUSTAFSON

CHARLES LARSON

Linda Gustafson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kendall Gustafson, and a senior on the B honor roll at Lincoln high school was announced the local winner of the 14th annual Voice of Democracy broadcast scriptwriting contest by Miss Thora Skomedal, who was in charge of the contest held at LHS.

The contest is sponsored locally by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Charles Larson took second place while runners-up were Mark Larson, Lois Luthard and Susan Bakke.

Miss Gustafson will receive a $25 savings bond for her winning script. In addition a recording of her script was entered in the district contest, held at Detroit Lakes this week.

The district winner's entry will go on to the regional contest at Duluth and the winner of that contest will compete with other regional winners in the state contest. The national winner, chosen from among four national finalists, will be awarded a $1,500 scholarship to any college chosen by the author of the winning script.

Also announced by Miss Skomedal was the state's second-place winner of the theme writing contest sponsored by the college of science, literature and arts at the University of Minnesota, Charles Larson, son of Mrs. Blanche Larson, a teacher at Lincoln high school. Charles is also a senior and is on the B honor roll.

Runners-up were Pam Thorkelson and Eddie Lietzow.

The title of the theme was, "How a Liberal Education Will Help Me in the Life of the '60s." The contest, held on a statewide basis, was won by a Southwest high school student from Minneapolis, with young Larson's theme winning second place. The third place winner was from Duluth's Denfeld high school.

Council Acts on Various Matters Tuesday Evening

port road and sewage disposal, $1,590.15; Stewart & Walker, Inc., airport engineering, $95.21; Stewart & Walker, Inc., engineering at airport, $126.23; Davidson Well company, airport well, $820.20; Ranum Construction company, municipal liquor store, $1,677.88; Lee Plumbing & Heating company, municipal liquor store, $1,250.56, and K. Russell Anderson, liquor store, $603.60.

The first reading of a petition for annexation was read. Duane A. Ostrand, 909 Tindolph av. S., has asked that his property be included within the city limits.

The second reading of two ordinances was heard. The first sets new load limits on city streets and the second increases the rate for garbage pickup to $1 a month and increases the number of pickups to three each week.

A proposal by Glenn H. Slapnicker to buy an old pickup truck previously used by the park department was accepted. Slapnicker bid $75 for the unit.

Following the reading of a communication from the state department of highways, the council voted to ask for $8,200 in funds from the state for the maintenance of state aid streets within the city limits. This is the same amount as last year.

A communication from the American Gas company of Omaha was also read. The firm said that granting franchises for natural gas service was being considered by other communities in northwestern Minnesota and asked if Thief River Falls would be interested in granting a franchise to them. No further action was necessary by the council at this time as the company indicated that they would communicate with them again.

Erv Pearson of the state highway department presented plans and special provisions for work on the highway on Third st. from Knight av. to the Great Northern Railway company tracks. The council approved these and an agreement on restrictions as to parking and other matters.

Robert Wurst, city attorney, reported that the air force had not yet reached a decision on the possible location of a radar bomb scoring unit in the area. The communication from the air force states that no decision would be reached until January. Units of this kind usually have 35 military personnel who live in housing units in the community.

Wurst also reported that he was "quite encouraged" by the reception the Thief River Falls presentation received at the Civil Aeronautics Board hearing in Washington November 10. The matter is now under advisement and the board has two months in which to make its decision. Nothing further can be done, he stated, and no new developments were reported. He added that in the event that a permit were granted to continue service to the city by North Central Airlines, the "use it or lose it" rule would still be in effect.

A request by the library board for an additional $20,000 in insurance on the building and contents was tabled until the entire insurance coverage of the city can be re-examined.

The first tabulation of departmental requests for the 1961 budget were given to council members but time did not permit any study. The matter will sart receiving consideration at an adjourned meeting Tuesday evening, November 22, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Fosston Boy Killed as Truck Upsets

Son of Blain A. Hanson Is Victim of Accident

A nine-year-old Fosston boy was killed Saturday afternoon when he was thrown out of a truck and pinned beneath its rear wheel; as the truck rolled over in a ditch seven and a half miles east of Fosston.

The boy was thrown from the truck as it rolled over on its right side. He was pinned beneath the right rear wheel. The father was not injured.

The cattle escaped into an open field and were rounded up by neighbors later in the day.

Members of Troop 94 Go on North Central Plane

Thirteen Girl Scouts of Troop 94 and their leader, Mrs. Melville Simon boarded a North Central Airlines plane Saturday afternoon, November 12, for what was for most of them their first trip by air.

The trip was the result of much work and many plans. Financing was by their own efforts, the result of a rummage sale and bake sale.

On their arrival at Grand Forks, the group was met; by Mrs. William Thompson, Mrs. Randall Noper and Melville Simon who drove the girls on the tour arranged by the Grand Forks Chamber of Commerce.

Points of interest visited included the KNOX-TV station, KILO radio station and the University. A special treat was a stop at the Delta Zeta sorority house, the campus home of their University guide, Linda Skroms.

The day was completed with supper at an Oriental cafe and the trip home by car.

BRUCE RUSSELL

Bruce Russell, 4-H club member of the Steiner club in Pennington county, has been awarded a trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago. This is one of the highest awards which can be earned by a 4-H'er, with some 20 4-H'ers from Minnesota winning a Chicago trip in various projects.

Bruce won his award for excellence in the tractor project. He has worked on the project for five years, took part in the junior leadership conference at St. Paul in 1958 and attended Boy's Camp at the state fair in 1960, where he was selected as honor camper.

National 4-H Club Congress is held at Chicago November 27 to December 1. Pennington 4-H'ers will be among 1,300 youths representing all of the 50 states and Puerto Rico. The members will participate in various educational activities and be entertained by donor companies with dinners, tours, and special programs. The group will be staying at the Conrad Hilton hotel. National 4-H Club Congress is held at the same time as the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago.

Pennington county has had eight other National 4-H award winners over the years, states County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk.

The first was Morris Engelstad of the Rocksbury club in dairying in 1932; Oscar Vigen, Rocksbury, 1938, in farm mechanics; Maurice Russell, Steiner, 1947, in health; Diane (Dolly) Lendobeja, Smiley, 1953, in achievement; Bills Svendsgaard and Ernest Breznay of Mavie, 1958, in achievement and farm and home shop respectively; Nelda Lea Nelson of Smiley, 1959, in frozen foods; and Marie Breznay, Mavie, 1959, in canning.

Bruce is 16 years of age and is a junior at Lincoln high school. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Russell, who farm in Excel township, six miles north and two miles east of Thief River Falls.

Big Game

We received a note from Roy (Club) Langevin informing us that his younger son, Jim, while hunting the area ten miles out of town, had shot a tagged doe. The doe was a big one, too, dressing out at more than 160 pounds. In the hunting party, in addition to Roy and Jim, were Dick Langevin, Roy's older son, and Leo Langevin, Roy's brother.

The Langevins, according to Roy, deal only in the larger sizes of big game. That's perhaps true for we can recall the story we heard about Roy in his early days as a hunter taking a bead on one of Joe Solney's mules. It was with considerable difficulty that the boys were able to convince Roy that the animal was a mule and not, as Roy maintained, a northern Minnesota mule deer. Roy has come a long way since those days!

And speaking of large deer, we saw a fine buck hanging up in the Amundgaard-Robertson camp yesterday. Ev Amundgaard, a high-average shooter with the local rifle club, was the hunter who brought the big deer into camp. The buck, while it did not carry a very heavy rack, was a thick-chested and well-proportioned animal.

There are some hunters, though, who will not be able to boast about their hunting success or their marksmanship. We are referring to the reports we received that a couple of moose had been shot. One of these moose, with the hind quarters removed, was found in the vicinity of the Lilac farm, about ten or twelve miles northwest of town, and another moose was found in a field six miles west of town.

After the flurry of the opening week-end, when the deer were cooperative and provided hunters with plenty of shooting, the hunting in this area has slackened considerably. The most pessimistic reports that we have received have come from the big timber area, such as the Norris Camp and the lower Rapid river territory. And these areas are being "worked over" by experienced hunters, too, but the deer do not appear to very plentiful. Of course, the weather the past couple of days, with thaw weather prevailing, has not been conducive to hunter success. The deer are holding all the trump.

On Merit

The Minnesota Gophers are favored to defeat the Wisconsin Badgers on Saturday afternoon. And should the game, as predicted, end in a Gopher victory, coach Murray Warmath's squad would move into a tie, with Iowa, for the Big Ten football championship and earn consideration for a Rose Bowl bid.

The bid to the Rose Bowl should be based on merit, and on such a basis the Gophers, who defeated Iowa, are entitled to the invitation. The Gophers would provide the Rose Bowl with an exhibition of solid football.

If, on the other hand, the Rose Bowl game is to be considered as a New Year's Day "spectacular", and as an entertainment feature for the television and Rose Bowl fans, then the Iowa Hawkeyes should be selected. With the fleet and far-ranging backfield, and their fast-breaking offense, with a stress on the long gainers, the Iowa team should be the choice.

Miscellany

Jerry Jorgenson, co-captain of the hockey Prowlers of 1958-59, is now in his sophomore year at Harvard University. Jerry, an ever-hustling type of hockey player, is skating with one of the top lines of coach Cooney Welland's Harvard varsity squad in the early-season drills. . . . Bill Taylor, the talented Crookston athlete, is also attending Harvard University, and in his sophomore year has been seeing limited action with the Harvard team this season. Bill was sidelined for some time by an injury, but the sturdy backfielder, playing at a right halfback position, was in action last Saturday in Harvard's win over Brown University. . . . The Winnipeg Blue Bombers football team, coached by Harry (Bud) Grant, the former Gopher star, have been forced into a third and final game in the Western Canada finals, playing the Edmonton Eskimos. The Bombers won the first game of the series, 22 to 16, but dropped a 10 to 5 decision on Monday night. The third game will be played at Winnipeg on Saturday afternoon. It is hoped that Winnipeg will have the services, on offense, of quarterback Kenny Ploen. The former Iowa University All-American, suffered a broken hand during the Bombers' 22 to 16 win. In Monday night's losing effort, Ploen was limited to defensive play, being at safety.

Liberals Plan for '61 Session of Legislature

Rep. Chilgren of Littlefork Chosen for House Speaker

E. J. Chilgren, publisher of the Little Fork Times, was reendorsed as house speaker. Also chosen unanimously were Fred Cina, Aurora attorney, as majority leader and D. D. Wozniak, St. Paul attorney, assistant majority leader. William L. Shovell, St. Paul, was reelected caucus secretary.

The caucus election at the Lowry Hotel in St. Paul was in sharp contrast to a Liberal scrap two years ago in which Chilgren nosed out Cina by a single vote for house speaker.

Endorsement by the caucus is tantamount to election because Liberals in the legislative session beginning in January will have a 73 to 58 majority over Conservatives.

Without a quarrel over Liberal leadership, chief interest centered on chairmanships of dozens of powerful committees which are crucial to legislation.

The election of Chilgren, Cina, Wozniak and Shovell was held during an open meeting, but the 65 liberal representatives at the meeting then went into executive session to choose a 14-man steering committee and to consider other policy questions.

The steering committee, or committee on committees, will meet with Chilgren on the appointment of members to various legislative committees.

Chilgren, in his acceptance speech, said Liberals "will have an unusual opportunity to make history," since a Republican will be in the governor's chair and the house and senate again will be divided.

He urged Liberals not to have a "dog in the manger attitude" and urged cooperation with the Conservative senate when it is warranted.

"We're just going to have to forget some of our personalities and even some of our local little problems," Chilgren said.

District Savings Bond Meeting at Rex Cafe Tuesday

DHIA Sets Annual Meeting Tonight

Will Be Held in Legion Club in Red Lake Falls

Dr. Frederick is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and completed his Ph. D. in dairy husbandry in 1958. As a research worker he made several studies of the physiology of reproduction in dairy animals. He will discuss some of the results of this work as well as other items that will be of interest to dairymen.

Members of the association are urged to attend. Non-members interested in dairy herd improvement are also invited.

Dairy records are very essential in finding the cows which are really working for the dairy farmer and also in determining how much profit a cow leaves the farmer. If she makes little or no profit then the dairyman culls the cow and puts in her place one that will work for him, explained County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk. DHIA records are most essential in a good dairy program.

Art Tangen of International Falls will spend the Thanksgiving holidays at the home of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ruane.

Plans Proceeding for United Fund Campaign

Township Officials to Meet Friday to Plan Share in Drive

Following a recent meeting at which representatives of nearly all townships agreed to join in the Pennington County United Fund campaign opening early in December, Albert Koop, fund drive chairman for the rural areas, announced today that all township supervisors and other officials, as well as members of the county board, have been invited to attend a planning meeting Friday evening, November 25, at 8 o'clock in the assembly room in the basement of the city Auditorium.

The rural officials will hear an explanation of the objectives of the drive, and questions will be answered by George Hale, president of the United Fund board, and three board members representing the rural areas, including Richard Mosbeck, Alfred Longren and Lloyd Johnson.

Members of the United Fund board of directors for Pennington county will meet this evening, November 21, in the Chamber of Commerce office to decide on a date for the general meeting preceding the drive's opening.

Monday, December 5, has been set as the date for beginning the business district drive and the residential district drive will begin Monday, December 12. The three drives—rural, residential and business—will be for two weeks.

According to George Hale, president of the Pennington county United Fund appeal, meetings of representatives of the 19 agencies requesting inclusion in the drive this year have been held with the United Fund budget committee. A final list of participating agencies will be released in the near future.

Anyone who wants information on the drive, its purposes and the agencies which will take part is urged to get in touch with any member of the county board of directors.

Business representatives on the board of directors are J. J. Womack, Stanley Wilson and George Hale. Rural representatives are Lloyd Johnson, Alfred Longren and Richard Mosbeck. Representatives from labor include George Kenkel, R. J. Looker and Morris E. Rupprecht. Professional representatives are Rev. Marvin Carlson, C. L. Charlson and Dale Folger.

200 at District Meeting in City of Midland Co-op

Earnings in Past Year Are Down Substantially, Manager Smaby Reports

Despite adverse weather that hindered farmers in much of this region during the past year, Midland Cooperatives, Inc., recorded the second highest sales in its 34-year history in the 12-months ending Aug. 31, 1960, General Manager A. J. Smaby reported Nov. 9 at Thief River Falls.

Smaby reported on Midland operations at a district meeting attended by 200 persons including directors, employes and patrons of the Consumers Co-op. Assn.

Total sales were $49,168,483, compared to $50,247,148 for the year before, Smaby said. Savings to member cooperatives on their purchases totaled $718,087, compared to $2,351,108 in 1959.

Gallonage of fuel oil and gasoline, accounting for about 60% of Midland's total sales, increased by 5.4% because member cooperatives added 34 more service stations and bulk oil plant retail outlets during the year.

Smabey gave his report during the evening session following a dinner served in the Armory to delegates from member cooperatives and their guests. Earlier in the day, district officials and other Midland staff members reported, and delegates elected officers to represent them.

Unemployed Asked to Bring Data When They Seek Compensation

In an attempt to speed up service to persons filing unemployment insurance claims, R. S. Eldevik, manager of the Thief River Falls office of the state employment service, has some important suggestions.

Employment office personnel can improve service if persons who become unemployed and who desire to register for work and file unemployment insurance claims, will bring with them at the time of filing, certain employment information that is very necessary for the prompt handling of unemployment insurance claims and work registrations.

A person filing an unemployment insurance claim should be certain that he has his social security number with him. He should be certain also, that his employer has used the correct social security number for the records and reports. The incorrect use of these numbers is one of the most frequent causes for delays in unemployment insurance payments to eligible unemployed workers.

A person applying for unemployment insurance should also bring with him the complete name and address of his last insured employer; also of other insured employers that he has worked for in the past 24 months. He should know the month, day and year that he started work, and the month, day and year he was laid off or otherwise separated from his job.

By the term "insured employer" is meant an employer who is required by law to pay unemployment insurance taxes. Do not confuse unemployment insurance with social security, said Eldevik. Social security is a retirement program. In order to qualify for unemployment insurance, a person must have earnings with an insured employer and he must be able to work full time, available for suitable full time work and sincerely interested in finding work.

He should also know into which state his employer or Selke's six-year term would have expired March 1. He decided to quit effective the day Freeman leaves office as a gesture of loyalty to the governor.

The Library Corner

By Eleanor Olson

Book Week is over at the Library for another year and what a success it was! The number of participating children with their parents was greater than for any other previous year. Classroom tours brought in nearly all the lower grades from the city's elementary schools and all the grades from St. Bernard's school.

For the first time teachers from two of the county's rural schools were able to bring their pupils to town for a special library visit. This is a major project when transportation must be arranged for more children than one car can comfortably or safely hold. The excitement and enthusiasm of their pupils, as many of them visited the library and the rural school department for the first time, must have made the effort worthwhile for the teachers. One of the teachers allowed her students to make their own selections from the many shelves of books in the rural school department and they were elated.

The Friends of the Library who spent so many hours on the wonderful display of Mother Goose Land were well rewarded by the excitement and appreciation of over 450 children who were entranced by the pumpkin house, the sugar plum tree and the merry-go-round ridden by animals decked out in jeweled ties and hats. One little boy repeating the rhyme insisted that Peter's wife was in the pumpkin because he couldn't feed her. (That's a solution to our problem of inflation that most wives would rather their husbands didn't consider.)

All of the smaller children heard Miss Bertha Hastad read the Story of Pink by Marjorie Flack, a marvelous tale of a little duck who lived on a Chinese junk. It was familiar to some of the children already, for some had read it themselves, some had heard it in last summer's story hour and some had even seen it on TV. However, all of them enjoyed it all over again.

The older children heard a story too, but not in its entirety. Miss Hastad read only enough of Misty of Chincoteague by Marguerite Henry to make the youngsters want to finish it themselves. "Misty" is the true story of wild ponies that live on islands off the coast of Virginia. These ponies are said to be descendants of a load of Spanish horses cast ashore when a sailing ship was wrecked a long time ago. The story tells of a wild mare and her colt who were caught and gentled by two children. It is an exciting well written book with lovely black and white illustrations that catch all the spirit and love of freedom that wild ponies have. Because Miss Hastad read only part of the book there is now a waiting list for it.

Now Book Week has come and gone for this year. But thanks to the library, the books are there for us every day and every week of the year, and we can join the rest of the nation in saying "Hurray for books!"

One more word about books and the younger generation. The Girl Scouts have offered to take and return books for any shut-ins who would like them this winter. So Miss Shanahan would like all persons wishing this service to call the Library and leave their names and special reading interests so this service can be set up.

Advice Given to Persons Seeking Pay for Jobless

employers has paid the unemployment insurance tax. This does not apply to a federal or state (Minnesota) employe. A federal employe, or an employe of the state of Minnesota who becomes unemployed may have unemployment insurance rights based on federal or state service and should check with his department or agency to determine if he has coverage.

It should be remembered that each state has its own unemployment insurance law and that they differ in many respects. In order to give efficient service, employment service personnel must get complete information from those who want to file claims in order to know what type of a claim to file.

Army Dependents to Return from Abroad

Under orders from President Eisenhower, the Defense Department will begin bringing home in January 284,000 wives and children of U. S. servicemen abroad.

The return of dependents — more than half of all the armed forces dependents overseas — is part of a seven-point program instituted by the President to save an estimated billion dollars a year in American spending abroad.

The program will not cut total U. S. spending—only that part spent overseas. Some costs actually will go up as more expensive U. S. goods are bought and shipped abroad to replace much now purchased there.

In effect, the program imposed a strict "buy American" policy on the military services and the International Cooperation Administration, which handles foreign aid.

The gradual reduction of overseas dependents is to be at the rate of 15,000 a month. At least part of it will be accomplished by keeping wives and children in this country as new men are sent overseas. There is no present plan to cut back the number of servicemen abroad.

Announcing the drastic foreign spending curbs Wednesday night at Augusta, Ga., Eisenhower declared it is imperative to bring this country's outflow of dollars into better balance with its foreign income. The United States presently faces a 1960 deficit in "balance of payments" which could reach $4 billion.

Helps Her Dad; Helps Melt Ice

Removing ice is no easy matter but it can be if you have some calcium chloride handy. Picture at right shows walk after Sally has done her job. Calcium chloride will do the same on any walk or driveway. It's good for melting ice in a hurry and eliminates back breaking work as it can be shoveled off as slush to make the sidewalk dry and safe.

Top Achievers

Karen Schutte

Volkerding

Over-all achievement in 4-H projects has earned state-wide recognition for two Minnesota 4-H'ers — Karen Schutte, 18, of Osseo, and David Volkerding, 21, of Ada. This announcement was made by the Cooperative Extension Service, which conducts the 4-H award programs arranged by the National 4-H Service Committee.

Volkerding is in his 11th year of club work. He attended the National 4-H Club Congress in 1958 as leadership winner. He is farming on the Volkerding's 960-acre farm after completing one year at North Dakota State College where he studied animal husbandry.

Top honors in the county were gained from his sheep and beef judging, corn and wheat exhibits, prize swine and beef projects. Most of these honors were followed up by state awards.

Volkerding has served as president of the Pleasant View 4-H Club and Norman county 4-H Federation. He has been a member of the executive council four years and a junior leader.

Miss Schutte, a nine-year 4-H'er, is majoring in home economics at Mankato State College. Most of her 4-H projects were in the home economics field where she won many top honors.

She was the only Minnesota girl awarded a 4-H trip to Camp Miniwanca in Michigan this year. Last year she was Osseo's representative to Girls' State. She is reporter and past president of Maple Grove 4-H Club, Secretary-treasurer of 4-H Council and a junior leader.

Her greatest honor, she feels, is the expense-paid trip to the 39th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, Nov. 27-Dec. 1, where she will be guest of the award donor, Ford Motor Co.

NEW LOOK IN MEDICAL CARE

Used no penicillin and never prescribed drugs for high blood pressure . . .

Showed no concern about the Rh factor in pregnancy . . .

Did not even consider cortisone for arthritis, antihistamines for allergies, or tranquilizers for patients who were emotionally disturbed . . .

Gave no tetanus shots or polio vaccine . . .

Never employed an electrocardiogram nor advised surgery for congenital heart disease . . .

Yet was a graduate of a leading medical school who had completed his internship and residence training and had passed his state board examinations.

If you wonder how this man ever earned a medical degree, much less the right to practice, rest assured that it was both legal and ethical — as recently as 30 short years ago.

In contrast, today we benefit from an entirely new type of medical practice, with dramatic results: There are over three million people alive in the United States who wouldn't be if the death rate had continued at the 1930 level. Many infectious diseases like pneumonia and tuberculosis have been drastically checked. The population of our crowded mental hospitals is gradually decreasing.

These dramatic changes—and there are many more—have come about because of the wealth of new tools now at the disposal of the medical profession, including hundreds of new pharmaceutical products unheard of a generation ago.

These pharmaceuticals and the care, promptness, and efficiency with which your pharmacists fills prescription for them, are among the strongest guarantees we have of good health and long life.

Postmaster Getting Set for Yule Mailing

Faced with the possibility that the 1960 Christmas season will set an all time holiday mailing record, Postmaster R. J. Dryden announced today that he's starting his annual "Mail Ealy For Christmas" campaign immediately.

He offers these helpful mailing tips to insure delivery of your Christmas cards and gifts on time.

First, check your Christmas card list very carefully — make sure each address is complete with full name, street and number, city, zone and state. Second, for your Christmas gift packages, stock up now on heavy wrapping paper, sturdy corrugated cartons, strong cord, and paper adhesive tape. Third, remember that you can include your Christmas card or letter inside your gift package by adding the appropriate First Class postage to the package itself. Fourth, buy your postage stamps now. Don't wait until the last minute when long lines form at the stamp windows.

The postoffice will help you plan your Christmas mailings. Get a copy of Pamphlet No. 2, which gives full information about proper packaging and wrapping of parcels. The Post Office will also supply free labels which read, "All for local delivery" and "All for out of town delivery." so that you can sort your Christmas cards into two groups, with addresses all facing one way, thus insuring fast delivery.

Use only first class postage on your Christmas cards. Cards sent by first class four cent, or seven cent air mail, may include personal handwritten messages. First class mail also receives full forwarding and return service. Don't fail to put your return address on every Christmas card envelope. Not only is this socially correct, but it helps tremendously to keep the mailing lists of both you and your friends up-to-date.

Postmaster Dryden says that with your help he'll get the Christmas mails through on time. He is making many advance preparations to handle the 1960 Christmas mail rush by putting on exra mail clerks and carriers, and by arranging for expanded facilities all around.

The postmaster requests that you make it a point to mail your Christmas cards and gifts for the most distant points before December 10th. Those for nearby destinations should be mailed by December 15th, or at least a week before Christmas.

Henry Jung, 77, Dies Here Friday: Services Tuesday

Funeral services for Henry Jung, a resident of this city, will be held Tuesday morning at 10 a.m. in Ladysmith, Wis., in the Our Lady of Sorrow Catholic church, Rev. Father James Griffin will officiate and interment will be in the family lot at the Ladysmith cemetery. The Green Funeral home has charge of the arrangements.

Henry Jung died Friday morning at Northwestern hospital at the age of 77 years. He was born April 12, 1883 in Ginsweiler, Germany and came to America with his parents when three months old, settling at Medford, Wis., where he attended school. When 16, the family moved to Ladysmith where his father started a bakery and he helped him for some time.

On January 1, 1910, he was united in marriage to Lydia Sabin at Ladysmith. Shortly after their marriage, they moved to Bloomer, Wis., where he was in the bakery business for several years.

He lived in Chicago for a number of years and other places before coming to this city in 1953 where he has since resided.

Surviving Mr. Jung are one son, Robert of San Francisco, Calif.; one daughter, Juanita Singer of Seattle, Washington; one sister, Miss Mathilda Jung of this city; three brothers, Arthur E. of Fond du Lac, Wis.; C. Herbert and Walter of this city. Five grandchildren also survive.

By CEDRIC ADAMS

OUR POPULAR NAME of Smith has its counterpart around the world. It's Nilsson in Sweden; Salazar in Portugal; Passikivi in Finland; Suzuki in Japan; Sonngrad in Thailand; Torp in Norway; and—get this—Gabor in Hungary . . . Underweight persons are also latching onto those powdered food substitutes—in addition to their three squares a day. That way they are getting all their food, plus 900 calories a day . . . Today's little tidbit: There's a town in Alaska called Kanakanak—which, when spelled backward, is still Kanakanak.

POETIC CONCLUSION after exercising: There is a divinity that shapes our ends —regardless of our twists and bends . . . . Sentimental Note: The doorbell at Dorothy Lamour's new cosmetics firm in New York chimes the first notes of Bob Hope's theme, "Thanks for the Memory" . . . Question from a wag: "Have you ever had the feeling that, if this world slowed up a little—you'd like to get off?"

COMPETITION FOR MONEY . . . We all know money is hard to come by and it's hard to get money to finance industrial projects just as it is to finance the home loan or what-ever. Millions of investment dollars are needed to finance Minnesota's iron ore processing projects and Minnesota has to convince insurance companies, banks and other organizations which invest money that Minnesota is a good place in which to risk millions of dollars for iron ore.

NOTE TO THE GIRLS: Know how to tell a cultured pearl from an artificial one? Let me save you a trip to the appraiser. Cultured pearls feel rough when rubbed against the teeth, while fake ones feel smooth . . . Good idea for preserving the prescription labels on medicine bottles is to brush clear nail polish over them. They remain legible then despite wet hands and bathroom steam.

David A. Cleary, Brother of Local Woman, Interred

Requiem Mass was held Monday, November 14, at 9:15 a.m. for David A. Cleary, 41, of Fargo. The rites were held in the St. Anthony of Padua Catholic church with Rt. Rev. Msgr. Frank J. Nestor officiating. Burial was in the Holy Cross cemetery with military honors by the American Legion.

Born at Concrete, North Dakota, August 25, 1910, he moved with his parents to Grand Forks when he was 10. He served in the South Pacific area in World War II attaining the rank of captain.

On his return, he went to Fargo and received his bachelors and masters degrees at NDSU. He married Rosemary Crummy February 7, 1946. She is formerly of the Argyle area.

Mr. Cleary taught at Argusville, North Dakota, then in Agassiz junior high school in Fargo and at the time of death was a member of the English staff at Central high school, Fargo.

Surviving besides his wife are two sons and four daughters, John, Michael, Marlys and Colleen, Catherine and Regina and his mother, Mrs. John Cleary of Fargo. He also had two brothers and seven sisters.

Alonzo D. Ralston, Former Police Chief Here, Dies

Crop Research Lab Is Being Erected at 'U'

Climate will be "made to order" for plants to be grown in the University of Minnesota's new crop research laboratory building.

The building is now in the early stages of construction on the St. Paul campus. It is expected to be completed in about a year.

Climate control chambers will occupy a substantial part of the lower floor of the structure. Four of them will be custom-made, "walk-in" chambers of room size, equipped to control temperature, light intensity, "day-length" and humidity. Four others will be a prefabricated, cabinet-size, "reach-in" type to control light and temperature.

A substitute for sunlight in the chambers will be provided by a combination of fluorescent and incandescent electric lamps.

The climate control facilities are being made possible by a grant from the National Science Foundation of $80,000, plus a nearly equal amount from state funds. The NSF grant was obtained as the result of a joint request by three University departments—agronomy and plant genetics, plant pathology and botany and soils.

The value of climate control facilities in fundamental agricultural research is already established. They allow experiments to be performed during all months of the year, even when field or greenhouse studies would be impossible or impractical.

Some climate control equipment, of a make-shift nature, already exists on the St. Paul campus. It has been operated at full capacity ever since its installation but is adequate for only a small part of the demand.

The new climate control rooms will improve the accuracy and value of studies on grain rusts; varietal differences in wheat chromosomes; behavior of herbicides and fungicides; corn germination and seedling growth; root rots of cereals and forage crops; deterioration of wood, stored grains and fod; behavior of plant viruses in insect hosts; cold hardiness of crop plants; effect of toxins in plants; soil moisture-drought; soil genesis; and soil aeration structure.

TRF Basketball Squad Cut to 22

Coach Jack Junker and his assistant, Joe Mrkonich, have pared the Prowler basketball squad to twenty-two players, and this group will comprise the Prowler A and B squads this season.

This twenty-two man squad is headed by five seniors, all lettermen, and they are Ron Hanson, Eddie Lietzow, Gary Anderson, Don Ulferts, and Harvey Ebbighausen. Seven juniors, with one lettermen, Elton Hornseth, were selected and they are, in addition to Hornseth, Mike Aune, Karl Ekstrand, Dick Wold, Gary Kelly, Gary Klungness, and Geo. Hankerson. Ten sophomores, up from last season's freshman squad, were chosen and they are John Aune, Tom Lindberg, Brian Lofberg, Paul Klungness, Steve Mittelstadt, Dick Hanson, Don Nicholson, Jerry Erickson, Jim Ellingson, and Bob Ihle.

Following last week's drills on fundamentals and conditioning exercises, the Prowlers will enter into scrimmage sessions this week in preparation for the schedule-opening game on Friday, Dec. 2, when the Bagley Flyers of district 30 will play here.

Reinhard Holthusen to Face Charge in Bemidji

Reinhard Holthusen, who is being held at Bemidji on charges of second-degree murder, will face a preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner Marcus A. Reed Dec. 2, according to Sheriff John Cahill, Bemidji.

Cahill said there have been no new developments in the case, which will be prosecuted in federal court because the alleged murder took place on the Red Lake Indian reservation.

The case is under investigation by the FBI's resident agent in Grand Forks.

RLF Resident Is Wounded on Deer Hunt Last Monday

The slug pierced his arm and inflicted only minor injury before it struck a parked vehicle nearby and glanced into the woods.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

The Milky Way Tragedy

Chub Jackson, the town's only milkman, tells us he missed on an important delivery the other day.

Up way before dawn, Chub went busily about his daily rounds. Three quarts of milk for Mrs. Anderson, a gallon of milk for the Fishers, and so on.

Finished with his deliveries, Chub pulled the empty truck up to his front door. "What would you like for breakfast?" called his missus. "A big bowl of cereal with cream," answered Chub. "Sorry, dear," said Mrs. Jackson, "the milkman passed us by today."

From where I sit, it's wonderful the way folks forget themselves to do things for others. My neighbors are like that. When I have supper with them, they always serve my favorite foods and my favorite beverage—beer! They drink tea themselves, but they're happy to accommodate my preference. If we all accepted each other's right to have preferences, we'd never "milk" our friendships dry.

Getting Anxious

While coach Jack Junker and his Prowler basketball squad has been cavorting on the gymnasium court for a week or so, and coach Charles DeCorsey has had his Prowler wrestling squad on the mats for a week, coach Gene Sack and the Prowler hockey hopefuls have been awaiting a deep freeze that will produce ice on the rink.

The Prowlers are the defending Region Eight champions, and they are anxious to get into the practice drills in preparation for the season-opening game on Tuesday, Dec. 13, when they meet coach Sergio Gambucci's Grand Forks Central squad on the Arena ice sheet.

This season's Region Eight hockey competition should be the best ever, with at least five teams being rated as potential champions. The Prowlers, as the defending champions, must be included in this list, and of course Oscar Almquist's Roseau Rams are a perennial contender. And the Warroad Warriors, the Baudette Bears, and the Hallock Polar Bears have the potential of gaining a state tournament berth. This year Region Eight will provide two entries in the state tournament.

It is reported that the Warroad club, which surprised the Roseau Rams in the regional tourney last season by scoring a 1 to 0 win in a semi-finals tilt, have lost a couple of players through enlistment in the navy. The players who will be missing are center Dick Bloom and goalie Jerry Lindsay. The loss of these two players will surely put a crimp in the Warroads' championship hopes. Bloom has been a first line center-ice man for a couple of seasons, and Lindsay rates with the region's top goalies.

We Agree

Erv Behsman, coach of the Warren Ponies football team, has forwarded to us a detailed record of the performance, on offense, of Pony fullback Wayne Edgar. These statistics support Behsman's contention that Edgar is entitled to consideration as an all-state choice. And we agree that Edgar merits a place on the all-state squad that is selected by Ted Peterson of the Minneapolis Tribune. If Edgar should fail to make the all-state squad, and he'll be up against the well-publicized players from the Twin Cities, he should at least be selected for the North squad in the American Legion's North vs. South all-star game in August.

This past season, in leading the Pinies to a tie for the Pine-to-Prairie championship, Edgar carried the ball 145 times and gained 935 yards, for an average of 6.4 yards per carry. During the nine-game schedule that Warren played, Edgar scored seventeen touchdowns and thirteen conversion points for a 115-point total. He led the conference in scoring.

Wayne, who is a four-year letterman in football, is 17 years old, and carries 200 pounds on a 5-foot, 11-inch frame.

And the Prowler athletes haven't finished with Edgar, for they will meet the blond bomber in basketball, track, and baseball before the school year concludes his high school career.

Winnipeg Loses

Coach Bud Grant's Winnipeg Blue Bombers, champions of Canadian football for the past two seasons, were defeated by the Edmonton Eskimos on Saturday afternoon in the finals of the western Canada series, losing by a 4 to 2 score.

Edmonton, trailing by a 2 to 1 score, kicked a three-point field goal with less than a minute to play to win the game and earn a berth in this year's Grey Cup game, which will be played at Vancouver next Saturday afternoon.

U.S. Department of Agriculture Offers Figures on Meal Cost

It still costs less per person to feed a large family than a small one, but possibly not to the same extent as in former years.

Large families often save on food bills through buying in quantity and having less food waste and spoilage, according to Mrs. Eleanor Loomis, extension consumer marketing agent at the University of Minnesota.

Per person cost of food in a family of five is 5% less than in a family of four and 10% less in a family of six than in a family of four, according to figures released by the Agricultural Research Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. On the other hand, researchers found that food costs per person are 5 per cent higher in a family of three and 10 per cent higher in a family of two than in a four-person family.

These figures were developed from survey information on family food consumption. Survey data are not complete for people living alone or in families of seven or more, but the home economists estimate that food costs per person for people living alone are at least 15 per cent higher than if they lived in a family of four.

Here are some of the department's estimates for providing a nutritious diet on a moderate cost food budget for individuals in a family of four for one week:

Children under one year, $3.80; 1-3 years, $4.60; 4-6 years, $5.70; 7-9 years, $6.80; 10-12 years, $8.20.

Girls—13-19 years, $8.70.

Boys—13-15 years, $9.60; 16-19 years, $11.20.

Women—20-34 years, $7.60; 35-54 years, $7.40; 55-74 years, $6.90; 75 years and over, $6.50.

Men—20-34 years, $9.70; 35-54 years, $9.10; 55-74 years, $8.60 75 years and over, $8.30.

Costs for a young couple 20 to 34 years old on a moderate-budget plan would be $9.70 for the man and $7.60 for the woman per week—$17.30 for both—if they were in a family of four. However, in a family of two their costs would be 10 per cent higher per person, or $10.67 for the man and $8.35 for the woman, totaling about $19 weekly.

Son of Bemidji Couple Is Killed

W. S. Lycan Jr., 39, White Bear Lake, was killed Saturday evening while on his way home from his office in St. Paul when the car he was driving went out of control and bounced off a tree, then crashed headon into another tree.

Lycan, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Lycan, Bemidji, was assistant general solicitor for the Northern Pacific Railway. He was alone in the car at the time of the accident.

Nixon Winner in California Vote

Kennedy Election Margin Reduced to 200,000 Votes

More than a week after the election, Vice President Richard M. Nixon has captured California's 32 electoral votes. Absentee ballots did it, and helped to shave President-elect John F. Kennedy's nation-wide popular vote to less than 200,000.

But even without Nixon's home state, Kennedy still is assured of 300 electoral votes, 31 more than the minimum needed for election.

Nixon also picked up votes Wednesday in official canvasses in Florida and North Carolina. Kennedy gained some in an official count in Indiana. These changes affected only the nation-wide popular vote count.

That count stood this way Thursday:

Nixon, 33,674,382.

Kennedy's margin at this point was 197,097 votes out of more than 67½ million counted so far. His plurality figured at 50.15 per cent to 49.85 for Nixon.

Only 1,549 of the nation's voting precincts are still untabulated.

Kennedy could well wind up with less than a majority of all votes cast Nov. 8, counting minor party votes, even if he still led Nixon by a paper-thin margin.

A slate of unpledged electors in Mississippi rolled up 109,400 votes. Most minor party votes still are not tabulated, but incomplete returns from six states show a total of about 72,000.

MYNDALL CAIN PRAISES VENETIAN STUDENTS

A note to MNA from Myndall Cain, Minneapolis beautician on "an inspection tour" to Europe, says of Venice: "The college boys and girls meet here in St. Marks square . . . no cars, no bicycles . . . so they promenade round and round. They are quiet, orderly, and very good looking, girls in pleated skirts and sweaters with short, dark, young men with a professional man-about-town look, no casual sloppy attire here; each dresses as if he were someone important. All seem ready for the important jobs they are learning to do—a happy responsible group, doing credit to their jewel of a city. Young, gay, and attractive, these Venetians."

SOMETHING NEW was added to the Third Street landscape as this new Union State bank revolving sign and bulletin board went into action recently. The first bulletin was an election day reminder. Last week it was a plug for Turkey Days and this week, appropriately, it carries a Thanksgiving greeting.

Propose Seat Belt as Yuletide Gift

National Safety Council Recommends General Use

Christmas gift suggestions for the man who has everything—almost:

Buy him (or her, if your friend is a hep woman driver) an auto seat belt. It could mean a really merry Christmas for someone—by saving a life!

"The motorist who has everything (except a seat belt, that is) could wind up with nothing but trouble if he gets in a traffic accident," said the National Safety Council.

The Council, a nongovernmental agency organized in 1913 to prevent all kinds of accidents, heartily endorses seat belts at Christmas—or any other time of the year, for that matter.

"Seat belts," it said, "are the No. 1 device now available to reduce the number of traffic deaths and injuries.

"Use of seat belts by every driver—and the day may come when this will be nearer reality—could cut the traffic death toll by 5,000 a year, the number of injuries 60 per cent.

(And while you're at it, why not take that idea one step further. Buy belts for yourself and your family, too.)

Winter Shows to Resume Building Drive in January

Wm. Strickler, Chairman, Announces Plans for 2d Phase of Fund Campaign

The start of the second phase of the Red River Valley Winter Shows building fund campaign is set for the second week in January, 1961, according to the general chairman, William Strickler of Euclid.

Workers in the area will be advised at a later date the exact kickoff date. During December the county chairmen will have the opportunity to organize their workers and at the same time public information will be coordinated with the start of the campaign.

"The Red River Valley Winter Shows will become a thing of the past," Strickler said, "if support in this second phase of the campaign is less than the potential. Farmers and businessmen who are privileged to conduct their operations in the Red River Valley should want to participate in this movement that will enhance the future that lies ahead. A pledge of support payable over a three-year period will make certain these facilities serving agriculture will be renewed and reestablished for the decades ahead."

TO GIVE THANKS

Danny and Tess took part in the Thanksgiving tableau at school last week, and they did a good job. As I looked at them, I thought of the real Pilgrim children and that first Thanksgiving.

Our forefathers weren't inoculated against childhood illnesses. They didn't have miracle drugs and warm clothes. They certainly didn't have more than they could eat. They faced incredible hardships, with no bright toys for special rewards, no candy bars. But they knelt down in the cold with their parents and gave thanks to God just for being alive.

Can we do less today? Can we possibly do less, this Thanksgiving, than go to Church and humbly give thanks to our Creator for His wonderful gift of life?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

"To know the pains of power, we must go to those who have it; to know its pleasures, we must go to those who are seeking it." —Colton

Thanksgiving

As a thought for Thanksgiving we may keep in mind that in the past year we have been favored by nearly ideal weather conditions. Thinking in terms of the area as a whole we have enjoyed a bountiful harvest. We cannot remember a fall that has been more favorable for the completion of the season's farm work and the preparation for spring planting.

Whether or not this were true, we still would have much to be thankful for. Maybe it is in periods of adversity that we are most appreciative of the fewer favors that have enabled us to survive. So it was with the small band of Pilgrims who were thankful for the little, that for them, was so very much.

In our greater abundance we have greater reason to be thankful.

The President Acts

President Eisenhower's order that steps be taken to halt the flow of gold out of the country was important mainly as a warning that our dollar is in trouble. The President did not reveal any secrets when he made this declaration. This situation has been a matter of concern for some time, not only in our country but thruout the free world where the stability of the domestic economy is closely related to the stability of our dollar.

As a first step in the effort to curb the steady outflow of gold and dollars, the President ordered federal agencies to reduce sharply their overseas spending. His directive included an order for the return of a large number of the dependents of members of the military forces serving abroad. Federal agencies were instructed to "Buy American" wherever possible in buying foreign aid goods for shipment to underdeveloped countries and allies.

By these directives the President will be able to reduce substantially the flow of gold and dollars out of our country. But there are other causes for this flow that cannot be so easily corrected. One of the main reasons for this flow of dollars in recent years has been the big increase in the volume of American dollars invested abroad.

Much of the industrial expansion in foreign countries in recent years has been by American companies, moving their plants to areas where conditions are more favorable for lower production costs. Much American capital has been attracted abroad by the generally higher interest rates that are offered. A large share of this flow of American dollars and gold has been investment dollars.

And in back of this flow of investment dollars out of our country, is the steadily increasing cost of production here in the States. High labor costs, and high taxes levied to maintain costly government operations at all levels, make it increasingly difficult for industry to operate profitably in our country.

The sooner we recognize all of the facts and start adjusting our operations realistically to the facts, the sooner, and the less painful, will be our recovery.

Off to a Good Start

The election returns thruout the country are now sufficiently complete to justify acceptance of the totals as final. Senator Kennedy, with a safe margin of electoral votes, will be our next president. On a popular vote basis this contest ended about as close to a tie as is possible with so many millions of voters expressing their preferences.

Kennedy and Nixon have conducted themselves commendably following the capaign, which left much to be desired. The fact that they are now approaching the future without any evidence of personal bitterness will do much to restore their own personal prestige here at home and thruout the world.

It probably is fortunate that neither party is in a position to claim a sweeping victory. Both sides won and both sides lost. Considering the fact that in neither party is there unanimity on important issues, the independent members of Congress are going to be more influential in making the decisions. On most questions such a restraining influence will be in the best interests of good government.

Considering all of the factors that make for good government, and the what-might-have-been, it appears that we are off to a good start for the next four years.

Bad News Coming

Bad news of the week probably will be the announcement of another hefty increase in school taxes. As usual we get such announcements after it is too late to do much about them. Commitments have been made. Obligations have been assumed. The costs must be paid and so the taxes must go up.

It is too late to cry about what has been done. We are paying today for yesterday's mistakes. The answer to this situation is to see to it that we will not be called upon tomorrow to pay still more for this day's folly. It is time that we, as taxpayers, start taking an interest in the operation of the community's largest industry, our school system.

We were told some time ago, by a departed school official, that here in Thief River Falls we now have an ideal school system. This departed school official prided himself on the fact that he had participated in the development of an ideal system.

We are sure he was sincere in his belief that he had been helpful to us. It occurred to us at that time, however, that maybe we are not rich enough as a community to afford the ideal. Possibly it would be more sensible for us to strive for that which is practical. If we manage our affairs prudently maybe the generation that follows us will be rich enough to afford the ideal.

Earlier this month, school officials in St. Paul were doing some public worrying about being able to make both ends meet—in St. Paul there are limitations on their power to levy taxes. They were talking of possible curtailment of services. The suggestions were not impressive as they were publicized. All proposals seemed hopeless. For the school officials, economy was impossible. Getting along with 72 less teachers would save only about $100,000. We gathered from this that St. Paul teachers are being paid only $1,500 a year.

A study of our school operations might not result in many economies, but we believe such a study would serve a good purpose in at least bringing some pressure in support of those officials who would favor a practical rather than an ideal education program.

And maybe such a study should be made of all of our local units of government with the view of eliminating unnecessary services and consolidating activities that now are being duplicated.

There is need for a vigorous taxpayers' association in the community, supported by a group of citizens who are willing to do more than just grumble about the high cost of government.

Two Amendments Adopted

Two of the four proposed amendments to the state constitution were approved by the voters. No. 3 will permit the legislature to establish the line of succession to the governor's office in the event of a national emergency. No. 4 will permit the legislature to change residence requirements for voting, and remove from the constitution obsolete provisions of voter qualifications.

Amendment No. 1, which would have permitted legislators to seek other offices under certain conditions, and to extend the sessions of the legislature up to another 30 days, failed by a small margin. No. 2, the only one of the four that had opposition, was defeated.

Amendment No. 2 would have provided an area factor in legislative apportionment, as well as population. The area factor would have given to outstate areas reasonable assurance that they would have bargaining power in the legislature, retaining control of one house. Reapportioning the legislature on the basis of population alone, as the constitution presently provides, will mean that both houses of the legislature will be controlled by the larges cities and the metropolitan area.

We are satisfied that much of the opposition to this amendment was sincere. All who objected openly to the amendment gave lip service to the justification for the area factor. Some of them were sincerely concerned about the phrasing of the proposal. A few thought it would be to the best interests of their particular districts if the House, rather than the Senate, were reapportioned on the basis of area.

But there is reason too, to believe that much of the opposition was inspired by big-city bosses who were opposed to giving to the outstate areas the right to control one house of the legislature. They want the control to remain in the area that they control.

The defeat of Amendment No. 2 does not mean the proposal is permanently lost. The question can be submited to the voters again two years from now, in a form that will satisfy most of the opposition of the sincere objectors. In the meantime the discussion on the issue should be continued.

Recognition of the area factor is in the best interests of all of the people of the state. Minnesota would not be a good state to live in, and work in, and invest money in, if the legislature, as well as the other branches of government, were controlled by the people living in a small, metropolitan area of the state.

France's "Hostile Packs"

(New York Times)

President de Gaulle showed his customary moral courage on Friday when he returned to the gnawing problem of Algeria, and took occasion to denounce the "two hostile packs" of Frenchmen who are trying to split the country between "a sterile immobility" and "outright abandonment."

President de Gaulle has not radically changed his position. He still maintains that the killing has to stop before there can be a vote in Algeria. He still refuses to accept the "rebel chiefs" who run the Algerian resistance movement from outside the country. He speaks with pride of the thirteen African Republics and the Malagasy Republic, once French colonies, now possessed of freedom and cooperating with France "in the most fruitful and friendly fashion."

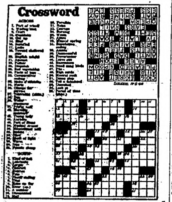
Without a doubt General de Gaulle looks forward to an Algerian solution that will give the great mass of Algerians—and that means largely the Moslems for whom the "rebel chiefs" profess to speak—a free choice as to their own future. The limitation, which of course may be decisive is that the rights of the Algerians who prefer to remain French and the economic and other interests of France itself—supposedly including the oil in the Sahara—be safeguarded.

President de Gaulle is not out of the woods. He not only has to deal with the "hostile packs" in France but with a considerable part of the French Army in Algeria. Yet the situation is certainly better than it was two years ago, when the army took control of Corsica and came dangerously near plunging Metropolitan France into a savage civil war.

Borrowed Nontsense . . .

As teenage son slumped dejectedly in a chair, his face anguished, Mother asked Father what was causing the gloom.

"He wants to go to the drug store down at the corner," replied Father, "and the car won't start."



How Hormones Affect Health Is Explained

Hormones are as old as man. Persons, both old and young, need hormones to live, says the Minnesota State Medical association. The young person needs a proper balance of hormones to insure proper growth and development; the senior citizen to insure good health with advanced age.

Modern medical and scientific research has resulted in a greater insight into the important role played by hormones in the life of persons of any age.

The following endocrine glands located in various parts of the body are responsible for producing hormones.

The pituitary gland located at the eye level in the head controls normal growth. Abnormal flow of secretions from this gland could cause a person to become either a dwarf or a giant. The hormone secreted by the pituitary gland also stimulates the pancreas, which in turn helps to influence sleep, controls body weight, determines muscle coordination and influences emotional activity.

The endocrine gland which secretes the hormone necessary to control and maintain the proper rate of body energy or metabolism is the thyroid gland located in the lower front part of the neck. The amounts of calcium and phosphorous required by the blood are determined by the parathyroid gland.

Insulin is secreted by the pancreas. This is the hormone necessary to control the sugar content of the blood. Failure of this gland to function normally may cause diabetes.

Normal functioning of the adrenal glands located above the kidneys helps insure proper blood pressure and body fluid balance. Providing that added surge of energy need in times of stress and emergency is another function of the adrenal glands.

The reproductive glands — the ovaries in the female and the testes in the male — determine sex characteristics and make reproduction possible.

ACTH and cortisone are among the recently isolated hormones. These hormones have been used extensively in the treatment of rhumatoid diseases, athma and inflammatory eye diseases.

Male and female hormones — The use of these hormones has been effective in menopause disorders. Certain types of cancers have also responded to their use. Exact control of supplementary hormones is essential to avoid adverse effects. Application should never be attempted without the approval and supervision of a doctor, warns the Minnesota State Medical association.

Taxpayers Group Issues Handbook

Publication Presents Sales Tax Information

A new revised handbook on the sales tax has been compiled by the Minnesota Taxpayers association, and is being distributed to its members and others interested, Charles P. Stone, general counsel of the association, announced today.

"The sales tax is being discussed more and more widely as the best source from which to obtain the replacement revenues needed to accomplish the property tax reform so badly needed in Minnesota to improve our state's tax climate for business and industry and thereby build more payrolls and jobs," Stone said. "Undoubtedly, it will receive serious consideration by the 1961 legislature.

"For this reason, the Taxpayers association feels that Minnesota citizens need to know more about the sales tax and how it operates—how many states have a sales tax, the rates most commonly used, what items are usually exempted, the impact of the tax upon the taxpayer (both urban and rural), how much revenue it can be expected to produce, etc.

"We have tried to gather together as many pertinent facts as possible regarding the sales tax and assemble them in a reference handbook that will furnish factual answers to the questions which seem to be uppermost in the minds of the taxpayers of the state, the questions which our staff members repeatedly have been asked in appearances around the state," Stone said.

The handbook is being distributed free to members of the association. There will be a small charge to non-members.

Pasteur and Cleanliness
Heard an interesting background story on Louis Pasteur the other day. About a century ago the brewers in France were stumped because their beers didn't taste right and were unable to compete with German beers. They hired Louis Pasteur to diagnose the trouble. He found that German breweries cleaned all equipment daily with boiling water while French breweries merely rinsed casually. Pasteur demonstrated how germs affected the French beer. Thereafter, cleanliness became a byword with brewers. After visiting our Minnesota breweries, I don't think you'll find a cleaner "kitchen" anyplace.

Cooking With Beer
Cooking with beer is a tradition that started in Colonial America. Almost every contemporary home had its "Brew House." And beer was used in the preparation of many foods.

Many of our recipes today started in Early America. No longer is it necessary, however, to own your own brew house. Your refrigerator is much handier. But the recipes are just as tasty, if not more so, today. If you'd like to try using beer in recipes for a new tasty flavor, send for my booklet "Minnesota Hostess' Favorite Recipes". It's free! Just drop me a note at 1133 Pillsbury Building, Minneapolis, Minnesota, and I'll see that you get a copy.

George Grim to Speak at Session in Minneapolis

George Grim, well-known Minneapolis newspaper columnist, will be the principal speaker at the banquet climaxing the Minnesota American Legion's annual fall conference December 2 and 3 at the Leamington Hotel, Minneapolis.

Grim, a former war correspondent, world traveler, and veteran of World War II, is one of many able speakers who will appear throughout the two-day program. The mid-winter school of instruction for leaders of the 1,100-plus posts and units throughout the state, is expected to attract upwards of 1,500 people.

Addressing the Auxiliary will be Mrs. Henry (Grace) Ahnemiller, Wenatchee, Washington, national president of the American Legion Auxiliary. She will be accompanied by Mrs. C. Fred Hanson, Alexandria, Minnesota, national chaplain of the auxiliary.

Four candidates for national commander of the Legion have been invited to attend the meetings for purposes of introduction.

Grim's address will be delivered Saturday evening in the Leamington Hall of States banquet room, before an estimated 500 persons.

'U' Operating Costs $81 Million Past Year

Operating costs of the University of Minnesota for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1960, total $81,354,845.17 for all campuses and stations, and 87,596 individuals received instruction at some level from the University during the year, according to a summary of financial operations released this week by L. R. Lunden, business vice president.

Of the 87,596 students who registered for instruction, 5,785 earned academic degrees during the period.

In addition to its operating expenses, the University paid out $9,393,526.76 for the construction and remodeling of buildings and the purchase of land. In the 12-month period, to meet construction costs, the sum of $4,322,615.00 was withdrawn from funds appropriated by the State Legislature for that purpose.

Largest operating outlay, Lunden reported, was the $37,299,745.15 spent for the instruction of students (at college and noncollege level, in short courses and evening classes and through correspondence study) and departmental research on all campuses, agricultural schools and experiment stations, in summer sessions and through agricultural and general extension programs and for the services provided by University Hospitals.

Of the University's total overall operating costs of $81,354,845.17, the vice president pointed out, the State of Minnesota provided $28,573,060.19 or 35.1 per cent — slightly more than one-third. State support funds consisted of the Legislative maintenance apprpopriation of $23,665,555.00, a special appropriation of $3,166,895.12 ($1,631,038.12 of which was charged to the counties) for the care of indigent patients at University Hospitals and a Legislative allotment of $3,371,638.19 for special projects carried on by the University for the general benefit of Minnesota's citizens.

These "special projects" include agricultural extension work and research, business and economic research, medical research, operation of the Minnesota Rehabilitation Center, the Child Psychiatric Hospital, the Multiple Sclerosis Clinic, the Institute of Child Development and Welfare and the schools of agriculture student aid fund.

Sources of University income other than the State, the report indicates, are: appropriations from the Federal government—$2,659,035.91 including $307,626.11 for hospital construction and remodeling; fees and receipts — $16,228,815.94 including $7,585,354.90 in student tuition and fees; self-supporting University services and revolving funds — $15,243,194.78 including $264,371.88 allocated to plant expansion; trust funds — $20,265,209.92 of which $13,150,885.17 represents federal contracts and grants; and intercollegiate athletics — $1,254,107.29.

Income from intercollegiate athletics included $1,192,957.35 from the Minneapolis campus and $61,149.94 from the Duluth campus. Expenditures for the operation of intercollegiate athletics and that part of physical education expenses paid from athletic receipts totaled $1,181,862.63 for the fiscal year 1959-60. Involved was an outlay of $1,113,611.16 in Minneapolis and $64,751.47 in Duluth.

Turkey Good Buy for Thanksgiving

Extension Specialist Offers Tips to Buyers

You shouldn't have any trouble getting the size turkey you want for Thanksgiving this year—and with little strain on the pocket book.

Birds are available in almost any size, but the big toms are the best buy per pound, according to Robert Berg, extension poultry specialist at the University of Minnesota.

Tom turkeys range from about 16 to 24 pounds, hens from 10 to 14 pounds. A bird labeled "young turk" is actually a young tom turkey the size of a hen, ranging in size from 14 to 16 pounds. A young turk will usually sell for a few cents per pound less than a hen.

Read the label before you buy your turkey, Berg urges, so you know what you are getting. Birds labeled "young hen turkey," "yong tom turkey" or "young turk" are under eight months of age and should cook tender in the normal roasting time. So should "fryer or roaster" turkeys, which range from 6 to 8 pounds. On the other hands, bird labeled "breeder turkey" are usually over 100 months of age and may need longer cooking in a covered pan.

The rural officials will hear an explanation of the objectives of the drive, and questions will be answered by George Hale and three board members representing the rural areas, including Richard Mosbeck, Alfred Longren and Lloyd Johnson.

E. L. Seabloom, sales representative for Standard Oil in the Thief River Falls area, and Mrs. Seabloom will leave Chicago by plane on December 1 for a five-day, all-expense trip to Nassau, capital of the Bahamas, as a winner in Standard's "Big 60 Nassau Holiday" sales contest, according to A. Reed stated that there is one winner for each of the sales districts in the 15 midwestern states in which Standard operates. The winners were the top sales representatives in a nine-month sales contest embracing all major products that the company markets.

Polk County Loser Asks Vote Recount

Legislature Aspirant Affeldt Claims Errors

Leland A. Affeldt, defeated candidate for representative of the 66th district in the Nov. 8 general election, contested the election results Friday.

Affeldt contested the results on the grounds that errors and mistakes occurred in the counting of ballots.

Martin Vanseth, county auditor, said Monday that the district judge will appoint three referees for the recount.

He said that Affeldt has the right to appoint one referee, as have both Harveydale Maruska and Harvey Wilder, the winning candidates.

If the recount upholds the original verdict of the election Affeldt must pay all expenses.

Area Bankers Lauded at Meeting Here for Savings Bond Sales

Greater banker support of the U. S. savings bond program in the First district of the Minnesota savings bond division was the reason given for the district's leading the entire state in bond quota sales, Fred King, state savings bond director, told savings bond chairmen and bankers at an awards dinner held at the Rex Cafe Tuesday evening.

Participation in the savings bond program in the Minnesota division exceeds that in all other states, while the First district leads the entire division, thanks to excellent banker support, King stated.

King called savings bond the "blue chip securities" of the U. S. government and cited the advantages of buying bonds which make the bonds such an attractive means of savings to the public.

Approximately 30 chairmen and bankers attended the Tuesday evening meeting. A short social hour was held prior to the dinner, after which the awards program was held.

Receiving awards for exceeding their quota in Pennington county were J. J. Womack, Union State bank president, and G. A. Beito, Jr., Northern State bank vice president. Numerous other county chairmen and bankers in the First district also won awards. The district embraces 11 northwest Minnesota counties.

In addition to King's address, Mrs. Genevieve Lueben, assistant division director and area manager in the Minnesota savings bond division expressed the appreciation of the division officers for the excellent cooperation given by First district bankers in exceeding the district's quota.

Jaycees to Sell Tree Ornaments November 28-30

To enlarge the Nativity scene which has become part of the downtown Thief River Falls Christmas scene every year, the Junior Chamber of Commerce will again sell Christmas tree ornaments beginning Monday, November 28, and continuing thru Wednesday.

The processing, which will end this week, has produced 7-million pounds of turkeys this year, according to Leonard Anderson, plant manager. A major part of the Thief River Falls plant output goes to the east coast.

Fifty Workers at 1960 Fair Honored at Dinner Monday

Nearly 50 persons, including those who assisted with details of the 1960 Pennington county fair, together with their ladies or husbands, were guests at an appreciation dinner held by the fair board Monday evening in the Elks club rooms.

Morris Howick, member of the fair board, presided, and introduced his fellow members and special guests, Mayor and Mrs. Orin Green and Supt. and Mrs. Marshall Hankerson.

Long-range Planning to Be Discussed Here on Monday Afternoon

A "long-range planning" meeting is set for the basement assembly room in the city Auditorium Monday, November 28, starting at 1:30 p.m.

The committees which will study resources and development of these resources will be oriented at this time and will function during the winter months, states County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk. Long-range planning has been completed in about 60 per cent of Minnesota counties with Pennington county slated through the winter 1960-61. The work of the committees will be published in bulletin form in the summer of 1961.

By gathering and studying information the groups or committees can determine the course of action in the community. The four committees which will be functioning during the winter are: Community development, farm business, youth, and family living.

George Donohue, extension rural sociology specialist, University of Minnesota, will be present at the Monday meeting to assist committees get started with their work, Frank Forbes, supervisor of extension work for Northwestern Minnesota and Jean L. Lovlokken, home extension work supervisor for the northwest district will also assist the committees.

The decision for the improvement of communities, and the problems which will receive attention must be made by the people in the community, said Stelmaschuk. Farm people, civic leaders, businessmen, church organizations, schools and youth groups all need to review overall conditions in the community to determine the course of action. Such concerted efforts require study and working together on the part of many citizens. Long-range planning is this type of approach. From the study of a community comes an understanding of its problems and the recommendations for courses of action.

Rev. Seltz Speaks on Thanksgiving Theme to Rotary

St. John's Church Pastor Declares All Should Be Grateful for Blessings

"Thankful for What?" was the subject of the talk the Rev. A. C. Seltz gave at the noon meeting of the Rotary club in Thief River Falls Monday, November 21.

Reverend Seltz, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, listed the many things for which everyone should be thankful, stressing that the most important is God's greatest gift of all, Jesus Christ.

In spite of all the trials and adversities which people meet, Reverend Seltz told the group that everyone should give thanks to God for being able to live in freedom, a privilege which many people in other parts of the world do not have.

Locally, each person should feel privileged for many things which are too often taken for granted. He touched upon the wonderful weather this year, the opportunities for healthy and happy employment and the beneficial climate here.

These things, the pastor said, have been gifts of God for which every person should be thankful and, he added that he personally was grateful for the city as a place in which to live and whose people have proved to be such good friends and fine persons.

31 State 4-H'ers to Go to Chicago Congress

Thirty-one Minnesota 4-H club members have won expense-paid trips to the 39th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago November 26-December 1, as state champions in project work or demonstrations.

They are among some 1,300 delegates in the nation who will receive trips from sponsors of the various 4-H programs. They will compete for national honors, including about a hundred thousand dollars in scholarships.

During their stay in Chicago they will take part in a variety of educational activities and will be entertained by donor companies with dinners, tours and special programs.

Council Seeks to Bring Funds into Balance

1961 Budget Studied Tuesday Evening; to Resume November 29

With a difference of approximately $97,000 between preliminary departmental budget requests and prospective income, the city council rolled up its sleeves at an adjourned meeting Tuesday evening, November 22, and began the task of making both ends meet during 1961.

The budget examination began after the council had heard the proposal of Boyd D. Holcomb, certified public accountant, for auditing the city's books for 1960. The council accepted the proposal and called for a full audit.

A first look at the water department budget came after Harold Johnson, department superintendent, appeared with a request that several blocks of water mains west of the business district on Knight, Duluth and Arnold avs. be replaced.

Johnson told council members that there have been 33 water main breaks since November 17, 1959, and that replacement of the mains would need to be done before any street improvements are made. The council had earlier examined the possibility of paving the streets in this area.

The council asked Johnson for a detailed report on water main breaks during the past three years and for an estimate on the cost of replacement.

Other departments whose budgets received a first examination and trimming included the airport, garbage and sewage.

The council will have a special meeting Tuesday evening, November 29, beginning at 7:30, to continue consideration of the budget.

Two amendments—No. 3 and No. 4—were passed. No. 3 provides for emergency government in case of nuclear attack, and the other amendment gives voters the right to vote if they moved from one precinct to another within 30 days before an election.

Seedling Trees Still Available

State Has 12,000,000 Left out of 40,000,000 Stock

The Department of conservation's forestry division announced today that of the 40 million state tree nursery seedlings originally offered for spring delivery, approximately 12 million presently remain unsold.

Although the supply of several popular species such as black spruce, scotch pine, and Colorado spruce are exhausted, the stock of Norway pine, white spruce, white pine, jack pine, balsam fir and others are still available in good quantities.

The restriction limiting the maximum tree order to 10,000 expired on November 15; therefore, those wishing to re-order or place orders for large quantities may now do so.

For the first time, the supply of Norway pine, the most popular of all species, is sufficient to satisfy the demand. In contrast to previous years when the supply of these trees has been exhausted during the first few days of ordering, there are still 9 million Norway seedlings available for spring delivery.

Trees must be order in minimum quantities of 500 and are priced at $10 per thousand. Application blanks may be obtained from ranger stations, any forestry headquarters, SCS or ASC offices and county agents.
